Friends Rally to Support Of Cadets, Air Academy

Nine more cadets have resigned at the Air Academy, which brings the total of resigned cadets to 102, in the current investigation of cheating at the Academy, Academy offiicals said this noon.

Friends are rallying in support of cadets and faculty at the Air Force Academy, battered by a classroom cheating scandal that has caused 93 cadet resignations. More are expected.

Business leaders in Colorado Springs declared in an advertisement in the Gazette Telegraph Sunday:

"The people of Colorado Springs reaffirm their faith in the great majority of cadets who have always maintained the highest standards of moral integrity. The cadet wing, faculty and staff are valued neighbors in our community."

The academy had 2,567 cadets enrolled Jan. 15 before the scandal broke. Secretary of the Air Force Eugene Zuckert said he expected about 100 resignations for violations of the cadet honor code and among them would be about 30 of the 40 varsity football players.

The 93 resignations already eclipse the 90 cadets who quit the U.S. Military Academy at West Point in 1951 in a similar cribbing affair.

In Tokyo Sunday, Col. M. L. Martin, former athletic director at the 10-year-old academy, urged "patience and faith" in the current affair.

"Let's give this institution and its cadet corps," Martin said, "the patience and faith to solve this problem before we anticipate the cause and dictate a cure that probably does not fit diagnosis. We cannot stop those who criticize without knowledge, but we can withhold our own judgment."

A five-man committee picked by Zuckert to review the whole situation at the academy organized in Washington Saturday and decided procedures to be followed in an academy visit, expected in the next two weeks.

Thomas D. White, retired Air Force general named chairman by Zuckert, said the committee "will interview individual cadets, including some of those who are involved, faculty, coaches, professors, civilian educators and others."

Avalanches Threaten Skiing Area in Utah

EDITOR'S NOTE — Edward LaChapelle, 38, is one of the nation's top avalanche experts. He has been employed during winters since 1952 by the U.S. Forest Service at Alta, Utah, 8,600 feet high in the snow-covered Wasatch Mountains. He is known as an avalanche hazard forecaster. LaChapelle attended the Swiss Avalanche Institute and is a University of Washington glaciologist during the summer. He surveyed avalanche-threatened Alta ski resorts and wrote this story for The Associated Press.

ALTA, Utah — I traveled up and down Little Cottonwood Canyon in a snow Cat Sunday. There were two very large slides above the Alta ski resorts that hadn't come down yet.

They are a rather serious threat to the lodges.

If that snow hits the lodges, it'll be doing 100 miles an hour or so. It's about 1,500 or 2,000 feet above the lodges on Flagstaff Mountain and Cardiff Peak.

Avalanche conditions are the worst up there in 50 years. You can tell from the number and size of the slides.

We evacuated more than 200 people from the lodges Sunday night. About 80 or 90 of them wanted to leave anyway. But we asked them all to leave until the danger is past.

There are about 35 or 40 people still up there. They are Alta Canyon residents or employes of the lodges. They are staying in basements or private homes away from the ski area.

They are in pretty safe positions, have food and are in pretty good shape up there.

We've had about 120 inches of snowfall here at Alta in the past week. This is a very large amount of snow in such a short

Frigid Storms Lash Wide Areas of United States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A massive storm carrying heavy snow and powerful winds lashed portions of the Northwest and Midwest today while extreme cold stung portions of the South and Florida.

Blizzard conditions prevailed from Minnesota and South Dakota southward through Missouri and Kansas. Cold wave warnings were issued for northeastern New Mexico.

Heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings were posted for Illinois, Ohio, southern Wisconsin and lower Michigan where the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted 4 to 6-inch snow accumulations.

Four inches of snow fell in Denver, Colo., in a six-hour period and winds gusted up to 45 miles per hour, reducing visibility to zero.

Five inches fell in Minneapolis, 3 in Rochester and Alexandria, Minn., and Lone Rock, Wis.

Some winds reached up to 60 m.p.h. in South Dakota and Nebraska. Broken Bow in central Nebraska reported wind gusts up to 80 m.p.h.

A hard freeze struck northern Florida and frost and freezing temperatures prevailed in most of the southern sector.

The storm began in Montana early Sunday and moved swiftly in a wide belt toward the Midwest. Rock slides in Idaho closed U.S. 12.

Gusting winds and heavy snow swept through Colorado, closing mountain passes.

Motorists were stalled on Denver streets. The temperature dropped 26 degrees in one hour after the storm hit the state. Eight hundred skiers evacuated from Lake Eldora in the Rocky Mountains during the morning were trapped by drifts up to 15 feet.

A drop of temperatures in Idaho eased the flood danger as the snowpack runoff was retarded. An estimated 200 persons were still homeless by a week of flooding.

New Mexico highways were obscured by dust whipped by 60-

Two Inches of Snow Falls on Pikes Peak

About two inches of new snow fell on Pikes Peak during the weekend.

Roy Knull, city watershed caretaker, said the snow was recorded at Ruxton Park, with about the same at Lake Morraine.

Precipitation at Ruxton Park during January was .43 of an inch and .7 at Lake Morraine.

Talks Continue With Striking Longshoremen

BALTIMORE (AP) — A revised contract went to rank and file Baltimore longshoremen today with the blessings of union leaders as docks from Maine to Texas stood idle for the 22nd day.

In three other ports dockworkers continued to bargain for new work agreements based on the so-called New York master contract approved more than a week ago.

Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports have been shut down since Jan. 10 when the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association went on strike.

The ILA says no ships will be worked until all ports in its jurisdiction have settled.

Members of the six locals here began voting at 8 a.m. on a contract hammered out over the weekend at bargaining sessions attended by Thomas W. Gleason, leader of the 60,000 striking dockers.

Gleason, ILA president, described the new Baltimore agreement as "better than New York's," and put his weight be-

Two Armed Robberies Are Reported

Two armed robberies occurred Sunday within four hours of each other, police reported. Thieves escaped with $100 in one and an unknown amount in the other.

The first occurred at the Palmer Park Boulevard Safeway Store, 1830 Palmer Park Blvd., at approximately 7:05 p.m. Donald D. Shaw, manager of the store, told police he was working in the cashier's cage counting coupons when a man came up to the window of the cage and ordered him to open the door. Shaw said the man was armed with a gun.

Shaw said he did as he was told and after the man came into the cage he forced Shaw to dump one tray of change into a green canvas bag and then said he wanted the rest of the money in plain paper money,

Wilson River Cuts Through Gigantic Slide

TILLAMOOK, Ore. (AP) — The Wilson River cut steadily today through a gigantic earth slide that dammed it within steep canyon walls.

The slide of rain-soaked earth blocked the river Sunday and a lake four miles long and up to 100 feet deep formed behind it from the flooding mountain river and its tributaries.

Fear that the massive debris-filled dam would go out in a sudden break caused evacuation of 600 to 800 persons living along the river's eight-mile route to the sea.

Just when danger seemed greatest, the water began to cut a path through the dam and the level began to fall slowly.

The earthslide was one in a series crashing down throughout the Pacific Northwest in recent days. Continued rains and melting mountain snow had sent rivers out of their banks and saturated hillsides. One slide slammed into the Columbia River last week with such force

Dental Care Survey Made At Ft. Carson

Dentists representing the Colorado Dental Association and the Dental Advisory Committee of the Department of Defense are meeting today to investigate the adequacy of current dental care for dependents of military personnel stationed at Ft. Carson.

The Dental Advisory Committee is making the study in response to a request by Gen. A. J. Maroun, commanding officer at Ft. Carson, to designate this a remote area for dental purposes.

Under present law, dependents of military personnel stationed within the United States are not entitled to routine dental care at a military facility. The law allows routine dental care only at remote stations.

The group toured dental facilities this morning. The conference was set for 1 p.m.

Russian Chiefs in Favor Of New Summit Meetings

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials today welcomed the Soviet Union's favorable response to President Johnson's call for top-level visits and contacts between the two countries.

They were less certain, however, about what to make of the Soviet Union's unexpected diplomatic intervention in war-torn Southeast Asia except that it will probably raise new problems for both the United States and Red China.

The two apparently unrelated developments, announced in Moscow Sunday, led Washington authorities to conclude that the new regime in Moscow has now made some basic foreign policy decisions and is ready to initiate action.

The response to Johnson's initiative, which the President made in his State of the Union message a month ago, took the format of a commentary in the Communist party paper Pravda, which U. S. leaders were sure was officially inspired.

The comment declared that Johnson's proposal for visits and for increased contacts between U.S. and Soviet officials had "met with a positive response in the Soviet Union."

Informants here said there had been some advance word to the United States that a favorable, informal reply would be forthcoming. They called the Pravda commentary encouraging and speculated that diplomats of the two countries would soon begin exploratory talks about top-level visits.

Johnson had said he would like the new Kremlin leaders to come to this country and speak to the American people on television. He made clear that he would welcome a reciprocal invitation to visit the Soviet Union and appear on Soviet television.

A few hours before the Pravda article was published the Tass news agency disclosed that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would head a high-powered delegation of Soviet military, aviation and economic experts on a visit to North Viet Nam.

This seems to mean that Kosygin and Soviet Communist party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, who replaced Premier

19 Are Killed In Stampede at Guadalajara

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Nineteen persons were reported trampled to death or suffocated and more than 40 others injured Sunday night when a crowd panicked at a popular music festival.

Police said some 7,000 fans leaving an arena, usually used as a bull ring, clashed head on with 5,000 others trying to enter.

Six children were among the dead.

The stampede occurred at the end of one performance and just before another was to begin.

Those impatiently waiting to reach seats for a second concert dashed through a corridor toward the fans leaving.

In the melee, a woman carrying a child was believed to have fallen to the ground first. Others stumbled and fell a few seconds later. Fist fights erupted.

When police restored order 19 crushed bodies were strewn on the pavement.

Congress May Force Review Of Foreign Aid

Advocates of the aid ban are following up their tactical victory with an all-out effort for a congressional review of President Johnson's little - publicized policy toward Africa and the Middle East.

Supreme Court Invalidates Apportionment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed today, insofar as federal questions are involved, a decision by a special U.S. District Court that portions of a Colorado constitutional amendment dealing with legislative apportionment are invalid.

The court, in an unsigned order, said that, insofar as the special court at Denver decided other than federal questions, its ruling was vacated and the case was sent back for further consideration, in the light of a "supervening decision" of the Colorado Supreme Court.

The order did not specify the federal questions to which it referred. Nor did it give any details as to the supervening decision of the state court.

The decision of the special three-judge U.S. District Court in Denver was appealed by Atty. Gen. Duke W. Dunbar of Colorado.

Gidget Farrell Colorado's Junior Miss at Contest

Gidget Farrell, a senior at Air Academy High School, was named Colorado's Junior Miss during competition at Englewood High School Saturday night.

Miss Farrell, 17, will compete in the Junior Miss National Contest March 13 through 20 in Mobile, Ala.

Runners - up were Marta Mondt, Greeley, and Nancy Reeves, Littleton.

Miss Farrell, who moved to Colorado Springs in September, said she was surprised and excited when judges announced she had won.

"I just couldn't believe it," she said. "My parents were as surprised as I was, I think.

"Now I am really looking forward to the nationals. I met so many wonderful girls during the contest that now I am looking forward to meeting them from all over. I'm not out to win as much as just to enjoy the experience.

"I hope more girls will get into this contest. Whether you win or lose, the experience is like you could get nowhere else."

Miss Farrell said that last year's Junior Miss, Pat Lucavich, had helped her already by suggesting certain kinds of suits and hats to buy for national competition.

"We have struck up a wonderful friendship," Miss Farrell said. "And I'm sure Pat will be able to give me a lot of good advice on the national contest."

Junior Miss Pageants throughout the country are sponsored by chapters of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Primarily the pageants are part of a scholarship program which provides $150,000 annually in college scholarships.

Each girl is judged on a combined scoring based on scholastic standing, physical fitness, poise, appearance, personality and ability in the creative and performing arts.

Solons Urge Federal War On 'Quacks, Pitchmen'

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators urged today a federal war on quacks and pitchmen who profit on crooked schemes aimed mainly at the elderly.

A report to the Senate by its subcommittee on frauds and misrepresentations affecting the elderly charged that unscrupulous operators are milking millions of dollars every year from the skimpy retirement incomes of the aged.

The subcommittee said an accurate count is impossible, but added that $1 billion a year "was mentioned most often" by knowledgeable witnesses in its 1964 hearings.

The report said quacks sell the elderly everything from phony arthritis "cures" to devices "guaranteed" to restore youth and remove wrinkles.

"It is shameful that the elderly are clearly the major victims of the highly organized, high pressure techniques of the modern medicine man," the report said. "But this is clearly the case."

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., the subcommittee chairman, said in an accompanying statement he would press recommendations for corrective action.

One proposal calls for creation of a new agency, to be named the Central Antiquackery Bureau, within the Food and Drug Administration.

Another calls for a new law

Later, at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., the Air Force musters men and aircraft for a ceremony marking retirement of the chief of staff and former head of the Strategic Air Command.

LeMay's associates on the Joint Chiefs of Staff were invited to the reviewing stand: Army Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, the JCS chairman; Army Gen. Harold K. Johnson; Adm. David L. McDonald; Air Force Gen. John P. McConnell, LeMay's successor; and the Marine commandant Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr.

'Murder Case' Proves to Be 'Only Training'

By RUTHERFORD B. HAYES

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "It was kind of shocking, and my wife was really burned up, but we feel all right about it now."

F. Earl Swain described his experience of being picked up by a police squad investigating a "murder."

Swain, 71, former manager of the American Type Founders Co. for 37 years, his wife and their son, Wendell, 24, didn't know at the time:

That 63 young officers were training for the elite metro squad.

That police academy instructors had faked the murder of a fictitious blonde named Loraine by planting clues which led to many persons, all of whom were coached on what to say.

That the class, ear-weary after a week of lectures, was turned loose to solve the case Saturday.

"Those boys were really hepped up," said Capt. Sterling Ford, an instructor.

One team checked out a car near the murder scene. They found the owner, Robert Torrance, filling station operator.

Torrance followed his script

DANGEROUS ROAD—Rescuers shovel path around broken-down Snow Cat climbing Little Cottonwood Canyon Sunday to aid in evacuation of 200 snowbound skiers, in Utah. The skiers were trapped for eight days at Alta Valley resorts under tons of mountain snow that threatened to roar down on them. Avalanches Threaten Skiing Area in Utah

EDITOR'S NOTE — Edward LaChapelle, 38, is one of the nation's top avalanche experts. He has been employed during winters since 1952 by the U.S. Forest Service at Alta, Utah, 8,600 feet high in the snow-covered Wasatch Mountains. He is known as an avalanche hazard forecaster. LaChapelle attended the Swiss Avalanche Institute and is a University of Washington glaciologist during the summer. He surveyed avalanche-threatened Alta ski resorts and wrote this story for The Associated Press.

ALTA, Utah — I traveled up and down Little Cottonwood Canyon in a snow Cat Sunday. There were two very large slides above the Alta ski resorts that hadn't come down yet.

They are a rather serious threat to the lodges.

If that snow hits the lodges, it'll be doing 100 miles an hour or so. It's about 1,500 or 2,000 feet above the lodges on Flagstaff Mountain and Cardiff Peak.

Avalanche conditions are the worst up there in 50 years. You can tell from the number and size of the slides.

We evacuated more than 200 people from the lodges Sunday night. About 80 or 90 of them wanted to leave anyway. But we asked them all to leave until the danger is past.

There are about 35 or 40 people still up there. They are Alta Canyon residents or employes of the lodges. They are staying in basements or private homes away from the ski area.

They are in pretty safe positions, have food and are in pretty good shape up there.

We've had about 120 inches of snowfall here at Alta in the past week. This is a very large amount of snow in such a short

Frigid Storms Lash Wide Areas of United States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A massive storm carrying heavy snow and powerful winds lashed portions of the Northwest and Midwest today while extreme cold stung portions of the South and Florida.

Blizzard conditions prevailed from Minnesota and South Dakota southward through Missouri and Kansas. Cold wave warnings were issued for northeastern New Mexico.

Heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings were posted for Illinois, Ohio, southern Wisconsin and lower Michigan where the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted 4 to 6-inch snow accumulations.

Four inches of snow fell in Denver, Colo., in a six-hour period and winds gusted up to 45 miles per hour, reducing visibility to zero.

Five inches fell in Minneapolis, 3 in Rochester and Alexandria, Minn., and Lone Rock, Wis.

Some winds reached up to 60 m.p.h. in South Dakota and Nebraska. Broken Bow in central Nebraska reported wind gusts up to 80 m.p.h.

A hard freeze struck northern Florida and frost and freezing temperatures prevailed in most of the southern sector.

The storm began in Montana early Sunday and moved swiftly in a wide belt toward the Midwest. Rock slides in Idaho closed U.S. 12.

Gusting winds and heavy snow swept through Colorado, closing mountain passes.

Motorists were stalled on Denver streets. The temperature dropped 26 degrees in one hour after the storm hit the state. Eight hundred skiers evacuated from Lake Eldora in the Rocky Mountains during the morning were trapped by drifts up to 15 feet.

A drop of temperatures in Idaho eased the flood danger as the snowpack runoff was retarded. An estimated 200 persons were still homeless by a week of flooding.

New Mexico highways were [illegible] by dust whipped by 45-

Wilson River Cuts Through Gigantic Slide

TILLAMOOK, Ore. (AP) — The Wilson River cut steadily today through a gigantic earth slide that dammed it within steep canyon walls.

The slide of rain-soaked earth blocked the river Sunday and a lake four miles long and up to 100 feet deep formed behind it from the flooding mountain river and its tributaries.

Fear that the massive debris-filled dam would go out in a sudden break caused evacuation of 600 to 800 persons living along the river's eight-mile route to the sea.

Just when danger seemed greatest, the water began to cut a path through the dam and the level began to fall slowly.

The earthslide was one in a series crashing down throughout the Pacific Northwest in recent days. Continued rains and melting mountain snow had sent rivers out of their banks and saturated hillsides. One slide slammed into the Columbia River last week with such force

Dental Care Survey Made At Ft. Carson

Dentists representing the Colorado Dental Association and the Dental Advisory Committee of the Department of Defense are meeting today to investigate the adequacy of current dental care for dependents of military personnel stationed at Ft. Carson.

The Dental Advisory Committee is making the study in response to a request by Gen. A. J. Maroun, commanding officer at Ft. Carson, to designate this a remote area for dental purposes.

Under present law, dependents of military personnel stationed within the United States are not entitled to routine dental care at a military facility. The law allows routine dental care only at remote stations.

The group toured dental facilities this morning. The conference was set for 1 p.m.

Two Inches of Snow Falls on Pikes Peak

About two inches of new snow fell on Pikes Peak during the weekend.

Roy Knull, city watershed caretaker, said the snow was recorded at Ruxton Park, with about the same at Lake Morraine.

Precipitation at Ruxton Park during January was .43 of an inch and .7 at Lake Morraine.

Talks Continue With Striking Longshoremen

BALTIMORE (AP) — A revised contract went to rank and file Baltimore longshoremen today with the blessings of union leaders as docks from Maine to Texas stood idle for the 22nd day.

In three other ports dockworkers continued to bargain for new work agreements based on the so-called New York master contract approved more than a week ago.

Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports have been shut down since Jan. 10 when the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association went on strike.

The ILA says no ships will be worked until all ports in its jurisdiction have settled.

Members of the six locals here began voting at 8 a.m. on a contract hammered out over the weekend at bargaining sessions attended by Thomas W. Gleason, leader of the 60,000 striking dockers.

Gleason, ILA president, described the new Baltimore agreement as "better than New York's," and put his weight be-

Two Armed Robberies Are Reported

Two armed robberies occurred Sunday within four hours of each other, police reported. Thieves escaped with $100 in one and an unknown amount in the other.

The first occurred at the Palmer Park Boulevard Safeway Store, 1830 Palmer Park Blvd., at approximately 7:05 p.m. Donald D. Shaw, manager of the store, told police he was working in the cashier's cage counting coupons when a man came up to the window of the cage and ordered him to open the door. Shaw said the man was armed with a gun.

Shaw said he did as he was told and after the man came into the cage he forced Shaw to dump one tray of change into a green canvas bag and then said he wanted the rest of the money in plain paper money,

Russian Chiefs in Favor Of New Summit Meetings

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials today welcomed the Soviet Union's favorable response to President Johnson's call for top-level visits and contacts between the two countries.

They were less certain, however, about what to make of the Soviet Union's unexpected diplomatic intervention in war-torn Southeast Asia except that it will probably raise new problems for both the United States and Red China.

The two apparently unrelated developments, announced in Moscow Sunday, led Washington authorities to conclude that the new regime in Moscow has now made some basic foreign policy decisions and is ready to initiate action.

The response to Johnson's initiative, which the President made in his State of the Union message a month ago, took the format of a commentary in the Communist party paper Pravda, which U. S. leaders were sure was officially inspired.

The comment declared that Johnson's proposal for visits and for increased contacts between U.S. and Soviet officials had "met with a positive response in the Soviet Union."

Informants here said there had been some advance word to the United States that a favorable, informal reply would be forthcoming. They called the Pravda commentary encouraging and speculated that diplomats of the two countries would soon begin exploratory talks about top-level visits.

Johnson had said he would like the new Kremlin leaders to come to this country and speak to the American people on television. He made clear that he would welcome a reciprocal invitation to visit the Soviet Union and appear on Soviet television.

A few hours before the Pravda article was published the Tass news agency disclosed that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would head a high-powered delegation of Soviet military, aviation and economic experts on a visit to North Viet Nam.

This seems to mean that Kosygin and Soviet Communist party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, who replaced Premier

19 Are Killed In Stampede at Guadalajara

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Nineteen persons were reported trampled to death or suffocated and more than 40 others injured Sunday night when a crowd panicked at a popular music festival.

Police said some 7,000 fans leaving an arena, usually used as a bull ring, clashed head on with 5,000 others trying to enter.

Six children were among the dead.

The stampede occurred at the end of one performance and just before another was to begin.

Those impatiently waiting to reach seats for a second concert dashed through a corridor toward the fans leaving.

•In the melee, a woman carrying a child was believed to have fallen to the ground first. Others stumbled and fell a few seconds later. Fist fights erupted.

When police restored order 19 crushed bodies were strewn on the pavement.

Congress May Force Review Of Foreign Aid

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — (Special) — The House vote to stop sales of surplus food to the United Arab Republic may turn out to be even more significant than it first appeared.

Advocates of the aid ban are following up their tactical victory with an all-out effort for a congressional review of President Johnson's little-publicized policy toward Africa and the Middle East.

Representatives Robert Michel, R-Ill., and H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, who engineered the successful attack against Nasser, are demanding that the House Foreign Affairs Committee open an inquiry into why both the U.S. and Russia are supporting

Supreme Court Invalidates Apportionment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed today, insofar as federal questions are involved, a decision by a special U.S. District Court that portions of a Colorado constitutional amendment dealing with legislative apportionment are invalid.

The court, in an unsigned order, said that, insofar as the special court at Denver decided other than federal questions, its ruling was vacated and the case was sent back for further consideration, in the light of a "supervening decision" of the Colorado Supreme Court.

The order did not specify the federal questions to which it referred. Nor did it give any details as to the supervening decision of the state court.

The decision of the special three-judge U.S. District Court in Denver was appealed by Atty. Gen. Duke W. Dunbar of Colorado.

Gidget Farrell Colorado's Junior Miss at Contest

Gidget Farrell, a senior at Air Academy High School, was named Colorado's Junior Miss during competition at Englewood High School Saturday night.

Miss Farrell, 17, will compete in the Junior Miss National Contest March 13 through 20 in Mobile, Ala.

Runners-up were Marta Mondt, Greeley, and Nancy Reeves, Littleton.

Miss Farrell, who moved to Colorado Springs in September, said she was surprised and excited when judges announced she had won.

"I just couldn't believe it," she said. "My parents were as surprised as I was, I think.

"Now I am really looking forward to the nationals. I met so many wonderful girls during the contest that now I am looking forward to meeting them from all over. I'm not out to win as much as just to enjoy the experience.

"I hope more girls will get into this contest. Whether you win or lose, the experience is like you could get nowhere else."

Miss Farrell said that last year's Junior Miss, Pat Lucavich, had helped her already by suggesting certain kinds of suits and hats to buy for national competition.

"We have struck up a wonderful friendship," Miss Farrell said. "And I'm sure Pat will be able to give me a lot of good advice on the national contest."

Junior Miss Pageants throughout the country are sponsored by chapters of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Primarily the pageants are part of a scholarship program which provides $150,000 annually in college scholarships.

Each girl is judged on a combined scoring based on scholastic standing, physical fitness, poise, appearance, personality and ability in the creative and performing arts.

Solons Urge Federal War On 'Quacks, Pitchmen'

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators urged today a federal war on quacks and pitchmen who profit on crooked schemes aimed mainly at the elderly.

A report to the Senate by its subcommittee on frauds and misrepresentations affecting the elderly charged that unscrupulous operators are milking millions of dollars every year from the skimpy retirement incomes of the aged.

The subcommittee said an accurate count is impossible, but added that $1 billion a year "was mentioned most often" by knowledgeable witnesses in its 1964 hearings.

The report said quacks sell the elderly everything from phony arthritis "cures" to devices "guaranteed" to restore youth and remove wrinkles.

"It is shameful that the elderly are clearly the major victims of the highly organized, high pressure techniques of the modern medicine man," the report said. "But this is clearly the case."

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., the subcommittee chairman, said in an accompanying statement he would press recommendations for corrective action.

One proposal calls for creation of a new agency, to be named the Central Antiquackery Bureau, within the Food and Drug Administration.

Another calls for a new law

'Murder Case' Proves to Be 'Only Training'

By RUTHERFORD B. HAYES

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "It was kind of shocking, and my wife was really burned up, but we feel all right about it now."

F. Earl Swain described his experience of being picked up by a police squad investigating a "murder."

Swain, 71, former manager of the American Type Founders Co. for 37 years, his wife and their son, Wendell, 24, didn't know at the time:

That 63 young officers were training for the elite metro squad.

That police academy instructors had faked the murder of a fictitious blonde named Loraine by planting clues which led to many persons, all of whom were coached on what to say.

That the class, ear-weary after a week of lectures, was turned loose to solve the case Saturday.

"Those boys were really hepped up," said Capt. Sterling Ford, an instructor.

53 Cars Derailed in Train Sideswiping

PORT JERVIS, N.Y. (AP) — The Erie-Lackawanna Railroad's main line may be blocked for several days by the $1 million rubble of two freight trains that sideswiped each other and derailed 53 cars.

Some 300 new automobiles carried as cargo were destroyed in the wreck and fire that followed.

The freight cars were strewn along a two-mile stretch. Many of them burned for several hours after the freak accident at dawn Sunday.

Cause of the accident was not determined immediately.

An Erie-Lackawanna spokesman said passengers would be relayed around the wreck site by bus for the 20-mile stretch from Middletown, N.Y., to Port Jervis.

Communism has a showcase nearby in Cuba.

The Press may ascertain that in 1958 there were 58 newspapers being printed daily in Cuba. In 1963 there were nine.

In 1959 Cuba had eight universities with 30,000 students. Today communist Cuba has three universities with 15,000 students.

There were 4,059 urban public buses in Cuba. Today there are 2,952. Spare parts for motor vehicle are almost impossible to obtain.

Cuban labor enjoyed many advantages before Castro pridefully revealed that he is and has always been a communist. Now labor in Cuba has been deprived of its right to collective bargaining and the protection of a minimum wage regulation, 30 days paid vacations and sick leave.

These are some of the truths about life in the communist "showcase of the Caribbean" and proofs of what communism in practice really means.

The Castro tyranny is upheld only by force, sustained upon the bayonets of thousands of Russian troops and a tough Cuban militia. Nevertheless, Castro is in far more danger of being deposed than was Khrushchev. His own people are overwhelmingly against him and his own associates are endlessly plotting ways to seize the brutal and illegal power he has gained.

In this, Castro's Cuba simply follows the familiar historic trail of all the other communist countries. There is no security in them for anyone. There is no real hope for anyone, master or slave. They are caught in a trap from which only freedom can extricate them.

Spokane's First 'Mailwoman' Goes to Work

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Despite ice and snow and rain, the mail went through to northwest Spokane last week, but heads turned when the mail carrier strolled by in a skirt and leotards.

At 5-feet-3, Diana Reisdorph — the city's first mailwoman — is not much bigger than the sack of mail she totes on her left arm.

"I just love this job," she said, "and although I'm on trial now, I'm sure now I can do it.

"My muscles haven't ached so far and my feet feel fine."

Things did go well for Mrs. Reisdorph, 24, a divorcee, during her first training week, known as "stooging" because a veteran mailman went around with her to guard against any serious errors.

That is, if you don't count the time she suddenly sat down in the snow, bag and all, drawing chuckles from her partner.

Then there was the parcel of mail she delivered to a lady at the wrong house. "But that's not the bad part. The bad part was that her husband was a carrier too and he was home. That ws embarrassing," she said.

For a young, single girl, the job has advavtages. "We stopped at a little grocery store and the boy who runs it said he had been requesting to get rid of the other carrier so he could have me on his route. But I think he was making a joke," Mrs. Reisdorph laughed.

While postal officials are trying to design an appropriate uniform, Mrs. Reisdorph is wearing a skirt, leotards, jacket, fur-topped boots and, of course, a postman's — or is it postess' — hat.

The new uniform probably will include a skirt the new "mailmiss" said, "but they gave me strict instruction not to wear high heels."

Response to the innovation was kind, for the most part, although one irate caller wanted postal officials to explain why they "sent that poor thing out on the street with that heavy bag."

Another was upset because Mrs. Reisdorph had a job "when so many men are out of work."

Parents May Be to Blame for Poor Grades

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If a normally bright child fails repeatedly in school, his parents probably need psychotherapy, say two New Orleans researchers.

Drs. Arthur P. Burdon and James H. Neely of the New Orleans Regional Mental Health Center found in a four-year study of families of chronic school failures: "The mothers were anxious and sometimes desperate, full of guilt, the fathers were truculent and angry."

Successful treatment of 46 boys, aged 6 to 12, included short term group therapy for their parents plus educational help and play therapy for the children, the researchers reported today at the annual conference of the American Group Psychotherapy Association.

53 Cars Derailed in Train Sideswiping

PORT JERVIS, N.Y. (AP) — The Erie-Lackawanna Railroad's main line may be blocked for several days by the $1 million rubble of two freight trains that sideswiped each other and derailed 53 cars.

Some 300 new automobiles carried as cargo were destroyed in the wreck and fire that followed.

The freight cars were strewn along a two-mile stretch. Many of them burned for several hours after the freak accident at dawn Sunday.

Cause of the accident was not determined immediately.

An Erie-Lackawanna spokesman said passengers would be relayed around the wreck site by bus for the 20-mile stretch from Middletown, N.Y., to Port Jervis.

PLYWOOD SUB

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (UPI) — The first launching of a Japanese submarine took place here recently, but it wasn't meant for the buffeting of heavy seas.

The $80,000 ship was a replica of a World War II fleet submarine, built of light plywood by 20th Century-Fox Studios for use in the sea movie "Morituri."

H.L. Hunt Writes

Communism has a showcase nearby in Cuba.

The Press may ascertain that in 1958 there were 58 newspapers being printed daily in Cuba. In 1963 there were nine.

In 1959 Cuba had eight universities with 30,000 students. Today communist Cuba has three universities with 15,000 students.

There were 4,059 urban public buses in Cuba. Today there are 2,952. Spare parts for motor vehicle are almost impossible to obtain.

Cuban labor enjoyed many advantages before Castro pridefully revealed that he is and has always been a communist. Now labor in Cuba has been deprived of its right to collective bargaining and the protection of a minimum wage regulation, 30 days paid vacations and sick leave.

These are some of the truths about life in the communist "showcase of the Caribbean" and proofs of what communism in practice really means.

The Castro tyranny is upheld only by force, sustained upon the bayonets of thousands of Russian troops and a tough Cuban militia. Nevertheless, Castro is in far more danger of being deposed than was Khrushchev. His own people are overwhelmingly against him and his own associates are endlessly plotting ways to seize the brutal and illegal power he has gained.

In this, Castro's Cuba simply follows the familiar historic trail of all the other communist countries. There is no security in them for anyone. There is no real hope for anyone, master or slave. They are caught in a trap from which only freedom can extricate them.

ENTWINING THE WORLD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California's cooperative wineries produce enough wine to encircle the earth six and one-half times if the bottles were laid end to end, according to the California Wine Institute. And most of the growth of the cooperatives, which have a storage capacity of 176 million gallons, has occurred since repeal of prohibition.

Spokane's First 'Mailwoman' Goes to Work

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Despite ice and snow and rain, the mail went through to northwest Spokane last week, but heads turned when the mail carrier strolled by in a skirt and leotards.

At 5-feet-3, Diana Reisdorph — the city's first mailwoman — is not much bigger than the sack of mail she totes on her left arm.

"I just love this job," she said, "and although I'm on trial now, I'm sure now I can do it.

"My muscles haven't ached so far and my feet feel fine."

Things did go well for Mrs. Reisdorph, 24, a divorcee, during her first training week, known as "stooging" because a veteran mailman went around with her to guard against any serious errors.

That is, if you don't count the time she suddenly sat down in the snow, bag and all, drawing chuckles from her partner.

Then there was the parcel of mail she delivered to a lady at the wrong house. "But that's not the bad part. The bad part was that her husband was a carrier too and he was home. That ws embarrassing," she said.

For a young, single girl, the job has advavtages. "We stopped at a little grocery store and the boy who runs it said he had been requesting to get rid of the other carrier so he could have me on his route. But I think he was making a joke," Mrs. Reisdorph laughed.

While postal officials are trying to design an appropriate uniform, Mrs. Reisdorph is wearing a skirt, leotards, jacket, fur-topped boots and, of course, a postman's — or is it postess' — hat.

The new uniform probably will include a skirt the new "mailmiss" said, "but they gave me strict instruction not to wear high heels."

Response to the innovation was kind, for the most part, although one irate caller wanted postal officials to explain why they "sent that poor thing out on the street with that heavy bag."

Another was upset because Mrs. Reisdorph had a job "when so many men are out of work."

"One couple asked if the other carrier was my husband. They thought he didn't feel good so I was carrying the bag for him."

Mrs. Reisdorph got the job over five male applicants because her civil service score was higher. Regulations prohibit discrimination because of sex. The supreme test will come when she leaves the specially selected training route and is on really her own.

She's off and walking today, making the appointed rounds alone.

U.N. Plans New Appeal for Payments

(AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant planned another urgent appeal today to nations behind in their peacekeeping dues to pay up.

In an afternoon address to the General Assembly, which has been recessed since last Wednesday, he was expected to tell delegates that the United Nations was running short of cash because about $133 million in assessments remains unpaid.

Officials say they do not know where they will get the money to meet payrolls next month.

Thant's report will be directed at the Soviet Union, France and other nations that are behind in U.N. assessments. Reliable sources said it would be similar to one he made two weeks ago, saying that 16 countries "should be considered to be" two years in arrears.

Article 19 of the U.N. charter says that any member two years in arrears shall have no vote in the General Assembly. The United States has insisted that those in this category must either pay a percentage of their dues or be barred from voting.

Since convening Dec. 1, the General Assembly has avoided a Soviet-U.S. showdown over voting rights because all voting has been postponed until the financial dispute is settled.

U.N. Plans New Appeal for Payments

(AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant planned another urgent appeal today to nations behind in their peacekeeping dues to pay up.

In an afternoon address to the General Assembly, which has been recessed since last Wednesday, he was expected to tell delegates that the United Nations was running short of cash because about $133 million in assessments remains unpaid.

Officials say they do not know where they will get the money to meet payrolls next month.

Thant's report will be directed at the Soviet Union, France and other nations that are behind in U.N. assessments. Reliable sources said it would be similar to one he made two weeks ago, saying that 16 countries "should be considered to be" two years in arrears.

Article 19 of the U.N. charter says that any member two years in arrears shall have no vote in the General Assembly. The United States has insisted that those in this category must either pay a percentage of their dues or be barred from voting.

Since convening Dec. 1, the General Assembly has avoided a Soviet-U.S. showdown over voting rights because all voting has been postponed until the financial dispute is settled.

Two Armed Robberies Are Reported

which he had Shaw place in a different bank bag.

During the time one gunman was forcing Shaw to give him money, another man, also armed with a gun, rounded up three other employes who were the only persons in the store at the time, and forced them to go into the room at the rear of the cashier's cage.

After the two men got what money there was, they put the four employes in the cigarette room, a small room at the rear of the cashier's cage, and propped a snow shovel against the door to hold it shut. They made their escape immediately after this, according to the report.

Shaw and the other three employes of the store described the two hold-up men as being approximately 30 years old.

One man was wearing a gray and black speckled sport coat, black slacks, loafers, a black tie and gray hat, black leather gloves, and carrying a chrome revolver in his right hand. He was approximately five feet eight inches tall.

The second man was approximately five feet seven inches tall, had a southern accent, was wearing black pants and a black hat, and had on black leather gloves. He was carrying a .45 caliber automatic pistol.

All four witnesses said both men had on very large comic sunglasses.

According to the report, there was no estimate as to the amount of money the men escaped with.

The second robbery occurred at the Seven-Eleven Store, 2123 Templeton Gap Road, at approximqtely 11 p.m. Sunday, when two thieves escaped with $100.

Cecil Trembley, manager of the store, told police he and another employe of the store were just getting ready to close when an unknown man came in the door and said, "this is a stick-up." Tembley said the man was armed with a pistol.

Another man then entered the store, also armed with a gun. The first man at this time forced Trembley to open the cash register and dump the money into a paper sack. After this was done, one of the men asked where the safe was, and after Trembly told them they forced him and the employe into the cooler and left them there.

Trembley told police he and the employe stayed in the cooler approximately three minutes, and when they came out the men were gone.

Both men were described as being approximately 23 years old, six feet tall, and weighing 160 pounds. The first man was wearing dark pants, and a light tan parka and black boots.

The second man was wearing a light blue ski parka, had a nylon stocking over his face, and had light hair.

Coat Valued at $500 Taken From Stand

A woman's fur coat valued at approximately $500 was taken from the check stand in a local night club over the weekend, police reported.

Gertrude Jordening, 15 Westview Place, told police her coat was stolen from the check stand in the Go Go Club, 210 E. Cimarron St., between 9:20 p.m. Saturday and 2 a.m. Sunday.

The coat was made in Germany of Muskrat fur, is knee length, and has long sleeves with folded cuffs, according to the report.

Frigid Storms Lash Wide Areas of United States

50 m.p.h. winds. High winds and blowing snow cut visibility in Nebraska.

A light plane crashed during a swirling snow storm near El Paso in north-central Illinois. State police said the two passengers were killed.

Miami, Fla., registered 40 Sunday. Other Florida lows were 26 in Pensacola and 27 in Tallahassee.

At least five traffic deaths in North Carolina were attributed to the weather.

A mammoth early slide in a deep canyon dammed the Wilson River near Tillamook, Ore., Sunday and a lake four miles long built up behind the debris.

An estimated 600 persons were evacuated from homes in the path of the dammed-up water. State police said later it looked as if the river would carve a route through the dam and empty the lake slowly into Tillamook Bay and the sea.

The slide came as flooding conditions improved in Oregon.

Rains stopped. Temperatures dropped and rivers fell in Washington. But the Yakima River undercut a railroad fill, topping a branch line into the river.

At Alta, Utah, a skiing area, some 300 persons rounded out a week cut off by avalanches and their evacuation was begun. Snow Cats — tracked vehicles for traveling over snow — began a shuttle service of people and baggage.

Ceremonies to Mark Retirement Of Gen. LeMay

late last week with a cold and slight fever.

Units from the Air Force, Army, Navy and Marines were to march in the ceremony to the beat of a 50-man contingent of the U.S. Air Force band, a kilted bagpipe band.

With an eye on the weather, the Air Force had ready aircraft for a flyby for the departing general. Most of them were supersonic jets, but among them was at least one elderly type that would hold nostalgia for LeMay.

LeMay so far has kept to himself his plans in his new career as a civilian after 36 years as a military man.

He also has confined his opinions about the way things are run in the defense establishment to testimony before congressional committees. Now he will be able to speak out publicly if he wishes.

As Air Force chief of staff, he has been less than happy with some of McNamara's decisions and policies. His occasional testimony showed that.

He has been particularly concerned over the refusal to permit a start on producing a modernized family of manned bombers instead of merely extending the life of subsonic but long-range B52s. He had reservations about going into full-scale production of the TFX — now called the F111 — fighter of the design accepted by McNamara.

while on the second it will reach 54 degrees.

At 7:05, Saturday, the satellite will pass, with a maximum elevation of 55 degrees. Then, on Sunday, it will make two visible trips, one at 5:49 and another at 7:52. The first will climb to an elevation of 47 degrees and the second will reach 76 degrees above the horizon.

Its last visible pass on the present schedule will occur Monday at 6:34, reaching a maximum height of 56 degrees.

Echo II will not be visible at all in this area during the eight day period.

Information of Echo I visibility is released from the 1st Aerospace Control Squadron (ADC) at Ent Air Force Base. The squadron is responsible at present for cataloging 513 man-made objects in space for both the North American Air Defense Command and the Air Force SPACETRACK System.

Russian Chiefs In Favor of Summit Talks

Khrushchev last October, have decided to abandon Khrushchev's hands-off policy in Southeast Asia and try to play a vigorous role in the politics of conflict in that part of the world.

Washington authorities doubted that the two separate announcements were merely coincidental. They were inclined to think Soviet leaders were trying to indicate to Washington that any Russian move to intervene in Southeast Asia was not intended to strain relations between Washington and Moscow.

This view was based in part on a longstanding belief of policymakers here that the Soviet Union does not stand to profit by expanding war between North and South Viet Nam or between North Viet Nam and Laos.

There was some expectation that Kosygin probably would undertake to make a strong agreement of aid and support for Communist North Viet Nam but that this agreement would be essentially defensive in nature and might even lead eventually to some brake on North Vietnamese aggression in Laos and South Viet Nam.

One result of the new Soviet moves was considered here to be reasonably predictable: a deeper wedge between the Soviet Union and Red China. In recent years, Red China's influence in North Viet Nam has been predominant.

Moscow's announcements came only hours after the State Department had announced stepped-up cultural exchanges during 1965 between the United States and the Soviet Union.

A number of top U.S. musicians, including pianist Van Cliburn, violinist Isaac Stern and singers Jerome Hines and Mary Costa, as well as the Cleveland Symphony orchestra and the Julliard Quartet, will visit the Soviet Union.

In return, the Soviets are sending the Moscow Symphony Orchestra, the Moiseyev dancers, pianist Svyatoslav Richter and violinist Igor Oistrakh.

copyrighted story Sunday a junior class cadet stole final examination questions last May for use of himself and five or six close associates. He repeated the thefts in December, The Post said, and then started promoting the sale of the test questions in advance of final semester examinations. The price was in the $5-$10 range, the newspaper said.

Two classmates who refused to buy the papers reported the offer to academy officials, touching off the investigation.

They acted under the honor code under which cadets pledge not to steal, lie or cheat and not to tolerate those who do.

Avalanches Threaten Skiing Area in Utah

period of time. Normally we get that much in a month.

Whenever we get large amounts like that, it generally means some avalanche hazard.

The problem became compounded when we got rain at 8,000 or 9,000 feet. The snow got very wet and heavy as the temperature rose.

It was enough to bring down very large avalanches — 15 or 20 of them across the Alta highway that goes up the canyon.

We were able to shoot down a very large avalanche from Mt. Superior Sunday. Firing projectiles into large and threatening snow accumulations is common practice to shake them loose.

We used a 75 mm recoilless rifle. It took just one shot.

The size of the avalanche showed the snow hadn't stabilized.

It was the last slide threatening the roads. So we moved the people out of there.

With the end of snowfall and when the temperatures fall again, danger will diminish. It might take us two or three days to get the ski resorts back in operation.

We've got extraordinary snow conditions up there. And I'll feel better with two or three cold days under our belt.

Woman Injured In Car Mishap

A one-vehicle accident Sunday at 3 p.m. three miles north of Garden of the Gods Road resulted in injuries to one person, the State Patrol reported.

Mary E. Newton, 59, 3400 N. Cascade Ave., suffered multiple fractures and abrasions and was taken to Penrose Hospita by E & E Ambulance.

Marion Lee Newton, 59, also of 3400 N. Cascade Ave., was southbound on 30th Street when he drove off the right shoulder for 66 feet, then rolled down an embankment rolling over twice on the way down. Mrs. Newton was thrown out of the vehicle.

The Newton vehicle had $700 damage, the Patrol estimated.

hind it, as have the leaders of the six locals.

Officials of four of the locals had asked a negative vote on a proposal that was rejected last Wednesday 1,371 to 1,016.

Several changes, including the elimination of a controversial jurisdictional clause, have led Gleason and ILA Vice President William Haile to predict ratification today.

Gleason, before he left Baltimore Sunday, spoke of "terrific pressure" being applied by Washington to get the strikers back on the job.

The strike has cost the nation's economy an estimated $1 billion.

In Miami, where terms are set for ports in the South Atlantic district, shippers and union leaders met at 10 a.m. today after a standoff of more than a month.

In dispute there was the size of work gangs with ILA negotiator Judge Henderson insisting his men would not return to their jobs until they got a guarantee of a 16-man gang minimum.

David Watts, spokesman for South Atlantic shippers, says the employers are not willing to yield. "We feel very adamant on miminum gangs," Watts said Sunday.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James Reynolds, who left stalled negotiations in Galveston, Tex., was on hand for the Miami talks.

Further discussions were set in Philadelphia, another unsettled port, for 2 p.m. today. Federal mediator John Murray said the central issues were the 1,600-hour work guarantee included in the master contract and management's request for greater flexibility of work rules.

In Hampton Roads, Va., ILA Vice President David Alston said he would resume negotiations at 1:30 p.m. on unresolved terms covering 1,500 warehousemen, checkers and other workers.

A settlement was reached Saturday on terms for about 1,000 general cargo dockers.

Longshoremen in New York, Boston, New Orleans and Baton Rouge, La. have agreed to terms on the four-year master contract.

The Baltimore locals finish voting at 5 p.m. Balloting is by machine.

the Organization of African Unity as the chief political and economic policy-making body in Africa.

In a series of House speeches, the two GOP committeemen will demand the policy review and charge that Communist China, Algeria and even Cuba are backing the OAU, which is secretly being financed by both Moscow and Washington.

Representatives Michel and Gross will point out that Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, former Mau Mau leader who is running the OAU, was indoctrinated and trained in Marxism in Moscow and is backing the Kremlin's grand design of a Soviet - controlled Africa. They will charge that this tight Soviet political hold on OAU makes the U.S. policy of supporting it almost suicidal and comparable to "putting Al Capone in charge of the Chicago police force and providing him with a key to the city treasury."

DISTURBING FACTORS

According to Representatives Michel and Gross, the disquieting aspect of the administration's African policy is that Secretary Rusk has full knowledge of the Kremlin's control of OAU, but still favors building U.S. policy around that controversial organization.

Illustrative is one policy paper in the possession of the legislators flatly stating that "as a matter of policy, the U.S. should encourage in every way feasible the evolution and strengthening of OAU as a regional security system increasingly able to take on responsibility for negotiating, administering and enforcing within the region political and military programs for both the pacific settlement of intra-regional disputes and collective security."

Other information in the hands of GOP foreign Affairs committeemen, who are backing Michel and Gross, shows that the United Arab Republic, Algeria and Cuba not only are supporting OAU publicly but are privately offering the organization money and technicians to staff its military, foreign and scientific comissions.

While Republican congressional leaders still lack the votes in the Senate to pass the ban on sales of surplus food to the UAR, they hope to pick up the necessary support in the coming debate by mobilizing public opinion for a crackdown on Nasser and a review of the administration's African policy.

The latter battles could touch off a full - scale foreign policy debate over the Johnson administration's decision to increase trade with Russia at the same time the Soviet is supplying arms to the Communist Viet Cong killing U.S. servicemen in South Viet Nam.

SEALING THE LID

If there is anything President Johnson doesn't want at this time, it is a free - wheeling, uncontrolled public debate on the administration's foreign policy in the Middle East or anywhere else.

Secretary Rusk made this clear in phone calls to House Democratic leaders during the debate on the amendment barring surplus food sales to Nasser.

In counseling the Democrats on strategy, Rusk urged them to avoid a discussion of U.S. policy in the Middle East and Africa on the ground "the situation there is too explosive."

He stressed that opposition to the UAR ban should be on the basis that such action by Congress would seriously restrict the President's freedom of action in dealing with Nasser.

Wilson River Cuts Through Gigantic Slide

that a massive wave washed across the ship channel, over a dike and across an island, killing a farmer in his home.

The Wilson river slide brought no reported injuries, but the lake that built up behind it floated one house off its foundations. Six or eight other small houses were near the stream and were submerged.

Downriver are scores of houses and buildings on rich dairy farms. The river twists through the foothills for a mile below the slide area, then comes out into a broad tidal plain.

Several motels, restaurants and service stations on low ground at the northern edge of Tillamook were evacuated for the night. Police closed U.S. 101. Hundreds of head of dairy cattle were taken to high ground.

Students Will Select 1965 Pageant Parade Theme

Students of the region will have the opportunity to select the 1965 Pageant Parde of the Rockies parade theme.

From now until midnight, March 1, elementary, junior high, and senior high school students will submit theme ideas, in six words or less, to the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, said James Tudor, parade general chairman.

The theme for the Pageant Parade of the Rockies follows a western idea. Last year's Parade theme was "Westward Ho!"

Winner of this contest will be honored during the opening night of the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo. In addition, the winner and his family will have special box seats for this night.

"Students should include their name, address, telephone number and name of school along with their suggested theme. Letters or post cards will be accepted. Students can enter as many times as they want. In the event of a tie, the winner will be determined by the earliest post-mark date," said Tudor.

Tuor, manager of Penny's Department Store, was recently named to the post of General Chairman Executive Board of the Pageant Parade of the Rockies Pageant Parade oftheRockies.

The Pageant Parade of the Rockies, formerly called the Rodeo Parade, is being developed into a major attraction.

Last year more than 70 marching units participated in the two-hour parade. More than 20 floats, represented by local military groups, were entered. business, industry, civil and military groups, were entered. when questioned. He mentioned some names, including Swain's.

"Swain's name wasn't typed on the card we gave Torrance," Capt. Ford explained, "but someone had pencilled it on the bottom. Don't know why."

The eager squad fanned out, checking all the names.

Swain, finishing his morning coffee, saw policemen all around his place. Six of them entered the house.

"You know anyone by the name of Loraine?" they asked Wendell Swain.

"Yes."

"Is she a blonde or brunette?"

"She's a blonde I met at the bowling alley."

Then the officers got serious.

"They searched Wendell's bed, closet, dresser — everything," Swain said. "They searched my car — found a quarter and a nickel behind the seat and gave them to me. Then they asked us to come with them."

The officers radioed ahead, "The case is made."

"The first hint I had that it wasn't a real case was when they took us to the Police Academy instead of headquarters," Swain said.

"Something has gone wrong," remarked an instructor when the Swains walked in.

Capt. Ford apologized. Swain and his son soon were chuckling.

Back at home, Mrs. Swain was simmering.

"We've lived here 20 years. What will the neighbors think?"

Ford sat down and explained the training program. Mrs. Swain said she understood.

Would Ford flunk the officers?

"No," he said emphatically. "They were doing just what we have to do on every real case.

Would Swain flunk them?

"No," Swain said. "They were polite, intelligent, and acted like gentlemen. I think they will be fine officers."

Ohioan Wants His Funeral to Be Enjoyable

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Gerald McKinney is looking forward to his funeral even though, he says, "some people look at me like I'm some kind of nut."

McKinney, 42, has arranged to have his funeral Sunday, June 6, at the Scioto County Fairgrounds, near his home town of Minford in southern Ohio.

"They've given us permission to use the grandstand," McKinney said. "We're going to have lots of music, all types. I want everyone to enjoy himself. The way I figure it, my friends and relatives can come to see me now while I can see them. If they don't come now, they can stay away when I'm dead."

The Rev. Ray Borders has agreed to officiate. He is pastor of the Springfield Interdenominational church. "I didn't think he was serious at first. But later I found out he was," the pastor said, adding that he sees nothing sacrilegious in it "if the fellow wants it that way."

McKinney has been married three times and is father of three children.

County Jury May Not Investigate Racial Slaying

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — A county grand jury which convenes here today may not be asked to probe the slaying of three civil rights workers.

Federal sources have said the Justice Department probably would not release its evidence to the jurors until the department's case against 18 men is disposed of in federal court.

Seventeen of those indicted by a federal grand jury — including Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey — pleaded innocent to conspiracy charges last week. The 18th man was expected to enter a plea soon at Atlanta, Ga.

Dist. Atty. Bill Johnson said he would ask the Philadelphia grand jury for action if federal authorities would turn over evidence.

Circuit Judge O. H. Barnett, who will preside, said he concurred with Johnson's statement.

When the county grand jury tried to look into the case last September, the Justice Department refused to release evidence. FBI agents who were subpoenaed did not show up.

which he had Shaw place in a different bank bag.

During the time one gunman was forcing Shaw to give him money, another man, also armed with a gun, rounded up three other employes who were the only persons in the store at the time, and forced them to go into the room at the rear of the cashier's cage.

After the two men got what money there was, they put the four employes in the cigarette room, a small room at the rear of the cashier's cage, and propped a snow shovel against the door to hold it shut. They made their escape immediately after this, according to the report.

Shaw and the other three employes of the store described the two hold-up men as being approximately 30 years old.

One man was wearing a gray and black speckled sport coat, black slacks, loafers, a black tie and gray hat, black leather gloves, and carrying a chrome revolver in his right hand. He was approximately five feet eight inches tall.

The second man was approximately five feet seven inches tall, had a southern accent, was wearing black pants and a black hat, and had on black leather gloves. He was carrying a .45 caliber automatic pistol.

All four witnesses said both men had on very large comic sunglasses.

According to the report, there was no estimate as to the amount of money the men escaped with.

The second robbery occurred at the Seven-Eleven Store, 2123 Templeton Gap Road, at approximqtely 11 p.m. Sunday, when two thieves escaped with $100.

Cecil Trembley, manager of the store, told police he and another employe of the store were just getting ready to close when an unknown man came in the door and said, "this is a stick-up." Tembley said the man was armed with a pistol.

Another man then entered the store, also armed with a gun. The first man at this time forced Trembley to open the cash register and dump the money into a paper sack. After this was done, one of the men asked where the safe was, and after Trembly told them they forced him and the employe into the cooler and left them there.

Trembley told police he and the employe stayed in the cooler approximately three minutes, and when they came out the men were gone.

Both men were described as being approximately 23 years old, six feet tall, and weighing 160 pounds. The first man was wearing dark pants, and a light tan parka and black boots.

The second man was wearing a light blue ski parka, had a nylon stocking over his face, and had light hair.

50 m.p.h. winds. High winds and blowing snow cut visibility in Nebraska.

A light plane crashed during a swirling snow storm near El Paso in north-central Illinois. State police said the two passengers were killed.

Miami, Fla., registered 40 Sunday. Other Florida lows were 26 in Pensacola and 27 in Tallahassee.

At least five traffic deaths in North Carolina were attributed to the weather.

A mammoth early slide in a deep canyon dammed the Wilson River near Tillamook, Ore., Sunday and a lake four miles long built up behind the debris.

An estimated 600 persons were evacuated from homes in the path of the dammed-up water. State police said later it looked as if the river would carve a route through the dam and empty the lake slowly into Tillamook Bay and the sea.

The slide came as flooding conditions improved in Oregon.

Rains stopped. Temperatures dropped and rivers fell in Washington. But the Yakima River undercut a railroad fill, topping a branch line into the river.

At Alta, Utah, a skiing area, some 300 persons rounded out a week cut off by avalanches and their evacuation was begun. Snow Cats — tracked vehicles for traveling over snow — began a shuttle service of people and baggage.

Ceremonies to Mark Retirement Of Gen. LeMay

late last week with a cold and slight fever.

Units from the Air Force, Army, Navy and Marines were to march in the ceremony to the beat of a 50-man contingent of the U.S. Air Force band, a kilted bagpipe band.

With an eye on the weather, the Air Force had ready aircraft for a flyby for the departing general. Most of them were supersonic jets, but among them was at least one elderly type that would hold nostalgia for LeMay.

LeMay so far has kept to himself his plans in his new career as a civilian after 36 years as a military man.

He also has confined his opinions about the way things are run in the defense establishment to testimony before congressional committees. Now he will be able to speak out publicly if he wishes.

As Air Force chief of staff, he has been less than happy with some of McNamara's decisions and policies. His occasional testimony showed that.

He has been particularly concerned over the refusal to permit a start on producing a modernized family of manned bombers instead of merely extending the life of subsonic but long-range B52s. He had reservations about going into full-scale production of the TFX — now called the F111 — fighter of the design accepted by McNamara.

Its last visible pass on the present schedule will occur Monday at 6:34, reaching a maximum height of 56 degrees.

Echo II will not be visible at all in this area during the eight day period.

Information of Echo I visibility is released from the 1st Aerospace Control Squadron (ADC) at Ent Air Force Base. The squadron is responsible at present for cataloging 513 man-made objects in space for both the North American Air Defense Command and the Air Force SPACETRACK System.

Russian Chiefs In Favor of Summit Talks

Khrushchev last October, have decided to abandon Khrushchev's hands-off policy in Southeast Asia and try to play a vigorous role in the politics of conflict in that part of the world.

Washington authorities doubted that the two separate announcements were merely coincidental. They were inclined to think Soviet leaders were trying to indicate to Washington that any Russian move to intervene in Southeast Asia was not intended to strain relations between Washington and Moscow.

This view was based in part on a longstanding belief of policymakers here that the Soviet Union does not stand to profit by expanding war between North and South Viet Nam or between North Viet Nam and Laos.

There was some expectation that Kosygin probably would undertake to make a strong agreement of aid and support for Communist North Viet Nam but that this agreement would be essentially defensive in nature and might even lead eventually to some brake on North Vietnamese aggression in Laos and South Viet Nam.

One result of the new Soviet moves was considered here to be reasonably predictable: a deeper wedge between the Soviet Union and Red China. In recent years, Red China's influence in North Viet Nam has been predominant.

Moscow's announcements came only hours after the State Department had announced stepped-up cultural exchanges during 1965 between the United States and the Soviet Union.

A number of top U.S. musicians, including pianist Van Cliburn, violinist Isaac Stern and singers Jerome Hines and Mary Costa, as well as the Cleveland Symphony orchestra and the Julliard Quartet, will visit the Soviet Union.

In return, the Soviets are sending the Moscow Symphony Orchestra, the Moiseyev dancers, pianist Svyatoslav Richter and violinist Igor Oistrakh.

period of time. Normally we get that much in a month.

Whenever we get large amounts like that, it generally means some avalanche hazard.

The problem became compounded when we got rain at 8,000 or 9,000 feet. The snow got very wet and heavy as the temperature rose.

It was enough to bring down very large avalanches — 15 or 20 of them across the Alta highway that goes up the canyon.

We were able to shoot down a very large avalanche from Mt. Superior Sunday. Firing projectiles into large and threatening snow accumulations is common practice to shake them loose.

We used a 75 mm recoilless rifle. It took just one shot.

The size of the avalanche showed the snow hadn't stabilized.

It was the last slide threatening the roads. So we moved the people out of there.

With the end of snowfall and when the temperatures fall again, danger will diminish. It might take us two or three days to get the ski resorts back in operation.

We've got extraordinary snow conditions up there. And I'll feel better with two or three cold days under our belt.

The Newton vehicle had $700 damage, the Patrol estimated.

Officials of four of the locals had asked a negative vote on a proposal that was rejected last Wednesday 1,371 to 1,016.

Several changes, including the elimination of a controversial jurisdictional clause, have led Gleason and ILA Vice President William Haile to predict ratification today.

Gleason, before he left Baltimore Sunday, spoke of "terrific pressure" being applied by Washington to get the strikers back on the job.

The strike has cost the nation's economy an estimated $1 billion.

In Miami, where terms are set for ports in the South Atlantic district, shippers and union leaders met at 10 a.m. today after a standoff of more than a month.

In dispute there was the size of work gangs with ILA negotiator Judge Henderson insisting his men would not return to their jobs until they got a guarantee of a 16-man gang minimum.

David Watts, spokesman for South Atlantic shippers, says the employers are not willing to yield. "We feel very adamant on miminum gangs," Watts said Sunday.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James Reynolds, who left stalled negotiations in Galveston, Tex., was on hand for the Miami talks.

Further discussions were set in Philadelphia, another unsettled port, for 2 p.m. today. Federal mediator John Murray said the central issues were the 1,600-hour work guarantee included in the master contract and management's request for greater flexibility of work rules.

In Hampton Roads, Va., ILA Vice President David Alston said he would resume negotiations at 1:30 p.m. on unresolved terms covering 1,500 warehousemen, checkers and other workers.

A settlement was reached Saturday on terms for about 1,000 general cargo dockers.

Longshoremen in New York, Boston, New Orleans and Baton Rouge, La. have agreed to terms on the four-year master contract.

The Baltimore locals finish voting at 5 p.m. Balloting is by machine.

the Organization of African Unity as the chief political and economic policy-making body in Africa.

In a series of House speeches, the two GOP committeemen will demand the policy review and charge that Communist China, Algeria and even Cuba are backing the OAU, which is secretly being financed by both Moscow and Washington.

Representatives Michel and Gross will point out that Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, former Mau Mau leader who is running the OAU, was indoctrinated and trained in Marxism in Moscow and is backing the Kremlin's grand design of a Soviet - controlled Africa. They will charge that this tight Soviet political hold on OAU makes the U.S. policy of supporting it almost suicidal and comparable to "putting Al Capone in charge of the Chicago police force and providing him with a key to the city treasury."

DISTURBING FACTORS

According to Representatives Michel and Gross, the disquieting aspect of the administration's African policy is that Secretary Rusk has full knowledge of the Kremlin's control of OAU, but still favors building U.S. policy around that controversial organization.

Illustrative is one policy paper in the possession of the legislators flatly stating that "as a matter of policy, the U.S. should encourage in every way feasible the evolution and strengthening of OAU as a regional security system increasingly able to take on responsibility for negotiating, administering and enforcing within the region political and military programs for both the pacific settlement of intra-regional disputes and collective security."

Other information in the hands of GOP foreign Affairs committeemen, who are backing Michel and Gross, shows that the United Arab Republic, Algeria and Cuba not only are supporting OAU publicly but are privately offering the organization money and technicians to staff its military, foreign and scientific comissions.

While Republican congressional leaders still lack the votes in the Senate to pass the ban on sales of surplus food to the UAR, they hope to pick up the necessary support in the coming debate by mobilizing public opinion for a crackdown on Nasser and a review of the administration's African policy.

The latter battles could touch off a full - scale foreign policy debate over the Johnson administration's decision to increase trade with Russia at the same time the Soviet is supplying arms to the Communist Viet Cong killing U.S. servicemen in South Viet Nam.

SEALING THE LID

If there is anything President Johnson doesn't want at this time, it is a free - wheeling, uncontrolled public debate on the administration's foreign policy in the Middle East or anywhere else.

Secretary Rusk made this clear in phone calls to House Democratic leaders during the debate on the amendment barring surplus food sales to Nasser.

In counseling the Democrats on strategy, Rusk urged them to avoid a discussion of U.S. policy in the Middle East and Africa on the ground "the situation there is too explosive."

He stressed that opposition to the UAR ban should be on the basis that such action by Congress would seriously restrict the President's freedom of action in dealing with Nasser.

The Wilson river slide brought no reported injuries, but the lake that built up behind it floated one house off its foundations. Six or eight other small houses were near the stream and were submerged.

Downriver are scores of houses and buildings on rich dairy farms. The river twists through the foothills for a mile below the slide area, then comes out into a broad tidal plain.

Several motels, restaurants and service stations on low ground at the northern edge of Tillamook were evacuated for the night. Police closed U.S. 101. Hundreds of head of dairy cattle were taken to high ground.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Gerald McKinney is looking forward to his funeral even though, he says, "some people look at me like I'm some kind of nut."

McKinney, 42, has arranged to have his funeral Sunday, June 6, at the Scioto County Fairgrounds, near his home town of Minford in southern Ohio.

"They've given us permission to use the grandstand," McKinney said. "We're going to have lots of music, all types. I want everyone to enjoy himself. The way I figure it, my friends and relatives can come to see me now while I can see them. If they don't come now, they can stay away when I'm dead."

The Rev. Ray Borders has agreed to officiate. He is pastor of the Springfield Interdenominational church. "I didn't think he was serious at first. But later I found out he was," the pastor said, adding that he sees nothing sacrilegious in it "if the fellow wants it that way."

McKinney has been married three times and is father of three children.

County Jury May Not Investigate Racial Slaying

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — A county grand jury which convenes here today may not be asked to probe the slaying of three civil rights workers.

Federal sources have said the Justice Department probably would not release its evidence to the jurors until the department's case against 18 men is disposed of in federal court.

Seventeen of those indicted by a federal grand jury — including Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey — pleaded innocent to conspiracy charges last week. The 18th man was expected to enter a plea soon at Atlanta, Ga.

Dist. Atty. Bill Johnson said he would ask the Philadelphia grand jury for action if federal authorities would turn over evidence.

Circuit Judge O. H. Barnett, who will preside, said he concurred with Johnson's statement.

When the county grand jury tried to look into the case last September, the Justice Department refused to release evidence. FBI agents who were subpoenaed did not show up.

Wedding Ring Taken From Cash Register

A wedding ring set valued at between $500 and $800 disappeared from the cash register of a local coffee shop where it was being kept for safekeeping, police reported.

According to the report, the ring set was left in the rest room of Prange's Coffee Shop, 326 S. Nevada Ave., last Thursday and were discovered later in the day by a customer. She turned it into an employe of the shop, and the employe then put them in the cash register.

The next day they were apparently missing from the register, but police weren't notified of the situation until Saturday. The rings belonged to Yvonne Lincoln, of Pueblo, according to the report.

Unlocked Car Taken Police Report

A car valued at $1,000 was stolen from the rear of Melba's Shamrock Lounge, 118 N. Tejon St., between 3 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Sunday, police reported.

Melba Irene Ives, owner of the Lounge, told police the car was unlocked and the keys were in the car at the time it was stolen.

The car was described as a 1959 Buick, black, bearing license number KA-[illegible].

Army Defers Armory Planning

DENVER (AP) — The Department of the Army has ordered planning for a National Guard armory at Camp George West, near Golden, deferred Rep. Star Caywood, D-Walsenburg, disclosed Friday.

He said that if the order stands it may snarl plans for building a state law enforcement academy at the camp.

Sen. Paul Wenke, R-Fort Collins, sponsor of a bill for the academy, said he doesn't think the problem is serious and he has been told the order probably will be lifted.

Caywood expressed more concern over the problem than Wenke and commented "Nobody knows if the armory is going to be built or not."

Caywood said the order was issued in Washington Dec. 18.

Gov. John A. Love has recommended $315,000 for construction at the police academy, basing his request on a belief that the state could use the federal facilities.

Caywood estimated that if the armory is not built, the cost of buildings for the police academy will total at least $490,000.

If a civil defense emergency center is built in connection with the project, Caywood said, it would cost the state an added $50,000 making a total capital outlay of $540,000.

The Walsenburg representative commented that the National Guard does not expect to hear before March, at the earliest, whether planning for the armory can continue.

Caywood observed that the Reserve has a lease on some facilities at Camp West. If the reserve actually is phased out of existence, he said, it might be possible for the state to take over the buildings it is using. He theorized this could make some of the new construction unnecessary.

New Inventory Tax Schedule Proposed

DENVER (AP)—A bill introduced in the Colorado House of Representatives by Rep. Everett Cook, D-Canon City, would make all merchandise assessable for property tax on the basis of a 12-month average of a merchant's stock.

Cook said the present law allowing the merchant to choose a 12-month average, the first or last month of the year, or a quarterly assessment gives advantage to some who have lower inventories at a particular time of year.

Cook also introduced a bill that would permit revocation of registration for autos, trucks and mobile homes if checks for license fees or personal property taxes bounce.

Another measure would increase the fees that can be charged by county clerks for providing records.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
Spades, K-9-4-3; Hearts, 10-5-2; Diamonds, K-Q-9-6; Clubs, K-2.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 Clb.	Pass	1 Dia.
Pass	2 Clbs.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two notrump. You have 11 points in high cards which justifies another forward move. The most likely game possibility seems to be in notrump and such a suggestion is in order for the responding hand even when he has a suit unprotected.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
Spades, K-7-4; Hearts, K-6; Diamonds, A-10-6-3; Clubs, Q-10-7-5.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 Clb.	Pass	1 Dia.
Pass	2 Hrts.	Pass	4 Clbs.
Pass	4 Dia.	Pass	4 Hrts.
Pass	5 Clbs.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Six notrump. Your side obviously possesses sufficient values to take 12 tricks but the spade suit appears to be partner's weak spot and an opening lead through your king could prove fatal.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
Spades, A-10-9-5; Hearts, A-K-J-3; Diamonds, 5; Clubs, K-Q-7-4.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 Hrt.	Pass	1 Spd.	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. Although it does not suit our taste to remain silent on a hand of this strength any offensive maneuver is fraught with great danger. Furthermore, there is always the prospect that the enemy will go too far which is usually the best chance for a substantial profit on a holding of this type.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
Spades, A-9-4-2; Hearts, A-8-6-5; Diamonds, A-4-3; Clubs, Q-10.

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	Wtst	North
1 Hrt.	Pass	2 Hrts.	Pass
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Double. Partner is almost certainly marked with a singleton heart so that his distribution should prove good for your hand. In fact, if he has spades a game may be contemplated. If his bid is in one of the minors and the opponents proceed to three hearts you should not double however. Just be content with the knowledge that you have pushed them one higher.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
Spades, K-4-3; Hearts, J-8-6; Diamonds, K-10-7; Clubs, 10-9-6-4.

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 Hrt.	Pass	1 N.T.	Pass
2 Spds.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A. — Three hearts. Take a great big demerit for a pass. Partner has more hearts than spades, otherwise he would have bid spades first. Furthermore, he must have a fine hand since you art forced to show a heart preference at the three level. Therefore, your bid shows no very great values.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
Spades, 10-9-7-5; Hearts, J-5; Diamonds, A-Q-5; Clubs, J-9-5-3.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 Dia.	Dbl.	1 Hrt.	?

What do you bid?

A. — One spade. With nine points you have distinctly enough to offer a free bid even though your suit is very shabby. If you don't take action immediately it may be difficult to make up for it later and an opportunity to score might be missed.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
Spades, K; Hearts, A-10-9-7; Diamonds, A-9-6; Clubs, A-K-Q-10-7.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Clb.	Pass	1 Spd.	Pass
2 Hrts.	Pass	3 Hrts.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. A slam try is in order at this point, but it should be made below the game level in the form of a cue bid. If partner returns to four hearts your duties will have been discharged.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
Spades, 2; Hearts, K-J-4; Diamonds, A-K-J-10-8-3-2; Clubs, 8 6.

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 Spd.	Pass	2 Dia.	Pass
2 Spds.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—We recommend the slightly fancy bid of three hearts at this point. It may induce partner to bid three notrump if he has clubs protected and, if worse comes to worst and he raises hearts, we can always go back to diamonds which was our alternative contract anyway.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I just couldn't keep this hint to myself. Recently, someone gave me a jar of little pads for removing nail polish and I thought, "This is the handiest thing ever for someone always in a hurry." Only one thing bothered me. Being a little Scotch, I dreaded using them because I knew I would never spend the money for another jar. So I went to my dime store, bought a box of disposable cotton puffs and a bottle of my favorite inexpensive nail polish remover.

I packed the little jar tightly with the puffs, poured in the remover, and now have a lovely jar of pads all soaked and at my fingertips . . . and inexpensive enough so that I can enjoy using them. —Mrs. A.

Now that takes the cake!

Any woman could take an old cold cream jar and use this same method with either the molded cotton puffs, or just by tearing off little balls of cotton herself and putting them in the jar. Thanks, Mrs. A. —Heloise

Dear Heloise

I use a pipe cleaner to remove lint from the facing under buttons and button holes in thin shirts and blouses. Works like a charm because of the roughness of the pipe cleaner. —Mrs. Kennedy

Dear Heloise:

My nursery-school child brings home artwork every day. I tape each new painting on the side or door of the refrigerator. This brightens my kitchen and makes my daughter so proud.

I also save the prettiest ones and used them to wrap gifts for the doting grandparents — this is one time when the wrapping gets as much attention as the presents! —June Almy

Dear Heloise:

If your glasses fit loosely and they don't stay put . . . just take a piece of adhesive tape, cut it in two pieces, one-eighth of an inch each and place in the part of the glasses where the hinges are.

If you put it between where the hinges bend when the glasses are closed, one on each side of your glasses, you will make them just tight enough. If you need more tightness to hold them up on your nose, add another little dab of tape. —Ira Mansell

Well, glory be! It works like a charm.

For all those who have their glasses slipping down on their nose, do try it. You don't have anything to lose, but a little dab of tape. It can always be removed. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When covering buttons, I take a needle and thread and baste around the edge of the cut-out circle of material.

Then, I pull the thread slightly and put the material over the top of the button, gather it snugly and use a tack knot. It is much easier to clamp on the back of the metal button and the material is smooth. —Mrs. L. D. Price

Dear Heloise:

After slicing the remains from a turkey carcass, I wrap the sliced meat in the skin of the turkey and then in plastic wrap.

It stays moist for days for those turkey sandwiches. —Hester L.

You are exactly right, Hester. As many turkeys as I cook for my freezer, I hadn't thought about utilizing the skin to keep it fresh. But it does.

One of our turkeys had been frozen 60 days (wrapped in the skin) and when I removed it and thawed it out, it was as moist as when I put it in. Thanks a million. —Heloise

Do's and Don'ts

DEAR ABBY: I have just learned that my daughter, who had a beautiful church wedding, was more than two months' pregnant at the time. What is the best thing to do?

(1) Say the baby is premature?

(2) Come out with the truth and return all the wedding gifts?

(3) Urge my daughter and son-in-law to give the baby up for adoption?

(4) Brazen the whole thing out and pretend we see nothing wrong with it?

I can't eat or sleep and I'm afraid I will lose my mind. Answer in the paper, but please don't use my name. —NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: DON'T say the baby is "premature." DON'T return the wedding gifts. DON'T urge that they give the baby up for adoption. And DON'T pretend you see nothing wrong with it. The truth will be apparent soon and you will fool no one. There is no reason for you to feel guilty or offer apologies. You didn't know of your daughter's condition at the time of her wedding. And perhaps this is the time for me to impel brides who find themselves in this predicament to spare their parents the kind of heartache and humiliation this mother will have to endure.

DEAR ABBY: How can a girl hang on to her youth? — PATTI

DEAR PATTI: Don't introduce him to her pretty girl friends.

DEAR ABBY: I have a mad crush on my study hall teacher. You wouldn't believe it. I've never had a crush like this before in my life. there is no reason for it, either. It just happened. This teacher is extra nice to me, which I wish he wouldn't be because it just makes me like him all the more and there is no future in it. Please don't put me in the category with women who think their doctors are in love with them. I know this teacher does not care a thing about me. I just want to know how to get over this feeling. —GOT A CRUSH

DEAR GOT: As long as you recognize a crush as a crush, yours is not a serious problem. Crushes (such are the one you describe) are normal. And they have a way of fading away. The less time you invest in daydreaming about it, the faster it will fade.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from Susan's mother sure hit home with me. I've been a beauty operator for 16 years and I used to have the same problem with free - loading friends and relatives who expected anything from a free eyebrow arch to a full permanent after I had already put in a day's work at the shop. I finally got smart and when anyone even hinted that I should accommodtae them with free beauty service after hours, I would say, "If YOU worked in a laundry all day, how would you like it if I brought my clothes over for you to iron?" —OLDER AND WISER

Stork Picks Odd Time for Delivery

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Mrs. Willis Condon Jr., a pretty brunette, remarked today that the stork picks odd times to bring her babies.

As fire raged in the old north wing of Des Moines General Hospital Friday Mrs. Condon, 33, gave birth to her third child and was one of 82 patients safely evacuated.

City officials praised the way doctors, nurses and attendants carried or escorted patients down steps and fire escapes into zero weather to temporary places of refuge.

Mrs. Condon regained consciousness as the chill air hit her. Later at Wilden Hospital with her baby boy she recalled that she had to go through a flood at Iowa City eight years ago and almost missed reaching the hospital for her first baby.

She bore her second child during a heat wave and it died 26 days after birth.

Mrs. Alice Nuzum, Des Moines general administrator, said a blowtorch used in renovation work on the wooden wing built in the 1890s apparently caused the fire. A modern wing completed in 1956 suffered only smoke and water damage.

Dear Heloise:

I just couldn't keep this hint to myself. Recently, someone gave me a jar of little pads for removing nail polish and I thought, "This is the handiest thing ever for someone always in a hurry." Only one thing bothered me. Being a little Scotch, I dreaded using them because I knew I would never spend the money for another jar. So I went to my dime store, bought a box of disposable cotton puffs and a bottle of my favorite inexpensive nail polish remover.

I packed the little jar tightly with the puffs, poured in the remover, and now have a lovely jar of pads all soaked and at my fingertips . . . and inexpensive enough so that I can enjoy using them. —Mrs. A.

Now that takes the cake!

Any woman could take an old cold cream jar and use this same method with either the molded cotton puffs, or just by tearing off little balls of cotton herself and putting them in the jar. Thanks, Mrs. A. —Heloise

Dear Heloise

I use a pipe cleaner to remove lint from the facing under buttons and button holes in thin shirts and blouses. Works like a charm because of the roughness of the pipe cleaner. —Mrs. Kennedy

Dear Heloise:

My nursery-school child brings home artwork every day. I tape each new painting on the side or door of the refrigerator. This brightens my kitchen and makes my daughter so proud.

I also save the prettiest ones and used them to wrap gifts for the doting grandparents — this is one time when the wrapping gets as much attention as the presents! —June Almy

Dear Heloise:

If your glasses fit loosely and they don't stay put . . . just take a piece of adhesive tape, cut it in two pieces, one-eighth of an inch each and place in the part of the glasses where the hinges are.

If you put it between where the hinges bend when the glasses are closed, one on each side of your glasses, you will make them just tight enough. If you need more tightness to hold them up on your nose, add another little dab of tape. —Ira Mansell

Well, glory be! It works like a charm.

For all those who have their glasses slipping down on their nose, do try it. You don't have anything to lose, but a little dab of tape. It can always be removed. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When covering buttons, I take a needle and thread and baste around the edge of the cut-out circle of material.

Then, I pull the thread slightly and put the material over the top of the button, gather it snugly and use a tack knot. It is much easier to clamp on the back of the metal button and the material is smooth. —Mrs. L. D. Price

Dear Heloise:

After slicing the remains from a turkey carcass, I wrap the sliced meat in the skin of the turkey and then in plastic wrap.

It stays moist for days for those turkey sandwiches. —Hester L.

You are exactly right, Hester. As many turkeys as I cook for my freezer, I hadn't thought about utilizing the skin to keep it fresh. But it does.

One of our turkeys had been frozen 60 days (wrapped in the skin) and when I removed it and thawed it out, it was as moist as when I put it in. Thanks a million. —Heloise

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Do's and Don'ts

DEAR ABBY: I have just learned that my daughter, who had a beautiful church wedding, was more than two months' pregnant at the time. What is the best thing to do?

(1) Say the baby is premature?

(2) Come out with the truth and return all the wedding gifts?

(3) Urge my daughter and son-in-law to give the baby up for adoption?

(4) Brazen the whole thing out and pretend we see nothing wrong with it?

I can't eat or sleep and I'm afraid I will lose my mind. Answer in the paper, but please don't use my name. —NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: DON'T say the baby is "premature." DON'T return the wedding gifts. DON'T urge that they give the baby up for adoption. And DON'T pretend you see nothing wrong with it. The truth will be apparent soon and you will fool no one. There is no reason for you to feel guilty or offer apologies. You didn't know of your daughter's condition at the time of her wedding. And perhaps this is the time for me to impel brides who find themselves in this predicament to spare their parents the kind of heartache and humiliation this mother will have to endure.

DEAR ABBY: How can a girl hang on to her youth? — PATTI

DEAR PATTI: Don't introduce him to her pretty girl friends.

DEAR ABBY: I have a mad crush on my study hall teacher. You wouldn't believe it. I've never had a crush like this before in my life. there is no reason for it, either. It just happened. This teacher is extra nice to me, which I wish he wouldn't be because it just makes me like him all the more and there is no future in it. Please don't put me in the category with women who think their doctors are in love with them. I know this teacher does not care a thing about me. I just want to know how to get over this feeling. —GOT A CRUSH

DEAR GOT: As long as you recognize a crush as a crush, yours is not a serious problem. Crushes (such are the one you describe) are normal. And they have a way of fading away. The less time you invest in daydreaming about it, the faster it will fade.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from Susan's mother sure hit home with me. I've been a beauty operator for 16 years and I used to have the same problem with free - loading friends and relatives who expected anything from a free eyebrow arch to a full permanent after I had already put in a day's work at the shop. I finally got smart and when anyone even hinted that I should accommodtae them with free beauty service after hours, I would say, "If YOU worked in a laundry all day, how would you like it if I brought my clothes over for you to iron?" —OLDER AND WISER

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Mrs. Willis Condon Jr., a pretty brunette, remarked today that the stork picks odd times to bring her babies.

As fire raged in the old north wing of Des Moines General Hospital Friday Mrs. Condon, 33, gave birth to her third child and was one of 82 patients safely evacuated.

City officials praised the way doctors, nurses and attendants carried or escorted patients down steps and fire escapes into zero weather to temporary places of refuge.

Mrs. Condon regained consciousness as the chill air hit her. Later at Wilden Hospital with her baby boy she recalled that she had to go through a flood at Iowa City eight years ago and almost missed reaching the hospital for her first baby.

She bore her second child during a heat wave and it died 26 days after birth.

Mrs. Alice Nuzum, Des Moines general administrator, said a blowtorch used in renovation work on the wooden wing built in the 1890s apparently caused the fire. A modern wing completed in 1956 suffered only smoke and water damage.

COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Quid Pro Quo Quid Nil Quo

It is difficult for us to grapple with reader Evans' meaning in his current letter in today's Open Parliament. At issue are two ways of stating what is called the "Golden Rule." Mr. Evans has stated them well:

1. Do unto others as you would have others do unto you — or, (modern), treat others as I want them to treat me.

2. Do unto others as they would have you do unto them — (modern), I treat others as they want to be treated.

Mr. Evans contends that the first way of stating the rule is hedonistic, that is, that it is extra-oriented, whereas the other is self or ego-oriented.

The first interpretation is the one customarily found in the King James version of the scriptures. However, the other interpretation, which Mr. Evans refers to as that of a writer named West, is the one which he seems to favor.

The weakness in both rules, which Mr. Evans sees as well as we do, is that both of these statements are subjective and rely on individual evaluation of what each person values as well as his own estimate of what the other person values.

It seems to us that the first interpretation: (I treat others as I want them to treat me) sets up a quid pro quo relationship. Admittedly, it rests upon subjectivity for it contains the "I want" concept. But it sets forth the proposition that A will deal with B the way A hopes that B would deal with him. A would like to be treated fairly and honestly. To encourage this kind of treatment, he will begin his association with B by treating B as he, himself, wants to be treated.

So far as we can see, this is about as fair a rule respecting independent evaluation as one could find.

Now the second interpretation has it: I treat others as they want to be treated. But here is pure altruism. This interpretation implies clearly that A will deal with B as B wishes to be dealt with, regardless of how B deals with A. A adopts a complete detachment. He professes to be soley interested in the welfare of B and will treat him as he wishes to be treated. A's welfare does not emerge for examination. This is no quid pro quo rule which makes demands on B at all.

Actually, even this interpretation is superior to the illustrations which Mr. Evans uses to convey his meaning.

Take the illustration of the preacher and his congregation. Each of these persons, preacher and hearer, is obeying the first interpretation. Each is motivated by his own best interests, of course, but in weighing the application, each has said to himself (presumably): "I will treat ((the preacher, the hearers) as I would like to be preached to if he were a hearer, and the hearers listen as they would like to be listened to, if they were preachers.

This does not follow in the case of either the politician or gangster, who are not following the Golden Rule, any way you want to interpret it.

The politician is taxing his constituents. In doing so, he is not treating them as they want to be treated, nor is he treating them as he would want to be treated if he were a constituent and some other politican were doing the taxing.

The gangster is murdering a rival. The question is not whether he expects to die by the gun. This has nothing to do with it. Actually each gangster expects to be the exception to the rule and is quite certain he will NOT die by the gun. Certainly, he does not WANT to be killed.

So the gangster is killing his rival. In doing so, he is neither doing to the rival what the rival wishes, nor, using the other interpretation, is he doing what he would like to have done to himself were his position and that of his rival reversed.

We will contend that the quid pro quo interpretation, "I will treat you as I want you to treat me," is ego-centered and provides a yardstick by which BOTH parties to any arrangement can make an evaluation. We will contend further that the West interpretation is wholly anti-egoist and the yardstick is provided only by the recipient of the action, never is it applied to the actor.

We will agree that either version requires individual evaluation procedures. But we will also aver that the something for something (quid pro quo) version is superior to the something for nothing (quid pro nil) version.

After They're Gone

The reason so many people attain true recognition only after they are gone is that it is only through departure that a final balance of the good and bad can be tabulated.

Sunday Closing—A Summary

Crusader Ernst has come forward with a letter (in today's Open Parliament section) which he says is his final letter on the subject and in which he calls for businessmen to get up a petition so that a special election can be held to compel all merchants to close their places of business on Sunday.

Since this is a summary letter by Mr. Ernst, we will summarize our views on the subject too.

1. If some merchants are to have the power to regulate the businesses of other merchants respecting the day their employees are to take off each week, Mr. Ernst is proposing to place certain merchants in the position of ruling the affairs of other merchants.

This is a wholly unfair procedure. It is no more right and proper for some merchants to demand that others close up shop on a given day, than it would be for the other merchants to demand that all merchants stay open every day.

If one group of merchants can compel a given day as a holiday, then this same group could compel the hourly openings of each business. Obviously, it is unfair (by Mr. Ernst's reasoning) that some businesses open for business at 7 a.m., some a 8 a.m., some at 9 a.m., some at 10 a.m. If all must conform as to a day off, why not have all conform as to hours of employment?

2. Mr. Ernst professes to be concerned that each person have Sunday, and no other day, free from labor. But he makes so many exceptions to the rule he would have passed into law, that the very nature of the rule is one of massive exceptions. If the law positively cannot be universally enforced, then it is unfair on its face.

Exceptions to the rule, as Mr. Ernst sees it, would be the preachers and priests whose religions assert that Sunday is to be a day of rest; yet it is the day of major labor by the very men who are to be "benefitted" or "protected" by the law.

Also, filling stations, drug stores, hospitals, and certain professional people such as doctors and nurses are to be excepted. Conceivably also to be excepted would be resort owners and operators, persons working in sports or athletic events, newsmen, radio men, television men, theater men, police, firemen and possibly many others we do not have to tabulate. Thus it will readily be seen that the proposed law is so narrow on its face that only a relative few would be affected. The list of exceptions in itself makes the proposal completely untenable.

3. Devotees of various faiths including some branches of Christianity do not agree that Sunday (the first day of the week) is the correct day to be observed. The proposed law would compel all persons to observe the day that Mr. Ernst feels is a correct one, irrespective of their deep religious convictions to the contrary.

4. To enact such a law calls for an invasion by the state into the practice of religion which invasion is prohibited by the first amendment to the Constitution, where it states clearly that the government shall pass NO law affecting the practice of religion.

5. The proposed law would work a terrible hardship on many persons, both entrepreneurs who are in keenly competitive positions, and employees who are entirely happy to work on Sunday to earn the extra funds they and their families require for their livelihood.

It is entirely possible that were such a law enacted, a number of firms would be forced into bankruptcy, investments would be lost, investors defrauded, and all to satisfy Mr. Ernst's peculiar reliance on force rather than conscience.

6. Such a law, if passed, would actually stimulate abandonment of reliance on moral and conscientious behavior for it would compel specific performance among persons who are doing no wrong, who are injuring no one, and who are reasonable and self-supporting citizens.

7. To enforce the proposed law, innocent people, whose only crime is industry and service to the public, would be treated like criminals, arrested, tried, fined, imprisoned, and possibly, if they resisted arrest, shot down merely because they were trying to perform as useful citizens.

8. To have his way, Mr. Ernst now proposes an expenditure of a great deal of money (many thousands of dollars) so that innocent people may be coerced These same persons who are to be victimized by this law would also have to spend money in an effort to defeat the proposal. Thus, Mr. Ernst is calling for volunteers on the one hand, so that others would be compelled to spend their money in a legal action in order to retain this small portion of their freedom.

Mr. Ernst concludes his message with "Here's hoping." We'll close ours: "Here's hoping that freedom and fair play are seen as the path of reason and common sense."

THE GOLDEN RULE

To the Editor:

Your editorial comments on my letter of January 13 substantiate much of my thesis. They support my contentions that no matter how one may express the Golden Rule, it may be interpreted in many, many ways, any one of which may be literally though not necessarily morally correct, and that the Golden Rule is not compatible with individualism, libertarianism, economics, and the natural laws of survival.

Your editorial, "Three Billiard Balls," is hardly relevant to our discussion, because it is an exposition of the principles of egotistic ethical hedonism, the pleasure-pain philosophy of the ancient Cyrenaic and Epicurean schools of thought. But it is another interesting interpretation of the Golden Rule which supports my contentions at least in part. The Golden Rule expresses an altruistic reciprocal relationship between two or more persons or groups of persons regardless of how it may be expressed. The Epicurean goal is: "We promote our own happiness by conferring benefits on our friends; it is sweeter to give than to receive." This, of course, is an altruistic reciprocal relationship which is in harmony with the Golden Rule, but not with individualism, libertarianism, economics, and the natural laws of survival.

Epicurus foresaw that such a high ethical and moral plan might not be achieved because, he said, "such a theory of life is apt to lead to selfish disregard of others." He advocated that the virtues of hedonism could be attained only by exercising rigid self-control. Unfortunately, the nature of man is not thus constituted; he is basically egoistic and hence selfish. This is in harmony with individualism, libertarianism, economics, and the natural laws of survival, but not with the altruistic Golden Rule.

Therefore, we can say from the practical point of view that the Golden Rule and hedonism are not compatible. But for the moment, let's assume they are. Then my illustrations of the preacher extolling piety, the taxing politician, and the murdering gangster are compatible with hedonism and hence the Golden Rule, because all three are achieving a high degree of satisfaction or pleasure from their respective acts, though each may be morally wrong.

"Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." This is a popular abridged version from the Bible. "Do unto others as they would have you do unto them." This is Mr. West's reversed version. The main difference between them is that the reciprocal relationship between the subjective and the objective have been reversed, which may or may not be important to a given situation. Note that both versions are expressed in an awkward archaic language. The "would have" in these archaic versions has been interpreted to mean "want, desire, wish, expect, anticipate, etc." Other verb forms have been used in other versions, but they usually distort the intended meaning.

Let's express the Golden Rule in a modern vernacular, but in the first person, which makes it easier to understand. The biblical version: "I treat others as I want them to treat me." The reversed version: "I treat others as they want to be treated." Both versions are valid for the preacher in my illustration. If the biblical version were not valid, the preacher would not be in the pulpit; if the reversed version were not valid, the congregation would be absent.

The biblical version is valid for the taxing politician, but the reversed version is not. If the biblical version were not valid, the politician would not be in office, but in the reversed version it is evident that his constituents are not being treated as they want to be. The reversed version is certainly true for the politician who gives every Tom, Dick, and Harry a handout (socialism). This is altruistic.

Both versions are valid for the murdering gangster, because his underworld code is "I live by the gun, I expect to die by the gun." He says, "I am doing to you what you would do to me." Or, "I am doing to you what you expected me to do." The morality of the acts in my illustration is not relevant to the discussion.

Perhaps the most common application of Mr. West's reversed Golden Rule is found in business. It seems to be a fundamental principle of business: "the customer is always right." "I treat my customers as they want to be treated." Are politicians and majority rule in harmony with the Golden Rule. "Politicians treat me as I want to be treated." Can the politician say, "I treat my constituents as they want to be treated?" It appears that majority rule is not and cannot be in harmony with the Golden Rule.

Since all versions of the Golden Rule express an altruistic condition of mutuality, it is difficult to see how the Golden Rule can be consistent with the egoistic views of individualism. Altruism and egoism are at the opposite ends of the pole.

SAVE OUR SUNDAYS

To the Editor:

So as not to belabor the issue, this will be my last article on the question of a Sunday closing law in the state of Colorado, since I feel that the Gazette Telegraph has given me sufficient space to express my views. I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for doing this, and also for printing other people's ideas on the subject, including yours. I feel that such action is a service to the people of Colorado Springs and you should be commended for your generosity.

Now that I have been allowed to cover the points to my satisfaction, it is time to see if the merchants of Colorado want a Sunday Closing Law to protect them against those merchants who open their stores for business on Sundays. If so, it would not be very much work to have a proposed law drawn up and placed before the people for a vote. Even if you cared for a special election, if all of the merchants of Denver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo would get together and share the cost, it would be very reasonable for everyone.

I think it is very unfair to the merchants who respect the Lord's Day by keeping their stores closed on Sundays when other stores open on that day. I also feel that the trend is definitely going towards more and more stores opening on Sundays and that if a law is not passed to stop the trend, the store owners who close on Sundays will sacrifice accordingly as time goes on.

If the merchants do want to get such a law passed in Colorado, I feel sure that they can get someone to write a few articles in their support which would effectively convince the people of Colorado that the law you would be seeking is a good and just law and that instead of depriving anyone of any of their freedom, it would protect the freedom rights of the majority of the merchants. I feel sure that a majority of the merchants would be for a Sunday Closing Law because to date, the majority of the stores are closing on Sundays. I do strongly feel, however, that some articles in your support would be necessary because it is so easy for your enemies to holler "all laws take away some of your liberty" and it would be possible that many people would not think thoroughly enough about the subject to realize the fallacy of such a statement and would vote against your proposed law.

It would take only a small committee of interested persons to contact the ministers and priests of each of the three large cities in Colorado and ask them for volunteers to get signatures on petitions; and obtain the services of a lawyer (preferably donated), to draw up the proposed law for you and present it for a vote.

I hope there are enough interested business men to carry this project to completion. I will be willing to help in any way I can and will certainly boost your cause in whatever way I can, if you want me to. However, the more different people that can be interested in doing something towards this goal, the better, and I feel sure that you would not have any trouble getting someone in each of the cities to write some promotion material for you. I do not know if the Denver Post and the Pueblo Chieftain would be as generous as the Gazette Telegraph has been, and print as many long articles free within as short a period of time as they have done for us in Colorado Springs. However, maybe they would and it wouldn't cost anything to ask them.

Here's hoping!

The Creation Of a Great Society

By MILDRED PROGAR

Individuals are the creators of societies, society does not create individuals. The quality of any society depends upon the quality of the individuals contributing to it.

Our American society, with its remaining greatness, was founded upon the principles of individual merit. The atmosphere of freedom was established so that men could be creative. . .so that each man could be free to create his own circumstances. He was free to live according to his nature. . . free to acquire the rewards of his efforts. He was free to choose how he would use them. and how he would dispose of them. He was free to establish mutually-profitable relations with others. This voluntary interdependence between civilized peoples is what creates a great society.

Much social progress was made as a result of man's freedom to create. The minds of free men invented machines that have made his life easier, made scientific discoveries that have extended and prolonged his life, developed educational methods and facilities so that he might continually improve and enjoy life. As a result of man's creativity in the areas of communication and transportation the world was opened to commerce and free trade.

Our government was created by man to protect this precious freedom to live according to the dictates of his nature. After centuries of experience by previous generations, the framers of the American Constitution acted upon the knowledge that freedom was a prerequisite to man's progress toward being the master of himself. The role of government was limited to insuring individual freedom..

Somehow these roles seem to have become reversed. Today we find that government limits individual freedom in every possible way. Our wages, our properties, our education are determined for us by one bureau of government or another. In the name of society individuals are being forced to conform to an automaton-like existence in accordance with the decisions of the policy-makers at the federal level. And yet we are told that this will produce the Utopian "Great Society." This usurpation of our rights to our individual lives is against the very nature of our being. A society has been created that would now attempt to create individuals in the image and likeness of impersonal moronically-applauding robots. The creative spirit, the very essence of man's nature is being denied by the very instrument intended to protect and extend his freedom to grow and accomplish with individual motive and purpose.

For the emergence of a truly great society in America, the original roles of government and individual men must be re-established. The only great society is that free society to which the individuals contribute their creative talents. These talents will only be found in the minds of individual men and not in a collective society.

To create a great society, men must be free to exchange ideas and services as determined by their own values — without governmental restrictions.

We Americans, of all people in the history of man, still have within our reach the opportunity to fulfill the dream of a great society. We can reclaim from the hands of government the responsibility for our individual lives, fortunes and welfare. In so doing, individual men will be inevitably creating the great American society.

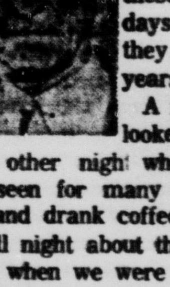
The Good Old Days

By RUFUS L. PORER



Everybody loves to reminisce occasionally. We love to call up old times, other places, other faces and sigh over "the "good old days," even as these will be the these good old days when they are ten years behind us.

A friend looked me up the other night whom I had not seen for many years. We sat and drank coffee and talked all night about the good old days when we were mining together in one gold camp or another, the last one being the North London mine on London Mountain above Alma. And I remembered how we came to be working in Alma, my brother and I, that is, my friend was already there when we arrived. I'd last seen him in Cripple Creek a few years before, and years before that in Telluride and Silverton and other places too numerous to mention.

1937 was the year that Roosevelt's depression let up slightly for a short spell and he boasted, "We planned it that way." He didn't boast that he planned it that way when we coasted into the deep depression again a few months later. '37 was also the year I sold my lease in Cripple Creek and decided to try my luck somewhere else for a change. Mining was good that year and continued to be until about the spring of '38. Of course gold mining was good right up until Roosevelt shut the mines down for the duration.

Unable to find work of any kind around the Springs, where my family was living because my wife had been ordered out of the high altitudes, I went contract mining in the Climax molybdenum mine on the top of Fremont Pass. Made good money, too.

I took a few days off and drove down to spend the Fourth of July with my family. When I was ready to head back for the hills, my brother, who was out of work in the Springs, came along in hopes of getting a job in Climax. I left practically all my money with my wife and we started for the high altitudes.

The old Marmon I had was a gas eater and by the time we reached Hartsel we needed a tank of gas. It was then we learned we would never make it to Climax. I had enough money for one tankful of gas, but that wasn't enough. And my brother didn't have cigarette money.

"We might as well go home," he said.

"And watch our kids starve?" I said, "I hear that mining is going full blast in Alma and that isn't far from here."

So we went to Alma. We were directed to a job just about a mile over Hoosier Pass, but when we got there, the boss was in Denver. We waited around all day for him to get back. There was a boarding there, and excellent one. I had met an old friend in Alma and he had slipped me a few bucks to rustle on. We ate three meals in that boarding house, fine meals they were, too, and that night the boss called from Denver and said he'd got loaded and mashed up his car and wouldn't get back for a couple of days.

It was back to Alma to try another mine for us. But when I went to pay for our meals, the boarding-mistress said, "They're all paid for." "Who paid it?" I asked.

"The boys working on the mine," she said. There were already three men working there.

My brother was amazed, but I was used to mining camps and that's the way they are. A job rustler never has to worry. And he never has to pay back for such favors — he's merely expected to do the same for the next rustler that comes along.

Well, we got a job the next day on the North London, and it was a fine place to work. We hadn't been there more than three weeks when the three men who had bought our meals at Hoosier Pass came by rustling. It seems that the head man had gotten soused in Denver once too often, and the owners had shut the place down in disgust. It hadn't been paying anyhow.

But when my brother and I offered to pay for these boys' meals, we couldn't do it. This was a company boarding house (the one on the Pass had been a private one) and company boarding houses made it a point never to charge bona-fide rustlers. The boys stayed the night and, the mine being full up with help at the time, went on their way after breakfast. We never saw them again. But we certainly wished them luck. They said something about Climax and I told them they were hiring everybody who could stand up and look like a miner. In fact, Climax ran an ad in the regional papers for miners all that summer. So, I suppose they headed for Climax.

I didn't get half started on this and already I'm out of space.

I might get back to it another day, that is if you'd like to hear it.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Quid Pro Quo Quid Nil Quo

It is difficult for us to grapple with reader Evans' meaning in his current letter in today's Open Parliament. At issue are two ways of stating what is called the "Golden Rule." Mr. Evans has stated them well:

1. Do unto others as you would have others do unto you — or, (modern), treat others as I want them to treat me.

2. Do unto others as they would have you do unto them — (modern), I treat others as they want to be treated.

Mr. Evans contends that the first way of stating the rule is hedonistic, that is, that it is extra-oriented, whereas the other is self or ego-oriented.

The first interpretation is the one customarily found in the King James version of the scriptures. However, the other interpretation, which Mr. Evans refers to as that of a writer named West, is the one which he seems to favor.

The weakness in both rules, which Mr. Evans sees as well as we do, is that both of these statements are subjective and rely on individual evaluation of what each person values as well as his own estimate of what the other person values.

It seems to us that the first interpretation: (I treat others as I want them to treat me) sets up a quid pro quo relationship. Admittedly, it rests upon subjectivity for it contains the "I want" concept. But it sets forth the proposition that A will deal with B the way A hopes that B would deal with him. A would like to be treated fairly and honestly. To encourage this kind of treatment, he will begin his association with B by treating B as he, himself, wants to be treated.

So far as we can see, this is about as fair a rule respecting independent evaluation as one could find.

Now the second interpretation has it: I treat others as they want to be treated. But here is pure altruism. This interpretation implies clearly that A will deal with B as B wishes to be dealt with, regardless of how B deals with A. A adopts a complete detachment. He professes to be soley interested in the welfare of B and will treat him as he wishes to be treated. A's welfare does not emerge for examination. This is no quid pro quo rule which makes demands on B at all.

Actually, even this interpretation is superior to the illustrations which Mr. Evans uses to convey his meaning.

Take the illustration of the preacher and his congregation. Each of these persons, preacher and hearer, is obeying the first interpretation. Each is motivated by his own best interests, of course, but in weighing the application, each has said to himself (presumably): "I will treat ((the preacher, the hearers) as I would like to be preached to if he were a hearer, and the hearers listen as they would like to be listened to, if they were preachers.

This does not follow in the case of either the politician or gangster, who are not following the Golden Rule, any way you want to interpret it.

The politician is taxing his constituents. In doing so, he is not treating them as they want to be treated, nor is he treating them as he would want to be treated if he were a constituent and some other politican were doing the taxing.

The gangster is murdering a rival. The question is not whether he expects to die by the gun. This has nothing to do with it. Actually each gangster expects to be the exception to the rule and is quite certain he will NOT die by the gun. Certainly, he does not WANT to be killed.

So the gangster is killing his rival. In doing so, he is neither doing to the rival what the rival wishes, nor, using the other interpretation, is he doing what he would like to have done to himself were his position and that of his rival reversed.

We will contend that the quid pro quo interpretation, "I will treat you as I want you to treat me," is ego-centered and provides a yardstick by which BOTH parties to any arrangement can make an evaluation. We will contend further that the West interpretation is wholly anti-egoist and the yardstick is provided only by the recipient of the action, never is it applied to the actor.

We will agree that either version requires individual evaluation procedures. But we will also aver that the something for something (quid pro quo) version is superior to the something for nothing (quid pro nil) version.

After They're Gone

The reason so many people attain true recognition only after they are gone is that it is only through departure that a final balance of the good and bad can be tabulated.

Sunday Closing—A Summary

Crusader Ernst has come forward with a letter (in today's Open Parliament section) which he says is his final letter on the subject and in which he calls for businessmen to get up a petition so that a special election can be held to compel all merchants to close their places of business on Sunday.

Since this is a summary letter by Mr. Ernst, we will summarize our views on the subject too.

1. If some merchants are to have the power to regulate the businesses of other merchants respecting the day their employees are to take off each week, Mr. Ernst is proposing to place certain merchants in the position of ruling the affairs of other merchants.

This is a wholly unfair procedure. It is no more right and proper for some merchants to demand that others close up shop on a given day, than it would be for the other merchants to demand that all merchants stay open every day.

If one group of merchants can compel a given day as a holiday, then this same group could compel the hourly openings of each business. Obviously, it is unfair (by Mr. Ernst's reasoning) that some businesses open for business at 7 a.m., some at 8 a.m., some at 9 a.m., some at 10 a.m. If all must conform as to a day off, why not have all conform as to hours of employment?

2. Mr. Ernst professes to be concerned that each person have Sunday, and no other day, free from labor. But he makes so many exceptions to the rule he would have passed into law, that the very nature of the rule is one of massive exceptions. If the law positively cannot be universally enforced, then it is unfair on its face.

Exceptions to the rule, as Mr. Ernst sees it, would be the preachers and priests whose religions assert that Sunday is to be a day of rest; yet it is the day of major labor by the very men who are to be "benefitted" or "protected" by the law.

Also, filling stations, drug stores, hospitals, and certain professional people such as doctors and nurses are to be excepted. Conceivably also to be excepted would be resort owners and operators, persons working in sports or athletic events, newsmen, radio men, television men, theater men, police, firemen and possibly many others we do not have to tabulate. Thus it will readily be seen that the proposed law is so narrow on its face that only a relative few would be affected. The list of exceptions in itself makes the proposal completely untenable.

3. Devotees of various faiths including some branches of Christianity do not agree that Sunday (the first day of the week) is the correct day to be observed. The proposed law would compel all persons to observe the day that Mr. Ernst feels is a correct one, irrespective of their deep religious convictions to the contrary.

4. To enact such a law calls for an invasion by the state into the practice of religion which invasion is prohibited by the first amendment to the Constitution, where it states clearly that the government shall pass NO law affecting the practice of religion.

5. The proposed law would work a terrible hardship on many persons, both entrepreneurs who are in keenly competitive positions, and employees who are entirely happy to work on Sunday to earn the extra funds they and their families require for their livelihood.

It is entirely possible that were such a law enacted, a number of firms would be forced into bankruptcy, investments would be lost, investors defrauded, and all to satisfy Mr. Ernst's peculiar reliance on force rather than conscience.

6. Such a law, if passed, would actually stimulate abandonment of reliance on moral and conscientious behavior for it would compel specific performance among persons who are doing no wrong, who are injuring no one, and who are reasonable and self-supporting citizens.

7. To enforce the proposed law, innocent people, whose only crime is industry and service to the public, would be treated like criminals, arrested, tried, fined, imprisoned, and possibly, if they resisted arrest, shot down merely because they were trying to perform as useful citizens.

8. To have his way, Mr. Ernst now proposes an expenditure of a great deal of money (many thousands of dollars) so that innocent people may be coerced These same persons who are to be victimized by this law would also have to spend money in an effort to defeat the proposal. Thus, Mr. Ernst is calling for volunteers on the one hand, so that others would be compelled to spend their money in a legal action in order to retain this small portion of their freedom.

Mr. Ernst concludes his message with "Here's hoping." We'll close ours: "Here's hoping that freedom and fair play are seen as the path of reason and common sense."

THE GOLDEN RULE

To the Editor:

Your editorial comments on my letter of January 13 substantiate much of my thesis. They support my contentions that no matter how one may express the Golden Rule, it may be interpreted in many, many ways, any one of which may be literally though not necessarily morally correct, and that the Golden Rule is not compatible with individualism, libertarianism, economics, and the natural laws of survival.

Your editorial, "Three Billiard Balls," is hardly relevant to our discussion, because it is an exposition of the principles of egotistic ethical hedonism, the pleasure-pain philosophy of the ancient Cyrenaic and Epicurean schools of thought. But it is another interesting interpretation of the Golden Rule which supports my contentions at least in part. The Golden Rule expresses an altruistic reciprocal relationship between two or more persons or groups of persons regardless of how it may be expressed. The Epicurean goal is: "We promote our own happiness by conferring benefits on our friends; it is sweeter to give than to receive." This, of course, is an altruistic reciprocal relationship which is in harmony with the Golden Rule, but not with individualism, libertarianism, economics, and the natural laws of survival.

Epicurus foresaw that such a high ethical and moral plan might not be achieved because, he said, "such a theory of life is apt to lead to selfish disregard of others." He advocated that the virtues of hedonism could be attained only by exercising rigid self-control. Unfortunately, the nature of man is not thus constituted; he is basically egoistic and hence selfish. This is in harmony with individualism, libertarianism, economics, and the natural laws of survival, but not with the altruistic Golden Rule.

Therefore, we can say from the practical point of view that the Golden Rule and hedonism are not compatible. But for the moment, let's assume they are. Then my illustrations of the preacher extolling piety, the taxing politician, and the murdering gangster are compatible with hedonism and hence the Golden Rule, because all three are achieving a high degree of satisfaction or pleasure from their respective acts, though each may be morally wrong.

"Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." This is a popular abridged version from the Bible. "Do unto others as they would have you do unto them." This is Mr. West's reversed version. The main difference between them is that the reciprocal relationship between the subjective and the objective have been reversed, which may or may not be important to a given situation. Note that both versions are expressed in an awkward archaic language. The "would have" in these archaic versions has been interpreted to mean "want, desire, wish, expect, anticipate, etc." Other verb forms have been used in other versions, but they usually distort the intended meaning.

Let's express the Golden Rule in a modern vernacular, but in the first person, which makes it easier to understand. The biblical version: "I treat others as I want them to treat me." The reversed version: "I treat others as they want to be treated." Both versions are valid for the preacher in my illustration. If the biblical version were not valid, the preacher would not be in the pulpit; if the reversed version were not valid, the congregation would be absent.

The biblical version is valid for the taxing politician, but the reversed version is not. If the biblical version were not valid, the politician would not be in office, but in the reversed version it is evident that his constituents are not being treated as they want to be. The reversed version is certainly true for the politician who gives every Tom, Dick, and Harry a handout (socialism). This is altruistic.

Both versions are valid for the murdering gangster, because his underworld code is "I live by the gun, I expect to die by the gun." He says, "I am doing to you what you would do to me." Or, "I am doing to you what you expected me to do." The morality of the acts in my illustration is not relevant to the discussion.

Perhaps the most common application of Mr. West's reversed Golden Rule is found in business. It seems to be a fundamental principle of business: "the customer is always right." "I treat my customers as they want to be treated." Are politicians and majority rule in harmony with the Golden Rule. "Politicians treat me as I want to be treated." Can the politician say, "I treat my constituents as they want to be treated?" It appears that majority rule is not and cannot be in harmony with the Golden Rule.

Since all versions of the Golden Rule express an altruistic condition of mutuality, it is difficult to see how the Golden Rule can be consistent with the egoistic views of individualism. Altruism and egoism are at the opposite ends of the pole.

SAVE OUR SUNDAYS

To the Editor:

So as not to belabor the issue, this will be my last article on the question of a Sunday closing law in the state of Colorado, since I feel that the Gazette Telegraph has given me sufficient space to express my views. I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for doing this, and also for printing other people's ideas on the subject, including yours. I feel that such action is a service to the people of Colorado Springs and you should be commended for your generosity.

Now that I have been allowed to cover the points to my satisfaction, it is time to see if the merchants of Colorado want a Sunday Closing Law to protect them against those merchants who open their stores for business on Sundays. If so, it would not be very much work to have a proposed law drawn up and placed before the people for a vote. Even if you cared for a special election, if all of the merchants of Denver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo would get together and share the cost, it would be very reasonable for everyone.

I think it is very unfair to the merchants who respect the Lord's Day by keeping their stores closed on Sundays when other stores open on that day. I also feel that the trend is definitely going towards more and more stores opening on Sundays and that if a law is not passed to stop the trend, the store owners who close on Sundays will sacrifice accordingly as time goes on.

If the merchants do want to get such a law passed in Colorado, I feel sure that they can get someone to write a few articles in their support which would effectively convince the people of Colorado that the law you would be seeking is a good and just law and that instead of depriving anyone of any of their freedom, it would protect the freedom rights of the majority of the merchants. I feel sure that a majority of the merchants would be for a Sunday Closing Law because to date, the majority of the stores are closing on Sundays. I do strongly feel, however, that some articles in your support would be necessary because it is so easy for your enemies to holler "all laws take away some of your liberty" and it would be possible that many people would not think thoroughly enough about the subject to realize the fallacy of such a statement and would vote against your proposed law.

It would take only a small committee of interested persons to contact the ministers and priests of each of the three large cities in Colorado and ask them for volunteers to get signatures on petitions; and obtain the services of a lawyer (preferably donated), to draw up the proposed law for you and present it for a vote.

I hope there are enough interested business men to carry this project to completion. I will be willing to help in any way I can and will certainly boost your cause in whatever way I can, if you want me to. However, the more different people that can be interested in doing something towards this goal, the better, and I feel sure that you would not have any trouble getting someone in each of the cities to write some promotion material for you. I do not know if the Denver Post and the Pueblo Chieftain would be as generous as the Gazette Telegraph has been, and print as many long articles free within as short a period of time as they have done for us in Colorado Springs. However, maybe they would and it wouldn't cost anything to ask them.

Here's hoping!

The Creation Of a Great Society

By MILDRED PROGAR

Individuals are the creators of societies, society does not create individuals. The quality of any society depends upon the quality of the individuals contributing to it.

Our American society, with its remaining greatness, was founded upon the principles of individual merit. The atmosphere of freedom was established so that men could be creative. . .so that each man could be free to create his own circumstances. He was free to live according to his nature. . . free to acquire the rewards of his efforts. He was free to choose how he would use them. and how he would dispose of them. He was free to establish mutually-profitable relations with others. This voluntary interdependence between civilized peoples is what creates a great society.

Much social progress was made as a result of man's freedom to create. The minds of free men invented machines that have made his life easier, made scientific discoveries that have extended and prolonged his life, developed educational methods and facilities so that he might continually improve and enjoy life. As a result of man's creativity in the areas of communication and transportation the world was opened to commerce and free trade.

Our government was created by man to protect this precious freedom to live according to the dictates of his nature. After centuries of experience by previous generations, the framers of the American Constitution acted upon the knowledge that freedom was a prerequisite to man's progress toward being the master of himself. The role of government was limited to insuring individual freedom..

Somehow these roles seem to have become reversed. Today we find that government limits individual freedom in every possible way. Our wages, our properties, our education are determined for us by one bureau of government or another. In the name of society individuals are being forced to conform to an automaton-like existence in accordance with the decisions of the policy-makers at the federal level. And yet we are told that this will produce the Utopian "Great Society." This usurpation of our rights to our individual lives is against the very nature of our being. A society has been created that would now attempt to create individuals in the image and likeness of impersonal moronically-applauding robots. The creative spirit, the very essence of man's nature is being denied by the very instrument intended to protect and extend his freedom to grow and accomplish with individual motive and purpose.

For the emergence of a truly great society in America, the original roles of government and individual men must be re-established. The only great society is that free society to which the individuals contribute their creative talents. These talents will only be found in the minds of individual men and not in a collective society.

To create a great society, men must be free to exchange ideas and services as determined by their own values — without governmental restrictions.

We Americans, of all people in the history of man, still have within our reach the opportunity to fulfill the dream of a great society. We can reclaim from the hands of government the responsibility for our individual lives, fortunes and welfare. In so doing, individual men will be inevitably creating the great American society.

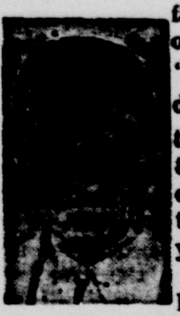
The Good Old Days

By RUFUS L. PORER



Everybody loves to reminisce occasionally. We love to call up old times, other places, other faces and sigh over "the "good old days," even as these will be the these good old days when they are ten years behind us.

A friend looked me up the other night whom I had not seen for many years. We sat and drank coffee and talked all night about the good old days when we were mining together in one gold camp or another, the last one being the North London mine on London Mountain above Alma. And I remembered how we came to be working in Alma, my brother and I, that is, my friend was already there when we arrived. I'd last seen him in Cripple Creek a few years before, and years before that in Telluride and Silverton and other places too numerous to mention.

1937 was the year that Roosevelt's depression let up slightly for a short spell and he boasted, "We planned it that way." He didn't boast that he planned it that way when we coasted into the deep depression again a few months later. '37 was also the year I sold my lease in Cripple Creek and decided to try my luck somewhere else for a change. Mining was good that year and continued to be until about the spring of '38. Of course gold mining was good right up until Roosevelt shut the mines down for the duration.

Unable to find work of any kind around the Springs, where my family was living because my wife had been ordered out of the high altitudes, I went contract mining in the Climax molybdenum mine on the top of Fremont Pass. Made good money, too.

I took a few days off and drove down to spend the Fourth of July with my family. When I was ready to head back for the hills, my brother, who was out of work in the Springs, came along in hopes of getting a job in Climax. I left practically all my money with my wife and we started for the high altitudes.

The old Marmon I had was a gas eater and by the time we reached Hartsel we needed a tank of gas. It was then we learned we would never make it to Climax. I had enough money for one tankful of gas, but that wasn't enough. And my brother didn't have cigarette money.

"We might as well go home," he said.

"And watch our kids starve?" I said, "I hear that mining is going full blast in Alma and that isn't far from here."

So we went to Alma. We were directed to a job just about a mile over Hoosier Pass, but when we got there, the boss was in Denver. We waited around all day for him to get back. There was a boarding there, and excellent one. I had met an old friend in Alma and he had slipped me a few bucks to rustle on. We ate three meals in that boarding house, fine meals they were, too, and that night the boss called from Denver and said he'd got loaded and mashed up his car and wouldn't get back for a couple of days.

It was back to Alma to try another mine for us. But when I went to pay for our meals, the boarding-mistress said, "They're all paid for." "Who paid it?" I asked.

"The boys working on the mine," she said. There were already three men working there.

My brother was amazed, but I was used to mining camps and that's the way they are. A job rustler never has to worry. And he never has to pay back for such favors — he's merely expected to do the same for the next rustler that comes along.

Well, we got a job the next day on the North London, and it was a fine place to work. We hadn't been there more than three weeks when the three men who had bought our meals at Hoosier Pass came by rustling. It seems that the head man had gotten soused in Denver once too often, and the owners had shut the place down in disgust. It hadn't been paying anyhow.

But when my brother and I offered to pay for these boys' meals, we couldn't do it. This was a company boarding house (the one on the Pass had been a private one) and company boarding houses made it a point never to charge bona-fide rustlers. The boys stayed the night and, the mine being full up with help at the time, went on their way after breakfast. We never saw them again. But we certainly wished them luck. They said something about Climax and I told them they were hiring everybody who could stand up and look like a miner. In fact, Climax ran an ad in the regional papers for miners all that summer. So, I suppose they headed for Climax.

I didn't get half started on this and already I'm out of space.

Mrs. Holt Is President Of New Hospital Guild

Mrs. Dale Holt will take over the reins of the Ladies' Guild of the Eisenhower Osteopathic Hospital, according to Mrs. Edna Myers, outgoing presiding officer.

In announcing the other officers, Mrs. William E. Cunningham, first vice president, Mrs. Jud Harman, secretary, and Mrs. Ernest O. Tullis, treasurer, Mrs. Myers commended the guild members for their hard work during the past year in accomplishing the many projects which were undertaken.

Among those were the financing of the complete furnishing of the nursery of the new osteopathic hospital, supplying cribs and mattresses of the pediatric ward, equipping, stocking and operating a successful gift shop in the reception area of the hospital, and the supplying of a hot and cold food cart for the serving of meals.

Mrs. Myers said "only through the cooperative efforts and hard work of the members was it possible to conduct such rewarding events as rummage sales, bazaars, and benefit bridge to provide the money for these vital pieces of equipment for the hospital. With the attitude which has been displayed the osteopathic guild can look forward to a successful future as an integral part of the steady progress of the Eisenhower Osteopatic Hospital. I thank each and everyone of them for their enthusiasm and help."

THE FIGURE-CARE METHOD

New Scientific Way To Help Control Weight Without Usual Crash Diet

Seeing is believing! Furthermore, no one has more confidence in the new Figurecare method of reducing than the person who has changed his entire physical complexion — turning the clock back 20 years like Rip Van Winkle.

60 DAYS AFTER — Sam McCallum of St. Petersburg returned to his former weight of 20 years ago, reducing from 184 to 161 pounds by using the amazing Figurecare system of helping to control weight and toning muscles — the easy way.

Sam McCallum of St. Petersaurg, a robust former Royal Air Force physical training instructor, is a living example of what the new Figurecare machine will do to make middleage spread disappear. Sam doesn't propagate fantastic claims, is not addicted to pill type formulas and certainly doesn't believe in energy depleting crash diets.

Instead, McCallum realized that bulging layers of undesired weight was starting to disfigure his muscular 161-pound frame. In June of this year he was introduced to the amazing Figurecare system. The transistorized exercise machine helped McCallum to trim and tone some 23 pounds in slightly over 60 days, he reported. Now back to his middleweight boxing measurements, McCallum shows a loss of six inches from the waist, back to his 30" waist of 20 years ago and his total "tonage" has slimmed from 184 to 161 pounds.

The Figurecare machine, a scientific marvel of our electronic age, will exercise muscles 900 times in half an hour to help tone and reduce the size of sagging unconditioned muscles. You will discover amazing results on hips, waist, and thighs without fatigue or strenuous efforts. You may rest, relax, read, watch TV or sleep while the machine gives you a vigorous work out.

You are invited to make your inquiries about the benefits of the Figurecare machine by calling 473-4774 for full information. So that you can determine the effect of this remarkable exerciser on yourself before you buy or rent, a special one-hour treatment is offered in your home or at our office for $2 with the guarantee that you will show a measurable loss or your $2 will be cheerfully refunded. For your appointment please call 473-4774.

Coup Attempt Is Reported In Laos Capital

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — An attempted coup by a group of young military officers has again shown the instability of this tiny but strategic kingdom in Southeast Asia.

Since it became independent in 1948, the country has known little except crisis, coup and civil conflict among neutralists, Communists and anti-Communists.

The Communist Pathet Lao led by Prince Souvanouvong control about two-thirds of Laos' 91,000 square miles but only one-third of its 1.8 million people.

Through Pathet Lao territory runs the Ho Chi Minh trail, a supply route which Communist North Viet Nam has been using to beef up Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam and which U.S. jets have recently bombed.

At a Geneva conference in 1962, 14 nations, including the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain, agreed to guarantee the neutrality and independence of Laos.

In the same year, the leaders of the three factions had formed a coalition government under the leadership of Premier Souvanna Phouma, a neutralist.

The Communists have been increasingly uncooperative with the government and the rightists last April staged a coup which brought on a merger of rightist and neutralist armies. After a period of uncertainty, Souvanna Phouma agreed to remain as premier.

Leaders of the three factions held a meeting in Paris last September in an unsuccessful bid to end their differences.

Laos' troubles go back to the end of World War II when East and West started to struggle for control of what once was French Indochina. Soldiers of Communist North Viet Nam overran about half of Laos before the French signed a cease-fire in 1954.

The cease-fire was supposed to make Laos neutral and the North Veitnamese pulled out most of their forces. But armed conflict between the Pathet Lao and the neutralists and rightists persisted. It reached a new height in 1960 with the arrival of Soviet aid and North Vietnamese technicians.

For a time the big powers of East and West were on the brink of getting directly involved. The Geneva conference headed this off but peace and stability still evade Laos.

Sharp fighting broke out last spring in the Plane de Jarres in the north and the Communists gained substantial territory.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market settled irregularly lower early this afternoon.

Losses of fractions to around a point outnumbered losers among key stocks.

The sustained rise of the market, which carried through four weeks and resulted in topping the 900 line in the Dow Jones industrial average, was running into mild profit taking, brokers said.

Prices were moderately higher at the start and the pace of trading was about equal to Friday's fast rate, but as prices softened dealings grew slower.

Steels turned lower on balance after an early advance. The trend was lower also among rails, oils, airlines, electrical equipments and rubbers.

Auto stocks turned irregular. Building materials, aerospace stocks and drugs remained on the upside.

The Dow Jones industrial average—which had been up 1.10 at the end of the first half hour—was off .43 at 902.43 at noon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 337.5 with industrials up .2, rails off .1 and utilities up .5.

General Motors held a fractional gain. Chrysler cut an early rise, exceeding a point, to a fraction. Ford and American Motors eased.

U. S. Steel also remained a little higher.

Losses of about a point were taken by such stocks as General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman Kodak, IBM, Polaroid and Texaco.

Du Pont rose nearly 2.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Atom Merchant Ship Planned by Japan

TOKYO, (AP) —Japan's seven leading shipbuilders have been invited to tender bids March 1 for construction of this country's first nuclear-powered merchant ship.

This was announced today by the Japan Nuclear Power Ship Development Corp. which set 1968 as the date of completion of the ship.

Blueprints call for a 66,900-ton ship powered by a single 10,000 horsepower steam turbine engine fueled with a 15,000 kilowatt nuclear reactor. It will have a maximum speed of 17.8 knots. It is estimated it will cost around $10 million.

Coup Attempt Is Reported In Laos Capital

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — An attempted coup by a group of young military officers has again shown the instability of this tiny but strategic kingdom in Southeast Asia.

Since it became independent in 1948, the country has known little except crisis, coup and civil conflict among neutralists, Communists and anti-Communists.

The Communist Pathet Lao led by Prince Souvanouvong control about two-thirds of Laos' 91,000 square miles but only one-third of its 1.8 million people.

Through Pathet Lao territory runs the Ho Chi Minh trail, a supply route which Communist North Viet Nam has been using to beef up Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam and which U.S. jets have recently bombed.

At a Geneva conference in 1962, 14 nations, including the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain, agreed to guarantee the neutrality and independence of Laos.

In the same year, the leaders of the three factions had formed a coalition government under the leadership of Premier Souvanna Phouma, a neutralist.

The Communists have been increasingly uncooperative with the government and the rightists last April staged a coup which brought on a merger of rightist and neutralist armies. After a period of uncertainty, Souvanna Phouma agreed to remain as premier.

Leaders of the three factions held a meeting in Paris last September in an unsuccessful bid to end their differences.

Laos' troubles go back to the end of World War II when East and West started to struggle for control of what once was French Indochina. Soldiers of Communist North Viet Nam overran about half of Laos before the French signed a cease-fire in 1954.

The cease-fire was supposed to make Laos neutral and the North Veitnamese pulled out most of their forces. But armed conflict between the Pathet Lao and the neutralists and rightists persisted. It reached a new height in 1960 with the arrival of Soviet aid and North Vietnamese technicians.

For a time the big powers of East and West were on the brink of getting directly involved. The Geneva conference headed this off but peace and stability still evade Laos.

Sharp fighting broke out last spring in the Plane de Jarres in the north and the Communists gained substantial territory.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market settled irregularly lower early this afternoon.

Losses of fractions to around a point outnumbered losers among key stocks.

The sustained rise of the market, which carried through four weeks and resulted in topping the 900 line in the Dow Jones industrial average, was running into mild profit taking, brokers said.

Prices were moderately higher at the start and the pace of trading was about equal to Friday's fast rate, but as prices softened dealings grew slower.

Steels turned lower on balance after an early advance. The trend was lower also among rails, oils, airlines, electrical equipments and rubbers.

Auto stocks turned irregular. Building materials, aerospace stocks and drugs remained on the upside.

The Dow Jones industrial average—which had been up 1.10 at the end of the first half hour —was off .43 at 902.43 at noon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 337.5 with industrials up .2, rails off .1 and utilities up .5.

General Motors held a fractional gain. Chrysler cut an early rise, exceeding a point, to a fraction. Ford and American Motors eased.

U. S. Steel also remained a little higher.

Losses of about a point were taken by such stocks as General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman Kodak, IBM, Polaroid and Texaco.

Du Pont rose nearly 2.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Atom Merchant Ship Planned by Japan

TOKYO, (AP) —Japan's seven leading shipbuilders have been invited to tender bids March 1 for construction of this country's first nuclear-powered merchant ship.

This was announced today by the Japan Nuclear Power Ship Development Corp. which set 1968 as the date of completion of the ship.

Blueprints call for a 66,900-ton ship powered by a single 10,000 horsepower steam turbine engine fueled with a 15,000 kilowatt nuclear reactor. It will have a maximum speed of 17.8 knots. It is estimated it will cost around $10 million.

Upward Trend Noted in Local Hiring

Non - agricultural employment at the beginning of 1964 in Colorado Springs was the lowest last year, reports the Colorado Department of Employment.

After January 1964 an upward trend was established resulting in continued improvement of the area's general economy, they said.

In 1964 the employment office had 9,778 placements (agricultural), 12,725 job openings (non - agricultural), 11,609 placements (agricultural), 313 placements (agricultural) and gave thousands of tests for general aptitude, specific aptitude and proficiency.

"The greatest employment impact on the region last year can be attributed to several factors — increased industrial developments, an all time high level of commercial and residential construction, expansion in retail trade and service industries to serve the rapid population growth and continued activities at the local military installations.

"Even though the area is experiencing a significant non-seasonal employment growth, it is still noted for its tourist attractions which cause seasonal employment fluctuations during the summer months.

"Unemployment experienced seasonal variations during the past 12 month period. The unemployment rate remained below that of the preceding year, due to the improved economy," the department said.

SERVICABLE FAMILY

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — Conrad Ruby, a Fresno farmer, wonders if any family can surpass the military service record that he and his six brothers set during World War II.

Conrad, John, Gottlieb, Henry, Peter, William and David were all in the service at the same time, six of them were overseas at once and the seventh went overseas later, and they had a total of 24 years of military service among them—13 of them outside the United States.

75 YEARS IN PAINT INDUSTRY—This photograph shows a display used in one of McMurtry Manufacturing Company's (Denver, Colo.) numerous retail outlets. It depicts McMurtry as it looked 75 years ago. In 1964, its anniversary year, this time-tested paint and glass manufacturer joined The Valspar Corporation group of companies. Valspar is headquartered in Rockford, Ill. McMurtry manufactures paints and varnishes and distributes them to wholesale and retail markets throughout the 12-state Rocky Mountain region. The company maintains branches in Cheyenne, Wyoming; Albuquerque, and Santa Fe, New Mexico; Colorado Springs, and Grand Junction, Colorado. As of its joining with Valspar on April 1, 1914, McMurtry sales were in excess of $3.5 million.

Route to Lower Prices: End Laws, Up Profit

By SAM CAMPBELL

On Jan. 25, 1915, Alexander Graham Bell picked up a telephone in New York and put in a station-to-station call to his assistant Tom Watson in San Francisco.

That was the first transcontinental telephone conversation.

Nine separate telephone offices handled the order. The tab came to $20, which in those days was the equivalent of nearly two weeks of labor for the workingman.

Today, 50 years later, the same toll call can be dialed direct at a total cost of $2.25, or for $1 after 9 p.m.

Question: How did this price reduction and progress come about?

Answer: Through research done at Bell Laboratories and similar installations throughout the country.

Question: Why was the research done?

Answer: The telephone people wanted to make a profit.

Question: Does that mean that profit worked to lower prices that the customer has to pay?

Answer: Yes.

Question: Will more profit reduce prices even further?

Answer: When people can make a profit, they will save money to invest. The investment pays for research and new tools which bring about a decrease in in cost to the consumer.

Question: If more profit lowers prices that the consumer pays, they why do we have agencies like the PUC, the PFC, and the ICC that claim to hold down profits?

Answer: Some businessmen wish to make money, but they don't want to have to complete for it. So they get the government to grant them a monopoly. The PUC, the FPC and the ICC are monopoly - creating agencies.

Question: Why do consumers accept a practice that causes them to pay more money for the things they buy?

Answer: The monopolists together with powerful socialist influences keep up a constant propaganda barrage, telling the people that profit-regulation is in the public interest. The consumers tend to believe the propaganda because they hear it so often.

Question: But if certain industries like the utilities were not regulated, wouldn't some of them get a stranglehold on the market and tend to drive competitors out?

Answer: That's exactly what they have done. They have used regulation as a means of strangling the marketplace and they have succeeded in driving competitors out — at the point of a law.

Question: Then how can the consumer be protected?

Answer: The consumer can be protected by insisting on open, unfettered, cut-throat competition. No significant monopoly can develop in a free market unless one firm is offering a far superior service or product to the consumer. Free trade between nations offers the consumer even greater protection against the possibility of monopoly.

Question: What is the largest monopoly conceivable?

Answer: The largest monopoly that the mind of man can envision is that the total means of production come under the ownership or control of a single authority. This is the condition under the socialist state.

BREATHING AID

CHICAGO (UPI) — A new instrument that looks like a saxophone can't sound a note, but its performance thrills emphysema victims whose congested lungs cannot function properly. The mechanical "IPPB" (intermittent positive pressure breathing) device, introduced by Chemetron Corp's NCG division, assists a patient to inhale fully and exhale a medicated mixture of oxygen and air. In many cases a 20-minute treatment restores breathing regularity for 12 hours or more.

Second 'Use Of Mind' Seminar Today

The second seminar on "Inner Dynamics" will be conducted at 7:45 p.m. today in the Little Theater of City Auditorium. This session will deal with "How The Mind Works." Another session Tuesday, at the same time and place, will explore "Principles of Action."

Robert W. Huffman conducts the programs on the use of the mind for what he calls the science of functioning as a whole.

The public meetings will be free, though there will be a free will offering. A week ago Huffman conducted a successful series of programs in the Mayfair Hotel for personnel directors and other interested persons.

"The nature of man's innner force is good and it offers to each a great view of his potential as he desires to see that view," Huffman explains. "Inner Dynamics bases its principles on the belief that all men contain endless good that can be expressed freely once we have learned the simple secret of allowing its release."

To understand how the mind works, Huffman divides it into areas: (1) inner force, all that is good; (2) subconscious relative area, there may be patterns of distortion from the good in this storehouse of experiences and thoughts; (3) conscious area, important, but not all that man is.

Huffman explains that, "Most if not all of us have some unwanted easy to reach patterns of distortion in our subconscious minds, patterns that limit our true capabilities."

To use the written work as a guide for the reactive area of the subconscious mind has its advantages," says Huffman. He uses Ortho-Stenic Cards. You're supposed to flip through the cards until you are convinced of what you read. One of his sets of cards contains these messages: (1) "At this moment I release from myself any distortions which have resulted in pain and imbalance in my body and life." (2) "There is no room within my being for patterns which have resulted in an incapacity of any kind." (3) "And so I set the old unwanted patterns aside, and regard them as unimportant; and I turn my attention toward a complete acceptance of the good within myself," and so forth.

Huffman said he derived the name of his cards from "orthos," meaning correct, and "stencil," as a method of stenciling, or imprinting a correct pattern of thought upon the mind."

Flora said industry sales of replacement tires for passenger cars, trucks and buses in the 11 western states are expected to total more than 18,136,000 units in 1965, representing an increase of about 35 per cent over 1960.

Stock Exchanges Markets for Buying, Selling

By MORTON YARMON
Distributed by
NEA Special Services

Each share of stock is identical with every other share of the same kind. Because of this, someone living in Portland, Ore., who wants a share of ABC Common can buy it from someone living in Portland, Me., without having to examine the certificate of ownership. There isn't even any need for him to know whose share of stock he is buying since all shares are alike.

And because all shares are alike, common markets have sprung up where all buying and selling take place. These are the stock exchanges, which simply are markets for the buying and selling of securities. These exchanges do not themselves buy or sell securities, nor do they set the prices at which securities will be bought or sold.

Let's say you want to buy 100 shares of ABC Common. You ask a representative of yours to go to the floor of the stock exchange to buy such shares for you. You instruct him either to pay a set price for them or to buy them at the lowest price he can find.

Meanwhile, someone who owns 100 shares of ABC Common wants to sell his shares. He directs his representative to go to the floor of the same stock exchange to sell these shares, instructing him to sell them either at a set price or at the highest price he can get for them.

The coming together of these two representatives — one to sell, the other to buy — is the basis of the operation of the stock exchange.

Perhaps we can better understand the workings of the stock exchange if we think of it as a two - way auction. That is because at most times not one but many blocks of the 100 shares of ABC Common are being offered for sale, and not one but many buyers are interested in purchasing 100 - share blocks.

Because of this, brokers are competing with each other on both sides of the fence. Those who represent buyers are trying to get shares at the lowest price, those who represent sellers are trying to get the highest price for these shares. To complete a sale, the broker bidding the highest price and the broker offering the lowest price agree on a figure that is acceptable to both of the. That is when the transaction is made.

Continental Airlines Net Earnings Soar

Continental Airlines' net earnings for 1964, the company's 30th anniversary year, hit a record $5,687,000, or $1.82 per share, President Robert F. Six estimated.

Six said preliminary, unaudited firgures show that the firm's net earnings were 135 per cent above the comparable 1963 earnings from operations of $2,419,000, or 82 cents per share, when there were fewer shares outstanding. The 1963 figure excluded $590,000 from non - recurring gains. There were no nonrecurring gains in 1964.

Gross revenues in 1964 reached an all - time high of $87,497,000, an increase of 12 per cent over the previous year, while expenses increased only six per cent to $74,995,000, producing a record operating income of $12,502, 000, a 69 pr cent gain over 1963.

In 1963, revenues totalled $78,267,000; expenses, $70,845,000; and operating income, $7,422,000.

Last year Continental's passenger breakeven load factor, the percentage of seats which must be sold before a profit is realized, was reduced to 41 per cent, four points under the year earlier figure.

Six attributed the sharp reduction in the breakeven load factor, in part, to more efficient operations resulting from advanced management techniques based on an increasingly computer - oriented approach to planning and controls.

Six predicted that 1965 will be an even better year for Continental. He said the factors expected to contribute to this are a strong economy; the fact that 1965 will be the first full year Continental has had its traffic-generating three - class program in effect on the entire Golden Jet system; increased demand for lower fare services which are available in Continental's jet economy class; and planned extensive activity in the domestic and international contract charter fields.

Six said Continental's expansion plans will be supported by delivery of two new Intercontinental Boeing 707,320C jets in 1965, supplementing two 707-320Cs delivered in 1964.

New Product Recolors Inexpensively

Drawing on its extensixe experience in the nations nuclear submarine program, the Electro Dynamic Division of General Dynamics has announced the development of a new aerosol filtering device for industry.

Basically, this filter is intended to remove oil mists — or other liquid aerosol suspensions, as they are technically known — from the environment surrounding high speed machine shop equipment, metalworking machinery, power plant equipment and other sources of these mists.

Electro Dynamic says that the origin of its filter can be traced directly to the problems encountered in venting engine room gear bores aboard submarines.

Utilizing what the company calls a new concept, the unit has the compactness of its submarine heritage but is said to have a degree of efficiency that can be approached only by some of the most powerful high voltage electrostatic precipitation machines.

The company expects to find a receptive market in many industrial plants where mists have caused problems in employee comfort, fire hazards or cleanliness.

Upward Trend Noted in Local Hiring

Non - agricultural employment at the beginning of 1964 in Colorado Springs was the lowest last year, reports the Colorado Department of Employment.

After January 1964 an upward trend was established resulting in continued improvement of the area's general economy, they said.

In 1964 the employment office had 9,778 placements (agricultural), 12,725 job openings (non - agricultural), 11,609 placements (agricultural), 313 placements (agricultural) and gave thousands of tests for general aptitude, specific aptitude and proficiency.

"The greatest employment impact on the region last year can be attributed to several factors — increased industrial developments, an all time high level of commercial and residential construction, expansion in retail trade and service industries to serve the rapid population growth and continued activities at the local military installations.

"Even though the area is experiencing a significant non-seasonal employment growth, it is still noted for its tourist attractions which cause seasonal employment fluctuations during the summer months.

"Unemployment experienced seasonal variations during the past 12 month period. The unemployment rate remained below that of the preceding year, due to the improved economy," the department said.

SERVICABLE FAMILY

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — Conrad Ruby, a Fresno farmer, wonders if any family can surpass the military service record that he and his six brothers set during World War II.

Conrad, John, Gottlieb, Henry, Peter, William and David were all in the service at the same time, six of them were overseas at once and the seventh went overseas later, and they had a total of 24 years of military service among them—13 of them outside the United States.

75 YEARS IN PAINT INDUSTRY—This photograph shows a display used in one of McMurtry Manufacturing Company's (Denver, Colo.) numerous retail outlets. It depicts McMurtry as it looked 75 years ago. In 1964, its anniversary year, this time-tested paint and glass manufacturer joined The Valspar Corporation group of companies. Valspar is headquartered in Rockford, Ill. McMurtry manufactures paints and varnishes and distributes them to wholesale and retail markets throughout the 12-state Rocky Mountain region. The company maintains branches in Cheyenne, Wyoming; Albuquerque, and Santa Fe, New Mexico; Colorado Springs, and Grand Junction, Colorado. As of its joining with Valspar on April 1, 1914, McMurtry sales were in excess of $3.5 million.

Route to Lower Prices: End Laws, Up Profit

By SAM CAMPBELL

On Jan. 25, 1915, Alexander Graham Bell picked up a telephone in New York and put in a station-to-station call to his assistant Tom Watson in San Francisco.

That was the first transcontinental telephone conversation.

Nine separate telephone offices handled the order. The tab came to $20, which in those days was the equivalent of nearly two weeks of labor for the workingman.

Today, 50 years later, the same toll call can be dialed direct at a total cost of $2.25, or for $1 after 9 p.m.

Question: How did this price reduction and progress come about?

Answer: Through research done at Bell Laboratories and similar installations throughout the country.

Question: Why was the research done?

Answer: The telephone people wanted to make a profit.

Question: Does that mean that profit worked to lower prices that the customer has to pay?

Answer: Yes.

Question: Will more profit reduce prices even further?

Answer: When people can make a profit, they will save money to invest. The investment pays for research and new tools which bring about a decrease in in cost to the consumer.

Question: If more profit lowers prices that the consumer pays, they why do we have agencies like the PUC, the PFC, and the ICC that claim to hold down profits?

Answer: Some businessmen wish to make money, but they don't want to have to complete for it. So they get the government to grant them a monopoly. The PUC, the FPC and the ICC are monopoly - creating agencies.

Question: Why do consumers accept a practice that causes them to pay more money for the things they buy?

Answer: The monopolists together with powerful socialist influences keep up a constant propaganda barrage, telling the people that profit-regulation is in the public interest. The consumers tend to believe the propaganda because they hear it so often.

Question: But if certain industries like the utilities were not regulated, wouldn't some of them get a stranglehold on the market and tend to drive competitors out?

Answer: That's exactly what they have done. They have used regulation as a means of strangling the marketplace and they have succeeded in driving competitors out — at the point of a law.

Question: Then how can the consumer be protected?

Answer: The consumer can be protected by insisting on open, unfettered, cut-throat competition. No significant monopoly can develop in a free market unless one firm is offering a far superior service or product to the consumer. Free trade between nations offers the consumer even greater protection against the possibility of monopoly.

Question: What is the largest monopoly conceivable?

Answer: The largest monopoly that the mind of man can envision is that the total means of production come under the ownership or control of a single authority. This is the condition under the socialist state.

BREATHING AID

CHICAGO (UPI) — A new instrument that looks like a saxophone can't sound a note, but its performance thrills emphysema victims whose congested lungs cannot function properly. The mechanical "IPPB" (intermittent positive pressure breathing) device, introduced by Chemetron Corp's NCG division, assists a patient to inhale fully and exhale a medicated mixture of oxygen and air. In many cases a 20-minute treatment restores breathing regularity for 12 hours or more.

Second 'Use Of Mind' Seminar Today

The second seminar on "Inner Dynamics" will be conducted at 7:45 p.m. today in the Little Theater of City Auditorium. This session will deal with "How The Mind Works." Another session Tuesday, at the same time and place, will explore "Principles of Action."

Robert W. Huffman conducts the programs on the use of the mind for what he calls the science of functioning as a whole.

The public meetings will be free, though there will be a free will offering. A week ago Huffman conducted a successful series of programs in the Mayfair Hotel for personnel directors and other interested persons.

"The nature of man's innner force is good and it offers to each a great view of his potential as he desires to see that view," Huffman explains. "Inner Dynamics bases its principles on the belief that all men contain endless good that can be expressed freely once we have learned the simple secret of allowing its release."

To understand how the mind works, Huffman divides it into areas: (1) inner force, all that is good; (2) subconscious relative area, there may be patterns of distortion from the good in this storehouse of experiences and thoughts; (3) conscious area, important, but not all that man is.

Huffman explains that, "Most if not all of us have some unwanted easy to reach patterns of distortion in our subconscious minds, patterns that limit our true capabilities."

To use the written work as a guide for the reactive area of the subconscious mind has its advantages," says Huffman. He uses Ortho-Stenic Cards. You're supposed to flip through the cards until you are convinced of what you read. One of his sets of cards contains these messages: (1) "At this moment I release from myself any distortions which have resulted in pain and imbalance in my body and life." (2) "There is no room within my being for patterns which have resulted in an incapacity of any kind." (3) "And so I set the old unwanted patterns aside, and regard them as unimportant; and I turn my attention toward a complete acceptance of the good within myself," and so forth.

Huffman said he derived the name of his cards from "orthos," meaning correct, and "stencil," as a method of stenciling, or imprinting a correct pattern of thought upon the mind."

BOGOTA—Colombia has new rules for sales of drugs.

LOOK AT 1965—Charles Koenig (seated at right), manager of the B. F. Goodrich tire and automotive service store at 10 W. Colorado Ave.; joined with the managers of 47 other B. F. Goodrich stores in the western states to see a preview of the sales and advertising plans that are expected to help make 1965 another record breaking year for replacement tire sales. He attended a two-day sales conference at San Francisco and is shown here as he met with company executives who conducted the meeting. Seated left is W. B. Flora, general manager of retail sales for B. F. Goodrich Tire Company, from Akron, Ohio. Standing left to right are R. S. Thomas, Pacific regional manager of retail sales; and R. L. Pierson, Denver zone manager of retail sales. Flora said industry sales of replacement tires for passenger cars, trucks and buses in the 11 western states are expected to total more than 18,136,000 units in 1965, representing an increase of about 35 per cent over 1960.

Stock Exchanges Markets for Buying, Selling

By MORTON YARMON
Distributed by
NEA Special Services

Each share of stock is identical with every other share of the same kind. Because of this, someone living in Portland, Ore., who wants a share of ABC Common can buy it from someone living in Portland, Me., without having to examine the certificate of ownership. There isn't even any need for him to know whose share of stock he is buying since all shares are alike.

And because all shares are alike, common markets have sprung up where all buying and selling take place. These are the stock exchanges, which simply are markets for the buying and selling of securities. These exchanges do not themselves buy or sell securities, nor do they set the prices at which securities will be bought or sold.

Let's say you want to buy 100 shares of ABC Common. You ask a representative of yours to go to the floor of the stock exchange to buy such shares for you. You instruct him either to pay a set price for them or to buy them at the lowest price he can find.

Meanwhile, someone who owns 100 shares of ABC Common wants to sell his shares. He directs his representative to go to the floor of the same stock exchange to sell these shares, instructing him to sell them either at a set price or at the highest price he can get for them.

The coming together of these two representatives — one to sell, the other to buy — is the basis of the operation of the stock exchange.

Perhaps we can better understand the workings of the stock exchange if we think of it as a two - way auction. That is because at most times not one but many blocks of the 100 shares of ABC Common are being offered for sale, and not one but many buyers are interested in purchasing 100 - share blocks.

Because of this, brokers are competing with each other on both sides of the fence. Those who represent buyers are trying to get shares at the lowest price, those who represent sellers are trying to get the highest price for these shares. To complete a sale, the broker bidding the highest price and the broker offering the lowest price agree on a figure that is acceptable to both of the. That is when the transaction is made.

Continental Airlines Net Earnings Soar

Continental Airlines' net earnings for 1964, the company's 30th anniversary year, hit a record $5,687,000, or $1.82 per share, President Robert F. Six estimated.

Six said preliminary, unaudited firgures show that the firm's net earnings were 135 per cent above the comparable 1963 earnings from operations of $2,419,000, or 82 cents per share, when there were fewer shares outstanding. The 1963 figure excluded $590,000 from non - recurring gains. There were no non-recurring gains in 1964.

Gross revenues in 1964 reached an all - time high of $87,497,000, an increase of 12 per cent over the previous year, while expenses increased only six per cent to $74,995,000, producing a record operating income of $12,502, 000, a 69 pr cent gain over 1963.

In 1963, revenues totalled $78,267,000; expenses, $70,845,000; and operating income, $7,422,000.

Last year Continental's passenger breakeven load factor, the percentage of seats which must be sold before a profit is realized, was reduced to 41 per cent, four points under the year earlier figure.

Six attributed the sharp reduction in the breakeven load factor, in part, to more efficient operations resulting from advanced management techniques based on an increasingly computer - oriented approach to planning and controls.

Six predicted that 1965 will be an even better year for Continental. He said the factors expected to contribute to this are a strong economy; the fact that 1965 will be the first full year Continental has had its traffic-generating three - class program in effect on the entire Golden Jet system; increased demand for lower fare services which are available in Continental's jet economy class; and planned extensive activity in the domestic and international contract charter fields.

Six said Continental's expansion plans will be supported by delivery of two new Intercontinental Boeing 707,320C jets in 1965, supplementing two 707-320Cs delivered in 1964.

New Product Recolors Inexpensively

Drawing on its extensixe experience in the nations nuclear submarine program, the Electro Dynamic Division of General Dynamics has announced the development of a new aerosol filtering device for industry.

Basically, this filter is intended to remove oil mists — or other liquid aerosol suspensions, as they are technically known — from the environment surrounding high speed machine shop equipment, metalworking machinery, power plant equipment and other sources of these mists.

Electro Dynamic says that the origin of its filter can be traced directly to the problems encountered in venting engine room gear bores aboard submarines.

Utilizing what the company calls a new concept, the unit has the compactness of its submarine heritage but is said to have a degree of efficiency that can be approached only by some of the most powerful high voltage electrostatic precipitation machines.

The company expects to find a receptive market in many industrial plants where mists have caused problems in employee comfort, fire hazards or cleanliness.

Peking Suffers Severe Setback In Burundi

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Burundi's ouster of Red Chinese diplomats was rated by U.S. officials today as a significant setback for Peking's campaign to expand its influence in Africa.

The staff of 22 Chinese at the centrally located embassy at Bujumbura is reported to have been supplying training, money and arms to rebels in the neighboring Congo and to have been involved in widespread propaganda activities.

In ordering a break-off of relations with Communist China, King Mwambutsa apparently decided the Reds were promoting too much trouble inside Burundi too.

Burundi is the first African state to suspend relations with Peking.

The Soviets have already taken some lumps in their rival bid for influence in Africa, one of the biggest being their expulsion from the Congo.

U.S. strategists figure that Peking's brand of militant revolution will become less appealing to the leaders of the new African countries as they discover that, now that they are the rulers, they might be the ones overthrown.

The Africans themselves have attributed some plots to the Chinese, and the Ivory Coast president recently accused Peking of training Africans in assassination techniques.

Information reaching Washington has not linked the Chinese with last month's assassination of Burundi's anti-Chinese premier, Pierre Ngendandumwe, although some of those under arrest are known to be pro-Chinese.

Burundi's action was expected to end an important base of Chinese operations in the heart of the continent.

On the record, the State Department was declining comment except ot deny Chinese allegations Sunday of U.S. involvement in the assassination and in the break-off of Burundi-China relations.

Shortage of Chicken Feed Is Reported

BALTIMORE (AP) — A shortage of fish meal to feed chickens raised on Maryland's Eastern Shore is among the side effects of the dockworkers' strike.

Among the 66 ships inactive in the Port of Baltimore because of the International Longshoremen's Association strike which started Jan. 11 are five fully loaded with fish meal.

Fish meal, which comes from Peru, South Africa and Norway, is a major item in chicken feed, and the poultry industry on the Delmarva Peninsula and in other sections of the United States is feeling the effects of not being able to get the material from the vessels.

Canon City High Hosts Haiti Exchange Teacher

Principal John W. Griffin announced last Friday that the student body and faculty of Canon City High School will host George Leveque, an exchange teacher from Haiti. Leveque is a guest of Widefield High School for two weeks, and the Widefield School District has asked if Canon City High would like to act as host for Friday and Saturday.

With the assistance of the student council, faculty, and counseling service, a fine program is planned for Leveque. In the morning, he will attend a English IV class, a French class, and will be given a tour of the facilities by the chairman of the Adult Guest Committee of the Student Council, Mike Merlino. For lunch he will be hosted by the head boy and head girl, John Lawrence and Carol Hawthorne, Griffin, Mrs. Cowan, dean of girls, and Dr. Harold Hunker. In the afternoon, Dr. Hunker and Mike Merlino will show Leveque the Royal Gorge and the Canon City area.

Friday evening, Mrs. George Christie, local citizen who is prominent in the foreign exchange student program, has graciously agreed to host Leveque for dinner with citizens of the community and he will be entertained and will sleep at the Christie residence. On Saturday morning, Leveque will take part in the first Southern Division IRC conference, and acting as his host till mid-afternoon will be John Powhida, chairman of the Social Studies Dept. and sponsor of the International Relations Club of Canon City. Leveque will return to Colorado Springs Saturday afternoon.

Leveque lives in Port-au-Prince, Haiti, and is 32 years old and single. He has good English proficiency, although the native tongue in Haiti is French. His field of teaching is English and he is presently an English teacher at the Lycee Antenor Firmin School in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. His teaching experience shows October 1958 to July 1959 at the College Catss Pressoir; October 1959 to December, 1961 English teacher Lycee Geffrard Genaives School and from January 1962 to the present at Lycee Antenor Firmin School. He received his professional training from the Superior Normal School, with the Certificate of Proficiency in English, in 1959.

He teaches five classes with a total of 75 students in each one. He is interested in phonetics, linguistics and above all methodology. A professor who formerly taught him says, "He has acquired a very good reputation, having given the best of himself in the accomplishment of his duty."

Canon City High School is proud to act as host for Leveque and we hope he enjoys his short stay in Canon City and a tour of our education institutin.

Chorale Gives Challenging Performance of 'Elijah'

By JOHN FETLER

Arts Critic

The Colorado Springs Chorale, under direction of David Porter performed Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah" Sunday afternoon at the Fine Arts Center, for a gratifying audience, and in a gratifying manner, in this manner establishing more solidly the level of its activities, to fill an important cultural need in Colorado Springs.

"Elijah" is one of the more ambitious undertakings in choral literature, and the Chorale proved that it can tackle this job with a great deal of enthusiasm.

It is of considerable interest that the Chorale plans to follow up this facet of its activities with a performance ot "The Peacable Kingdom" by Randall Thompson, in addition to the Brams Liebeslieder, at its next concert, May 21. Particularly the Thompson number is a work which challenges the best resources of any choral group, and we have waited for quite a while to see whether any group in Colorado Springs will be willing to tackle this work.

It would seem that the Chorale at last has come out on a plateau of performance on which it can continue to build, and in which it can continue to develop its resources in a city which offers the added benefit of being a continuously growing city, and thus big enough to support such a group.

The successful operation of a choral group depends, of course, also on the size and support which a community offers. With the performance earlier this season of Finian's Rainbow, the Chorale launched probably its most successful production, and by devoting the rest of the season to choral literature, it is continuing to build a tradition, in the framework of which choral work can be given definite impetus in Colorado Springs.

Porter conducted the "Elijah" in a straightforward manner, taking brisk tempi, and leading the choir through some of the more complicated passages with vigor. As Dr. Boothroyd observed to me, as well as Fritz Funk and Wyborne Foote, all veterans of vocal work, the Chorale did a commendable job, and we were most impressed, particularly, with the work of one of the guest soloists, Naymond Thomas, of Pueblo, who sang the major baritone role. Thomas has already appeared in the opera Faust with the Opera Assn., here, and has already begun developing a fine reputation as a guest artist in Colorado Springs.

The work of the other soloists was gratifying, too, such as the singing of Mary Ellen Fish, Margaret Wallace, and the mellifluous tenor of Rex Andrews; as well as the singing of Chlotilde Lillie, Bonnie Graves, Patricia Burns, Geri Hoffmeister, Ilene Steinkruger, and others.

Serving as piano accompanist was Virginia Andrews, who has a fine touch. A great deal of the sustained musical background was provided with the usual erpertise by Ben Gahart at the organ. The addition of Gahart always provides a solid and fine musical support for any singers, and helped to fill out an "orchestral" approximation for the work.

January Low On Moisture

On New Year's Day, the U.S. Weather Bureau at Peterson Field recorded .14 inches of precipitation, the only moisture counted during the entire month.

This left January and the year deficient of .15 inches of precipitation.

The mercury climbed to its highest point in 1965 on Sunday when it reached 62 degrees. A Chinook breathed it warm breath on the region until a cold front came through about 3 p.m. causing the mercury to dip 20 degrees in 15 minutes, with traces of snow following in its wake.

The previous all-time high was 73 degrees recorded in 1890.

The lowest mark reached during January was 8 degrees on Jan. 2, compared to a freezing -32 degrees recorded back in 1883.

January boasted eight clear days, 10 partly cloudy days, and 13 cloudy days.

The mean maximum was 47 compared to a normal of 42, and the mean minimum was 23 against a normal of 15. This gave the region a mean temperatuire of 35 compared to the normal of 28.

The greatest amount of moisture on any 24-hour period was the .14 inches recorded Jan. 1; total snowfall during January was 3.2 inches. Snow was seen on six days, including the trace on Sunday.

Driver Receives Severe Injuries

A spectacular one-car accident Saturday resulted in severe injuries to one person, the State Patrol reported.

Richard N. Witney, 52, Ramah, Colo., suffered chest injuries, a fractured left pelvis, laceration on his right temple, lacerations on both legs, fractured ribs, and contusions. He was taken to Memorial Hospital by private automobile, according to the patrol.

Whitney was apparently northbound on Ellicott Road just north of Ellicott, Colo., when he lost control of his car and ran off the right side of the road. He traveled along the shoulder for 412 feet, then came back upon the road and rolled one and one quarter times, and at this point was thrown from the vehicle.

The patrol said Whitney's car, a 1964 model, was a total loss with $800 damage.

General Preuss Reviews Troops At Wing Parade

Squadrons at the 4600th Wing Parage, which took place last Friday at Memorial Park, were reviewed by Maj. Gen. Paul T. Preuss, deputy chief of staff-plans, Air Defense Command and four January retirees.

The four Ent Air Force Base officers, three of which wear the Distinguished Flying Cross, received certificates for an accumulated 92 years of federal military service.

Marching to the strains of the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) band were Lt. Col. (retiring as colonel) James K. Dozier, Lt. Col. Charles C. Canfield, Lt. Col. Rowlet Lawellen and Lt. Col. Harry C. Stiver.

Others retiring at private ceremonies were Lt. Col. Lyle W. West, Lt. Col. Carl G. Lenhard, S. Sgt. (retiring as major) Frank C. Gay, SM. Sgt. Lawrence W. Bridges, T. Sgt. James B. Heller and Airman 1.C. Raymond O. Ezquer.

Col. Dozier, holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, participated in the air offensives of Europe, Normandy, Northern France, Rhineland and Ardennes-Alsace on 65 combat missions for 235 combat hours as the pilot of an A-20. Overseas duty, since World War II, includes a tour in Alaska.

Other laurels worn by the colonel are Air Medal with 12 Bronze Oak Leaf Clusters, and the European-African - Middle Eastern Campaign Medal with five Bronze Service Stars.

Col. Canfield, another holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, flew the European skies as a B-17 pilot, accumulating 32 combat missions for 226 combat hours. Other overseas assignments for this air veteran, who holds four Air Medals and two Air Force Commendation Medals, were taken in the Philippines, Germany and Canada.

Col. Lawellen, yet another Distinguished Flying Cross wearer, served in the Korean Conflict, Japan and Iceland during his military career.

The fourth lieutenant colonel to retire at the parade was Harry C. Stiver who served in the Caribbean during World War II. Other overseas assignments include Tripoli, Korea, Japan and Newfoundland. He has been a member of the Air Defense Command since 1955.

New Equipment Installed For Manitou City Clerk

Improved office equipment will streamline many operations in the Manitou Springs city clerk's office.

Past accounting and billing procedures are being revamped to use efficient new systems with account numbers instead of names.

The largest piece of equipment, which resembles a large typewriter, is an accounting machine. It may look like a typewriter but there the resemblance ends.

The mutil-use machine will be used by City Clerk Georgetta C. Shaw for general accounting; Mrs. Shirley Foos, utilities (water and sewer) billing; and City Treasurer Naomi Dettmar for payroll records.

The newest office staffer is Mrs. Angela Vanderboegh who will also use the machine for utilities billing.

The accounting machine, a rebuilt model, is faster and more accurate than past procedures. It will print bills and receipts and keep customers' ledgers for individual accounts.

Friday, the first water and sewer bills were mailed. This first billing of the year was slightly delayed from the normal date due to the City Council's change in water and sewer rates. Also, some customers are now changing from flat to metered water rates.

There is also a new addressograph to speed mailing bills, and new stamp and check validating machines. The accounting machine can also be used for other purposes.

There are even new sized envelopes for the new types of bills.

New machines have eliminated many manual operations. It is expected this will save the city time and money.

The check validating machine, for one thing, cut entries in a ledger during one month from 29 pages to one.

The new equipment was authorized by vote of the City Council after an intensive study by Mayor Lester Longaker and Councilman William Cochran. It's now up to the office staffers to learn how to use the new machinery — and they are.

Another move was taken to update office records — before the new equipment even arrived. Long hours were put in to collect the city's jumble of past ordinances. Some of them were passed before the turn of the century. They were sent to Boulder where attorneys for the Colorado Municipal League are now codifying them.

There is another change in city hall. The main auditorium has been completely remodeled, including a paint job, new ceiling and entirely new sound system.

AUSA to Preview Army in Action TV Series Films

Three hundred members of Pikes Peak Chapter, Association of the U. S. Army, have been invited to preview the Army in Action and experience Army action Thursday, Feb. 4, at Fort Carson.

Screening of two episodes in the Army in Action, newest phase of the Big Picture television series, will climax of an Army afternoon for civilian AUSA members. Lt. Col. Robert C. Winkel, 5th Infantry Division (Mech) and Fort Carson, information officer, will introduce the films in the Victory Theater.

They will meet at noon at the Fort Carson field house where the Leadership School honor guard drill team will present an honor guard ceremony and exhibition.

The visitors will be assigned in small groups to 5th Division Artillery brigade headquarters and separate battalions for rides in the new armored personnel carriers followed by lunch in various mess halls.

Each unit will brief its visitors on the organization's mission.

The television films will be shown on the three TV stations covering Colorado Springs and Pueblo viewing areas starting the second week in Feb.

Man Booked Into County Jail Sunday

Bob G. Wilson, 29, a Ft. Carson staff sergeant, was booked into county jail Sunday for alleged assault, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriffs Larry Holien and Dave Sturgeon said they received a telephone call from Mrs. Wilson saying her husband had thrown her out of their home at the 8th Street Trailer Court.

When the officers arrived they requested permission from Mrs. Wilson to enter the trailer who gave it, but after they entered Wilson became abusive and belligerent and tried to strike Holien after he had grabbed the officer by the lapels.

A tussle ensued and Wilson finally landed on the floor with handcuffs on and was taken to jail. Mrs. Wilson refused to sign a complaint but the officers signed one.

Car Stolen, Another Damaged Says Sheriff

Mrs. Delores Jackson, 807 S. Logan St. reported to the sheriff's office Sunday that her car had been stolen from the parking lot at the Ute Bowling Lanes, 832 S. 21st St.

It is a 1963 Chevrolet Impalla, two door sedan with a white bottom and red top and Kansas plates GE-1761. The vechicle is valued at $2,100.

Vandals knocked out a headlight, dented a door, chipped the paint and smashed out all the windows of a car belonging to Lewis F. Wilcox, the sheriff's office said Sunday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Art Tolch the vehicle was parked at Widefield Farm, just south of Fountain Road. Damage is $100.

U.S. Naval Space Surveillance System Will Add Three Stations

Three new stations will be added to the U.S. Naval Space Surveillance System within a year, the command announced today.

Two additional receiver stations designed to improve both high and low altitude coverage of the satellite-watching system are under construction at Red River, Ark., and Hawkinsville, Ga. They will join the network early this year.

A new transmitter station is being built at Olney, Tex., with completion scheduled for Jan. 1, 1966.

The Naval Space Surveillance System (NAVSPASUR), headquartered at the Naval Weapons Laboratory at Dahlgren, Va., also reported that its operating frequency is being changed from 108,015 to 216 megacycles. That conversion also is due for completion by next Jan. 1.

The announcement of the major facilities expansion program was made on the fourth anniversary of NAVSPASUR as an operational command. Functioning since early 1959, it was commissioned as an operational command Feb. 1, 1961.

The network is part of the North American Air Defense Command's Space Detection and Tracking System, (SPADATS), which has the mission of keeping track of all man-made objects in space.

SPADATS is a multi-service system of U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force sensors, with many civilian scientific agencies also contributing data. Information on satellite movements is funneled to the SPADATS operations center here at NORAD headquarters where a computerized catalogue is maintained.

The Navy's Space Surveillance net and the Air Force's Spacetrack system, the two major components of SPADATS, were both assigned to operational control of the U.S.-Canadian North American Air Defense Command in 1960.

Under the command of Capt. E. F. van Lier Ribbink, the U.S. Naval Space Survellance System is operated to meet both Navy and NORAD requirements.

Its tasks include maintaining constant surveillance of space to identify and determine orbits of all satellites—of inclinations within its capability—circling the earth, with particular emphasis on non-radiating objects.

The system consists of seven field stations stretched across the southern United States from Georgia to California. Three of them are transmitter installations at Gila River, Ariz; Kickapoo Lake, Tex.; and Wetumpka, Ala.

The Kickapoo Lake site—only a mile from the new 216-megacycle station being constructed at Olney, Tex.—has the largest transmitter of its type in the world.

A continuous wave of radio energy sent spaceward from the transmitters constitutes the SPASUR "electronic fence."

As a satellite passes through the fan-shaped pattern, a small portion of the energy of the fence is reflected back to earth and is detected by one or more of the four receiver stations—at San Diego, Calif.; Elephant Butte, N.M.; Silver Lake, Miss.; and Fort Stewart, Ga.

Satellite observations are transmitted to SPASUR headquarters where the information is filtered, correlated and processed, and then is passed to various customer agencies in the defense establishment, including the North American Air Defense Command.

The Navy network consistently exceeds an operational reliability of better than 99 per cent and has the capability of identifying and predicting paths of satellites ranging in size from a piece of one-sixteenth inch wire about 14 feet long to the huge astronaut capsules weighing several thousand pounds.

With its fully digitized automatic system, NAVSPASUR operates in near real time. This means that within seconds of the time a satellite is detected, an analysis of observational data is available at the headquorters at Dahlgren. The data is then sent to NORAD where it contributes to the computing of orbital elements on the satellite.

In February 1961, the first month of the command's operation, there was an earth satelite population of 45 payloads, rocket bodies and miscellaneous debris. That population has now topped 500.

In the same span of four years, the number of NAVSPASUR identified observations of the ever-increasing space traffic jumped from 2,000 to 76,000 per month.

Pilots Will Begin Firing On Supersonic Tow Target

Air Defense Command interceptor pilots and radar observers will soon be firing at a supersonic tow target that measures only eight inches in diameter and 10 feet long.

The Air Force's newest airborne weapons training device — the Hayes Supersonic tow target — is presently undergoing final testing by ADC's 4750th Test Squadron at Tyndall AFB, Fla.

This sleek, target, which looks like a missile, is towed behind an F-101B voodoo supersonic interceptor at speeds reaching Mach 1.5 or one and a half times the speed of sound.

The target's distance behind the supersonic interceptor will vary from four to eight miles.

The pencil shaped targets are being tested for operational suitability in flying, maintenance, training, supply and safety areas. This final phase of testing will establish operating patterns in all the areas and enable other ADC units to get the maximum opertional use with a minimum of difficulty.

Officially tagged the TDU-9-B, the front end of the target is tapered to the diameter of the wind driven generator propeller, and the stern is enlarged to accommodate infra-red flares. It is towed from its center of gravity, a point slightly aft of half the body length back from the nose.

The horizontal wings are larger than the verticles, the former having a three foot span and the latter two and one-quarter; both are similar in platform..

One of the more interesting characteristics of the target is its self-contained electronic scoring capability. This capability is scheduled to undergo extensive final stage testing.

Since today's weapons do not require a direct hit to make a "kill," the scoring device enables the pilotst to know if their weapons reached the effective range. Moreover, the self-scoring feature gives the target great versatility because it does not require the aid of any ground support.

The target is very desirable from a cost viewpoint. The Air Force spends about $10,000 for each of the targets, but because of its repairable feature, many of the targets will stay in the inventory much longer than their forerunners.

The F-101 Voodoo is also undergoing final testing as the two target aircraft. The supersonic interceptor is modified with an "I" beam slung along the bottom centerline of the aircraft. The change enables it to carry the two reel and target. Despite the modifications, if the need arises, the aircraft can be returned to a combat configuration within 20 minutes.

Present plans call for the advanced bull's-eye to be used as the primary low altitude target in the U.S. Air Force World-wide Interceptor Weapons Meet scheduled to be held at Tyndall AFB in October of this year.

The final testing phase is scheduled to be completed in May 1965, and if the target withstands the rigorous checks, the Air Force and the Air Defense Command will have equipmest that will provide more missions per target vehicle and a more realistic target presentation at a wide range of speeds and altitudes.

College Players Will Entertain At Fort Carson

The American Collegiate Players, entertainment troupe of Harding College will be at Ft. Carson Tuesday and Wednesday.

Showtime is 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Peak Service Club and 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Cheyenne Shadows.

The players will stage "The World of Theatre '65," a theatrical musical review with scenes from "Camelot," "The World of Carl Sandburg," "Bye Bye Birdie" and "Teahouse of the August Moon." Folk singing, hootennany and a musical finale will climax the program.

This collegiate troupe last April gave Ft. Carson one of the best shows ever seen here, according to Entertainment Director June Anne Adams. "If it's anything like last year, it should be an outstanding show that the men will appreciate."

This traveling entertainment company of players is on tour of the Fifth Army which will take them to Missouri, Kansas and Colorado. They just completed a tour of the Third Army in Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee. Last season they toured Moliere's "The Miser" in their home state and Tennessee.

The company is composed of 18 students from 11 states and represents a group of actors and singers who have had vast experience in college theater.

They have accrued numerous superior ratings at dramatic events. Half the company holds membership in the Alpha Psi Omega National Honorary Dramatics Fraternity.

Others retiring at private ceremonies were Lt. Col. Lyle W. West, Lt. Col. Carl G. Lenhard, S. Sgt. (retiring as major) Frank C. Gay, SM. Sgt. Lawrence W. Bridges, T. Sgt. James B. Heller and Airman 1.C. Raymond O. Ezquer.

Col. Dozier, holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, participated in the air offensives of Europe, Normandy, Northern France, Rhineland and Ardennes-Alsace on 65 combat missions for 235 combat hours as the pilot of an A-20. Overseas duty, since World War II, includes a tour in Alaska.

Other laurels worn by the colonel are Air Medal with 12 Bronze Oak Leaf Clusters, and the European-African - Middle Eastern Campaign Medal with five Bronze Service Stars.

Col. Canfield, another holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, flew the European skies as a B-17 pilot, accumulating 32 combat missions for 226 combat hours. Other overseas assignments for this air veteran, who holds four Air Medals and two Air Force Commendation Medals, were taken in the Philippines, Germany and Canada.

Col. Lawellen, yet another Distinguished Flying Cross wearer, served in the Korean Conflict, Japan and Iceland during his military career.

The fourth lieutenant colonel to retire at the parade was Harry C. Stiver who served in the Caribbean during World War II. Other overseas assignments include Tripoli, Korea, Japan and Newfoundland. He has been a member of the Air Defense Command since 1955.

New Equipment Installed For Manitou City Clerk

Improved office equipment will streamline many operations in the Manitou Springs city clerk's office.

Past accounting and billing procedures are being revamped to use efficient new systems with account numbers instead of names.

The largest piece of equipment, which resembles a large typewriter, is an accounting machine. It may look like a typewriter but there the resemblance ends.

The mutil-use machine will be used by City Clerk Georgetta C. Shaw for general accounting; Mrs. Shirley Foos, utilities (water and sewer) billing; and City Treasurer Naomi Dettmar for payroll records.

The newest office staffer is Mrs. Angela Vanderboegh who will also use the machine for utilities billing.

The accounting machine, a rebuilt model, is faster and more accurate than past procedures. It will print bills and receipts and keep customers' ledgers for individual accounts.

Friday, the first water and sewer bills were mailed. This first billing of the year was slightly delayed from the normal date due to the City Council's change in water and sewer rates. Also, some customers are now changing from flat to metered water rates.

There is also a new addressograph to speed mailing bills, and new stamp and check validating machines. The accounting machine can also be used for other purposes.

There are even new sized envelopes for the new types of bills.

New machines have eliminated many manual operations. It is expected this will save the city time and money.

The check validating machine, for one thing, cut entries in a ledger during one month from 29 pages to one.

The new equipment was authorized by vote of the City Council after an intensive study by Mayor Lester Longaker and Councilman William Cochran. It's now up to the office staffers to learn how to use the new machinery — and they are.

Another move was taken to update office records — before the new equipment even arrived. Long hours were put in to collect the city's jumble of past ordinances. Some of them were passed before the turn of the century. They were sent to Boulder where attorneys for the Colorado Municipal League are now codifying them.

There is another change in city hall. The main auditorium has been completely remodeled, including a paint job, new ceiling and entirely new sound system.

Car Stolen, Another Damaged Says Sheriff

Mrs. Delores Jackson, 807 S. Logan St. reported to the sheriff's office Sunday that her car had been stolen from the parking lot at the Ute Bowling Lanes, 832 S. 21st St.

It is a 1963 Chevrolet Impalla, two door sedan with a white bottom and red top and Kansas plates GE-1761. The vechicle is valued at $2,100.

Vandals knocked out a headlight, dented a door, chipped the paint and smashed out all the windows of a car belonging to Lewis F. Wilcox, the sheriff's office said Sunday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Art Tolch the vehicle was parked at Widefield Farm, just south of Fountain Road. Damage is $100.

AUSA to Preview Army in Action TV Series Films

Three hundred members of Pikes Peak Chapter, Association of the U. S. Army, have been invited to preview the Army in Action and experience Army action Thursday, Feb. 4, at Fort Carson.

Screening of two episodes in the Army in Action, newest phase of the Big Picture television series, will climax of an Army afternoon for civilian AUSA members. Lt. Col. Robert C. Winkel, 5th Infantry Division (Mech) and Fort Carson, information officer, will introduce the films in the Victory Theater.

They will meet at noon at the Fort Carson field house where the Leadership School honor guard drill team will present an honor guard ceremony and exhibition.

The visitors will be assigned in small groups to 5th Division Artillery brigade headquarters and separate battalions for rides in the new armored personnel carriers followed by lunch in various mess halls.

Each unit will brief its visitors on the organization's mission.

The television films will be shown on the three TV stations covering Colorado Springs and Pueblo viewing areas starting the second week in Feb.

Man Booked Into County Jail Sunday

Bob G. Wilson, 29, a Ft. Carson staff sergeant, was booked into county jail Sunday for alleged assault, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriffs Larry Holien and Dave Sturgeon said they received a telephone call from Mrs. Wilson saying her husband had thrown her out of their home at the 8th Street Trailer Court.

When the officers arrived they requested permission from Mrs. Wilson to enter the trailer who gave it, but after they entered Wilson became abusive and belligerent and tried to strike Holien after he had grabbed the officer by the lapels.

A tussle ensued and Wilson finally landed on the floor with handcuffs on and was taken to jail. Mrs. Wilson refused to sign a complaint but the officers signed one.

U.S. Naval Space Surveillance System Will Add Three Stations

Three new stations will be added to the U.S. Naval Space Surveillance System within a year, the command announced today.

Two additional receiver stations designed to improve both high and low altitude coverage of the satellite-watching system are under construction at Red River, Ark., and Hawkinsville, Ga. They will join the network early this year.

A new transmitter station is being built at Olney, Tex., with completion scheduled for Jan. 1, 1966.

The Naval Space Surveillance System (NAVSPASUR), headquartered at the Naval Weapons Laboratory at Dahlgren, Va., also reported that its operating frequency is being changed from 108,015 to 216 megacycles. That conversion also is due for completion by next Jan. 1.

The announcement of the major facilities expansion program was made on the fourth anniversary of NAVSPASUR as an operational command. Functioning since early 1959, it was commissioned as an operational command Feb. 1, 1961.

The network is part of the North American Air Defense Command's Space Detection and Tracking System, (SPADATS), which has the mission of keeping track of all man-made objects in space.

SPADATS is a multi-service system of U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force sensors, with many civilian scientific agencies also contributing data. Information on satellite movements is funneled to the SPADATS operations center here at NORAD headquarters where a computerized catalogue is maintained.

The Navy's Space Surveillance net and the Air Force's Spacetrack system, the two major components of SPADATS, were both assigned to operational control of the U.S.-Canadian North American Air Defense Command in 1960.

Under the command of Capt. E. F. van Lier Ribbink, the U.S. Naval Space Survellance System is operated to meet both Navy and NORAD requirements.

Its tasks include maintaining constant surveillance of space to identify and determine orbits of all satellites—of inclinations within its capability—circling the earth, with particular emphasis on non-radiating objects.

The system consists of seven field stations stretched across the southern United States from Georgia to California. Three of them are transmitter installations at Gila River, Ariz; Kickapoo Lake, Tex.; and Wetumpka, Ala.

The Kickapoo Lake site—only a mile from the new 216-megacycle station being constructed at Olney, Tex.—has the largest transmitter of its type in the world.

A continuous wave of radio energy sent spaceward from the transmitters constitutes the SPASUR "electronic fence."

As a satellite passes through the fan-shaped pattern, a small portion of the energy of the fence is reflected back to earth and is detected by one or more of the four receiver stations—at San Diego, Calif.; Elephant Butte, N.M.; Silver Lake, Miss.; and Fort Stewart, Ga.

Satellite observations are transmitted to SPASUR headquarters where the information is filtered, correlated and processed, and then is passed to various customer agencies in the defense establishment, including the North American Air Defense Command.

The Navy network consistently exceeds an operational reliability of better than 99 per cent and has the capability of identifying and predicting paths of satellites ranging in size from a piece of one-sixteenth inch wire about 14 feet long to the huge astronaut capsules weighing several thousand pounds.

With its fully digitized automatic system, NAVSPASUR operates in near real time. This means that within seconds of the time a satellite is detected, an analysis of observational data is available at the headquorters at Dahlgren. The data is then sent to NORAD where it contributes to the computing of orbital elements on the satellite.

In February 1961, the first month of the command's operation, there was an earth satelite population of 45 payloads, rocket bodies and miscellaneous debris. That population has now topped 500.

In the same span of four years, the number of NAVSPASUR identified observations of the ever-increasing space traffic jumped from 2,000 to 76,000 per month.

Pilots Will Begin Firing On Supersonic Tow Target

Air Defense Command interceptor pilots and radar observers will soon be firing at a supersonic tow target that measures only eight inches in diameter and 10 feet long.

The Air Force's newest airborne weapons training device — the Hayes Supersonic tow target — is presently undergoing final testing by ADC's 4750th Test Squadron at Tyndall AFB, Fla.

This sleek, target, which looks like a missile, is towed behind an F-101B voodoo supersonic interceptor at speeds reaching Mach 1.5 or one and a half times the speed of sound.

The target's distance behind the supersonic interceptor will vary from four to eight miles.

The pencil shaped targets are being tested for operational suitability in flying, maintenance, training, supply and safety areas. This final phase of testing will establish operating patterns in all the areas and enable other ADC units to get the maximum opertional use with a minimum of difficulty.

Officially tagged the TDU-9-B, the front end of the target is tapered to the diameter of the wind driven generator propeller, and the stern is enlarged to accommodate infra-red flares. It is towed from its center of gravity, a point slightly aft of half the body length back from the nose.

The horizontal wings are larger than the verticles, the former having a three foot span and the latter two and one-quarter; both are similar in platform..

One of the more interesting characteristics of the target is its self-contained electronic scoring capability. This capability is scheduled to undergo extensive final stage testing.

Since today's weapons do not require a direct hit to make a "kill," the scoring device enables the pilotst to know if their weapons reached the effective range. Moreover, the self-scoring feature gives the target great versatility because it does not require the aid of any ground support.

The target is very desirable from a cost viewpoint. The Air Force spends about $10,000 for each of the targets, but because of its repairable feature, many of the targets will stay in the inventory much longer than their forerunners.

The F-101 Voodoo is also undergoing final testing as the two target aircraft. The supersonic interceptor is modified with an "I" beam slung along the bottom centerline of the aircraft. The change enables it to carry the two reel and target. Despite the modifications, if the need arises, the aircraft can be returned to a combat configuration within 20 minutes.

Present plans call for the advanced bull's-eye to be used as the primary low altitude target in the U.S. Air Force World-wide Interceptor Weapons Meet scheduled to be held at Tyndall AFB in October of this year.

The final testing phase is scheduled to be completed in May 1965, and if the target withstands the rigorous checks, the Air Force and the Air Defense Command will have equipmest that will provide more missions per target vehicle and a more realistic target presentation at a wide range of speeds and altitudes.

College Players Will Entertain At Fort Carson

The American Collegiate Players, entertainment troupe of Harding College will be at Ft. Carson Tuesday and Wednesday.

Showtime is 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Peak Service Club and 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Cheyenne Shadows.

The players will stage "The World of Theatre '65," a theatrical musical review with scenes from "Camelot," "The World of Carl Sandburg," "Bye Bye Birdie" and "Teahouse of the August Moon." Folk singing, hootennany and a musical finale will climax the program.

This collegiate troupe last April gave Ft. Carson one of the best shows ever seen here, according to Entertainment Director June Anne Adams. "If it's anything like last year, it should be an outstanding show that the men will appreciate."

This traveling entertainment company of players is on tour of the Fifth Army which will take them to Missouri, Kansas and Colorado. They just completed a tour of the Third Army in Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee. Last season they toured Moliere's "The Miser" in their home state and Tennessee.

The company is composed of 18 students from 11 states and represents a group of actors and singers who have had vast experience in college theater.

They have accrued numerous superior ratings at dramatic events. Half the company holds membership in the Alpha Psi Omega National Honorary Dramatics Fraternity.

Ball-Handling Indicates Better Team, Says Iba

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Skillful handling and passing of the basketball is becoming a lost art in this game. Show me a team that does it well, and I'll show you a winner."

That is what Hank Iba, veteran Oklahoma State Coach said on a visit to Kansas City earlier this season. It's applicable today because Oklahoma State and Iowa State are the two hottest clubs in Big Eight basketball. They are also the best ball handling teams in the league.

Oklahoma State, with a 6-0 record, is threatening to make a runaway of the title race. One reason is Osu's 63-55 conquest of Missouri Saturday at Stillwater, coming just after a triple-overtime victory over Colorado.

Another reason is Iowa State's 91-76 blasting of Kansas State at Ames a week after the Cyclones upset Kansas at Lawrence. In between, Iowa State wiped out a 17-point halftime deficit and beat Oklahoma.

BIG EIGHT CONFERENCE

	Conference W	L	Pct.	All Games W	L	Pct.	Pts.	OP
Okla. St.	6	0	1.000	13	4	.765	1074	932
Colorad	3	2	.600	8	8	.500	1087	1076
Kansas	3	3	.500	11	6	.647	1083	997
Missouri	2	2	.500	7	7	.500	955	980
Iowa St.	4	4	.500	7	11	.389	1197	1288
Kan. St.	2	3	.400	9	7	.563	1170	1090
Nebraska	1	4	.200	6	10	.375	1121	1206
Oklahoma	1	4	.200	5	10	.333	1116	1158

Colorado took over second place with a 3-2 record by squeezing past Oklahoma 71-70 at Norman. Then comes a three-way tie involving Kansas at 3-3, Missouri 2-2 and Iowa State 4-4, with K-State dropping to sixth at 2-3 and Oklahoma and Nebraska tied at 1-4.

Missouri plays at Oklahoma in the only game scheduled for tonight.

Osu faces four top contenders — three on the road —in a two-week span starting Saturday and if Iba's club wins three of them, it can all but wrap up the title. Even a 2-2 split would leave Osu in a strong position heading into the last four games.

Oklahoma State starts the crucial period at Missouri Saturday, then goes to K-State Feb. 13 before returning to meet Kansas Feb. 15 at Stillwater, with Colorado Feb. 20 at Boulder the last one.

Yank's Sled Finishes 3rd At St. Moritz

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP) — America's No. 1 fourman bobsled, piloted by Fred Fortune of Lake Placid, N.Y., has finished third in the World Championship, barely two seconds behind the winning Canadian foursome.

The U.S. sled's time for four runs was 5 minutes, 19.83 seconds while the Canadians, who have no bob run of their own at home, roared to the title in 5:17.78. Italy was second, a mere .01 of a second ahead of the Americans.

Fortune's crew consisted of Dick Knuckles of Virginia Beach, Va., and Joe Wilson and Jim Lord, both of Lake Placid.

A second U.S. team, piloted by Jim Hickey of Lake Saranac, N.Y., was eliminted when its sled hit a rock and crashed on the final run. Hickey, Dick Davis of Minneapolis, Ralph Wiles of Saranac Lake and Mike Hallrock of White Plains, N.Y., were not hurt.

Heading the Canadian team were pilot Victor Emery and Peter Kirby, gold medalists in last year's Olympic games. Other team members were Gerald Presley and Mike Young.

The Canadian victory was particularly significant because Canadian teams practice each year only at the site of the World Championship. Emery said he would return to Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy, to defend his title next year.

The Americans were pleased with their showing, expecially after they completed the fourth run in 1:19.79, one of the fastest times for the final run.

"We had two good rides and are very pleased at taking third place," Fortune said.

Added coach Jim Bickford:

"We are delighted with the results. The team was getting better every day, and with more practice trips we would have been strong contenders for the title. But it was the same for everyone, and the practice sessions were run with complete fairness."

Storm Delays Liston's Plan For Workout

DENVER (AP) — Stormy weather has put off for a couple of days the road training plans drawn up for former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston following his acquittal on drunken driving charges.

"If you've had a beer don't drive with nobody — walk," was Liston's comment Saturday after the six-member county court jury found him innocent.

Denver police officers had testified Liston was intoxicated Christmas Day when he drove his 1965 yellow Cadillac into an East Denver restaurant parking lot.

Immediately after the trial, promoters of his return bout with champion Cassius Clay said Liston would begin road work today for the match tentatively set for about May 1 in Boston.

More than six inches of snow fell in the Denver area Sunday night, halting any outdoor work for Liston for a day or two. Liston is scheduled to go to Plymouth, Mass., about March 10 to complete his training.

Liston testified at his trial that he had two eggnogs with brandy and a beer before his arrest, but denied he was intoxicated. Liston acknowledged he was belligerent when three officers, who had been having coffee at the restaurant, arrested him.

But he claimed the treatment he received from the officers would have "made a preacher belligerent."

"I felt I was being picked on," Liston said.

He told the jury he felt he was arrested not because he was drunk "but because I was Sonny Liston."

Smith Takes Tense Match After Miss Bueno Forfeits

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Australia's Margaret Smith won the Australian womens singles championship in sensational fashion today when Wimbledon champion Maria Bueno of Brazil collapsed with a cramp while losing in the deciding set and was forced to forfeit the match.

It was a dramatic and unfortunate end to one of the most tense matches seen on Kooyong's court for many years.

When play was called off, Miss Smith, who lost last year's Wimbledon final to Miss Bueno, was leading 5-7, 6-4, 5-2. Although Maria was obviously tiring, she still was far from beaten.

Before she suffered the cramp, Miss Bueno had had a heavy fall while chasing a shot in the fifth game of the third set. She got up and continued, but on the next game she double faulted twice and allowed the Australia girl to break through.

Then in the eighth game, Miss Bueno, at 15-all on her service, served a fault, threw up the ball for a second service, and suddenly collapsed.

Officials and the crowd were stunned as she lay writhing on the baseline, and for a moment no one moved to help.

Then Miss Smith began to walk around the net. Harry Hopman, president of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Association, rushed out, and an ambulance attendant was called.

An attempt was made to ease the cramp as the Brazilian girl lay on the court, but when it was not successful it was announced she had been forced to withdraw.

Although Miss Smith had been playing badly, she was slowly getting on top as her opponent tired toward the end of the one hour, 49 minute match.

Floyd Pick to Stop Chuvalo

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —Millionaire Floyd Patterson, the former two-time heavyweight champion who is burning for a third title, faces hungry George Chuvalo of Toronto in a sellout fight tonight that could move the winner into a championship bout.

The 30-year-old Patterson, a 2-1 favorte when the fight was made, was only a 7-5 choice at weigh-in time as support picked up for the 27-year-old Canadian champion, who claims he never has been floored. The 12-rounder is scheduled for 10:30 p.m., EST.

The prospect of a slugging battle between the fast punching weak-chinned Patterson and the aggressive, hard-hitting Chuvalo, has sold out the 18,000-seat Madison Square Garden for the first time since Cassius Clay won a disputed decision over Doug Jones March 13, 1963.

It was this narrow, if controversial victory, that propelled the flamboyant Clay to his title shot with Sonny Liston and the championship.

Jones, too, was the stepping stone for Chuvalo, up to then a mediocre pugilist with a mauling style of fighting. In knocking out the New York contender in the 11th round at the Garden last Oct. 2, Chuvalo moved into the top flight. It only takes one good victory these days to get in with the so-called elite.

In winning, he displayed a crisper style of punching, learned under a new trainer, Ted McWhorter. He jabbed well, and hooked with speed and power to the body and head.

Chuvalo's record is 29-8-2, including 23 knockouts. His conquerors include Howard King, Pat McMurtry, Pete Rademacher and Joe Erskine, fighters without renown.

Patterson seldom has fought anyone younger than himself. This time he is the older man by three years, the rich, established ex-champ who has everything Chuvalo wants. Patterson, a brooding introvert, admits he has all the money he will ever need. The desire to get at Clay and Liston is what keeps him fighting like a hungry kid.

Since he was flattened in the first round for the second time by Liston July 22, 1963, Patterson has knocked out Italian Santo Amonti in eight, outpointed Eddie Machen in 12 and stopped Charlie Powell in six, the last on Dec. 12.

His record is 41-4, including 31 knockouts. He has been stopped three times, twice by Liston and once by Ingemar Johansson.

"Patterson is game but he has a weak jaw," said Chuvalo. "I'm going right after him. I'm going to get him somewhere between the first and 12th ground. Then I'm after the title."

"I know he'll be coming," said Patterson. "So will I. I can punch better when I go forward. On styles, this is going to be a good fight. I hope to win. If I get the chance, I'll be going for the knockout."

The standing room crowd will pay about $160,000 at $20 tops. The closed circuit television, some community home TV and pay TV, as well as the foreign rights, may bring in at least $300,000 more.

At 32½ per cent, Patterson may earn about $137,000, which is chicken feed compared to the million or more he has made on some title fights.

Chuvalo, at 20 per cent, figures to gross about $85,000, his biggest purse ever.

Still Tied for Lead

Pirates Crush Mt. Carmel, 64-33

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The Denver Parochial League launched its second round Sunday but as far as the results were concerned, it could still have been the first round!

St. Mary's and Mullen, coleaders much of the campaign, continued to sail along at the head of the pack, Regis is still breathing hot on their heels, and, even more predictably, Mt. Carmel still hasn't won a ball game.

The Eagles, a perfect 0-9 during the first half of the league season, appeared at the St. Mary's Gymnasium Sunday afternoon to show St. Mary's fans how they had accomplished that feat. They flashed a brief preview in the first period by scoring just four points, but then with a little aid from the understandably-confident Pirates, had Buc fans wondering if their eyes were deceiving them as they matched the local club point for point in the second quarter and for three minutes of the third.

Just when a few worried expressions were beginning to flicker around the Pirate Gym, the Eagles suddenly crash-dived and over the final 13 minutes of the contest they contributed a total of 10 points to the scoring. Meanwhile, the Bucs were lacing the nets with 32 and when the frolic had concluded, St. Mary's had a 64-33 triumph and everything was back to normal.

Meanwhile in Denver, Mullen experienced some anxious moments before quelling Annunciation's spirit, 63-56, and Regis continued to show old-time form by mashing Machebeuf, 68-37. St. Francis dumped St. Joseph's and Cathedral spilled Holy Family in games that meant a little less.

Mt. Carmel is averaging less than 40 points a game (38.7 to be exact) in 10 DPL contests this winter and in the modern era of basketbal that's hardly sufficient to win the first half. The Eagles' problems are primarily two-fold, lack of size and lack of communication with the goal. Of course, the two are related to an extent. Most of the tiny visitors had to shoot the ball straight up for quite a ways to clear the tops of the defenders. As a result there were a number of casts that didn't get very far underway before they were swatted to earth by the Pirates' swarming defense.

But even when the shots were clear, the Eagles could locate the range only on occasion. Bob Gonzales, who was the tallest and ablest of the visitors, was the majority of the team's offense and since he could connect on just six of 22 attempts from the field, the final result was understandable.

While the Eagles were mired in their misery, the lanky Pirate frontliners were having a field day. Tom Socha, John Van Horn, and reserve Larry Walters registered a rather decisive victory over Mt. Carmel — all by themselves. The three combined for 42 rebounds, 11 more than the total by the entire Eagle team, and scored 40 points, a figure that bettered Mt. Carmel's total by seven. Van Horn and Walters shared point honors with 14, the same total registered by Gonzales for the Eagles, and Socha led the rebounders with 19.

For a while after the opening tip it appeared as though the Pirates might be heading for the season's first shutout. They had a 10-0 lead when Mike Solano finally got the Eagles on the scoreboard on a jump shot with 3:25 left in the period. It was 14-4 at the end of the quarter but things didn't go exactly as the Pirates figured in the second eight minute stanza. Sloppy floor play by St. Mary's and a sudden turn of shooting fortunes by the Eagles kept the halftime margin the same at 30-20.

Mt. Carmel climbed to within nine at 32-23 with 5:25 left in the third quarter — and then wilted completely. The Eagles didn't score another point for over four minutes and were whitewashed the first five minutes in the final period. Meanwhile the Pirate tide built momentum and the flood of points was on.

Friday night the Bucs travel to Cathedral before launching the decisive run with the other leaders. St. Mary's meets Regis in Denver Sunday and returns the following Friday to battle Mullen.

Loyola Faces Barrage Of Two More Contenders

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Loyola of Chicago is back in the college basketball spotlight — glared at by Wichita, outshone by UCLA and aiming at St. John's and Indiana.

Loyola, NCAA champion in 1963 and a member of the Top Ten last season, finds itself encountering those four nationally-ranked teams in one week after plodding through a schedule sprinkled with unheralded teams such as Western Ontario, Southwest Missouri and Windsor.

The hectic week started for Loyola last Friday night with an upset 93-92 victory over fifth-ranked Wichita in overtime. The Ramblers gave UCLA, the nation's No. 1 team, a tough fight before bowing 85-72 Saturday night.

Now come seventh-ranked St. John's tonight and Indiana, No. 9, Thursday night.

St. John's 12-3, will try and bounce back against Loyola following a surprising 78-50 loss to Marquette Saturday night. The Ramblers have played Marquette twice this season, winning at home 83-71 before losing 71-69 in overtime at Marquette.

The loss to UCLA dropped the Ramblers' record to 10-6, a good distance from the 29-2 and 22-6 marks they compiled the past two seasons.

Loyola sneaked to a 35-33 halftime margin and extended its lead to five points early in the second half before the Bruins struck.

Kenny Washington's field goal put UCLA ahead to stay 47-46, but it was a spree of 10 straight points by Gail Goodrich that clinched the Bruins' 14th victory in 16 games.

The Bruins now turn to Pacific Athletic Conference competition from which they are favored to emerge with a spot in the NCAA tournament for a defense of the title they won last year.

Loyola, meanwhile, turns to St. John's, which still may be spinning from its brutal defeat at Marquette. The loss was the first for the New Yorkers after eight straight victories.

Marquette led the entire way, holding St. John's to 20 points for the entire first half while dominating the boards.

Wichita rebounded from its loss to Loyola for a 96-76 triumph over Louisville. The game was the last for graduating Dave Stallworth, an All-America who helped the Shockers to a 6-0 record in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Stallworth poured in 40 points, giving him 85 points for the weekend. His two performances were the second and third best of his Wichita career.

"I have been here four years, and I enjoyed it," Stallworth said in a farewell address. "I needed you people, and I will miss you."

It will be the Shockers, however, who will miss Stallworth. They must play eight more conference games without him and by no means are assured of the title.

They received unexpected aid Saturday night when Cincinnati upset second-place St. Louis 67-66 on Fritz Meyer's two free throws with seven seconds left.

Of the Top Ten teams, unbeaten Providence, No. 4; Indiana and 10th-ranked Duke did not play Saturday. Michigan, No. 2, whipped Purdue 98-81, Third-rated St. Joseph's knocked off Xavier, Ohio, 93-78, sixth-ranked Davidson stopped Wake Forest 78-71, and San Francisco, No. 8, toppled Arizona State 91-75.

Miss Roth Gets Another Share Of Golf Crown

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Nancy Roth of Hollywood has a part of the Women's International Four-ball Golf Championship for the second time.

Miss Roth teamed with Maureen Crum of Plant City Sunday to win the finals, 2-up over the team of Roberta Albers of Tampa and Rhonda Glenn of Lake Worth.

Miss Roth won the title in 1963 as a partner with Margo Michaelis. She and Miss Crum, a physical education teacher in Plant City Junior High School, ended the morning round all even with their 18-year-old opponents.

But in the afternoon, Miss Crum parred the 19th hole to put her team 1-up and they went 2-up on the 25th.

Miss Glenn won the 27th hole to trim the margin to a single hole, and they halved the next eight.

On the 530-yard 36th hole, Miss Roth dropped a three-foot putt for a par 5 to end the match 2-up.

The tournament was concluded in sunny but cold weather over the 6,361-yard Orange Brook Country Club course.

TWINS LIST EXHIBITIONS

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Twins will play a 28-game exhibition schedule this spring. They will face the Houston Astros, Cincinnati Reds and New York Mets three times each.

On the way north they play the Mets on April 10 at Charlotte N.C., and the next day at Portsmouth, Va.

CSC Cagers Lead RMC Loop Chase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Front-running Colorado State College has suffered its first defeat but the Bears still hold a two-game lead in the Rocky Mountain Conference basketball race.

The C-State five from Greeley lost 82-63 to Adams State at Alamosa Saturday after winning the previous night 90-82.

This weekend the pace-setting Bears, 5-1, entertain at home Friday for Colorado Mines, 1-3, and Saturday night the teams move to Golden for a rematch. Mines has been idle since Jan. 19.

Runnerup Adams State, 3-3, journeys to Gunnison for Friday and Saturday games with Western State, 1-3, sharing the cellar with Mines. Western lost a nonconference game at Fort Lewis Saturday 87-68.

Soccer Fans In Italy Riot Despite Rules

ROME (AP) — Rioting by soccer fans broke out in parts of Italy Sunday despite new rules aimed at enforcing better conduct.

At Lodi near Milan in the North, bedlam broke loose when a game between Third League teams Fanfulla and Biellese ended in a 1-1 tie.

At Bisceglie near Brari in the South, a game between Fourth League teams Bisceglie and Fermana ended in riot near the end of the second half with the home squad trailing 2-0.

When the game at Lodi ended 500 fans rose with a roar, bust through an iron railing and invaded the field.

An emergency platoon of police sped to Lodi from Milan 32 kilometers away to reinforce the 20 policemen struggling to keep the crowd from breaking down the dressing room doors.

It took two hours before the irate fans dispersed. A policeman was injured.

Cheyenne, Wasson Tangle In Hockey Game Tonight

Wasson, striving to hang on to its slim chances of tying for the City Hockey League championship, takes on first place Cheyenne Mountain today at 8:15 p.m. in the Broadmoor World Arena.

The Thunderbirds have a 4-4 record, compared to Cheyenne's 7-2 mark. A loss would send the T-Birds out of contention for the triple round robin crown.

Cheyenne, however, has been faltering of late, losing its last outing to Fountain Valley. The Indians are being chased by second place Palmer (6-3), which meets Wasson on Wednesday.

Widefield didn't win, as ususal, Saturday night, but scored two goals, which, for the defense-minded Gladiators, is double their entire previous goal production. Fountain Valley took a 5-2 decision, but Venton McPhearson rammed in two third period tallies against new goalie Dan Fee. Widefield's only other goal had been scored by Bruce Brian.

The Gladiators meet Cheyenne Thursday.

Newell Weed scored three goals Saturday night for the Danes and crashed the hitherto sole possession of Cheyenne — the top three places in the individual scoring columns. Weed moved to a tie for second place with 10 goals and 11 assists.

Don Heyliger still holds the lead with 10 goals and 13 assists.

Two new goalies made their tender debuts Saturday. Fee, subbing for regular Torney Smith, made six saves, Byron Brian, normally a wing for the Glads, made 13 saves.

Ball-Handling Indicates Better Team, Says Iba

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Skillful handling and passing of the basketball is becoming a lost art in this game. Show me a team that does it well, and I'll show you a winner."

That is what Hank Iba, veteran Oklahoma State Coach said on a visit to Kansas City earlier this season. It's applicable today because Oklahoma State and Iowa State are the two hottest clubs in Big Eight basketball. They are also the best ball handling teams in the league.

Oklahoma State, with a 6-0 record, is threatening to make a runaway of the title race. One reason is Osu's 63-55 conquest of Missouri Saturday at Stillwater, coming just after a triple-overtime victory over Colorado.

Another reason is Iowa State's 91-76 blasting of Kansas State at Ames a week after the Cyclones upset Kansas at Lawrence. In between, Iowa State wiped out a 17-point halftime deficit and beat Oklahoma.

Colorado took over second place with a 3-2 record by squeezing past Oklahoma 71-70 at Norman. Then comes a three-way tie involving Kansas at 3-3, Missouri 2-2 and Iowa State 4-4, with K-State dropping to sixth at 2-3 and Oklahoma and Nebraska tied at 1-4.

Missouri plays at Oklahoma in the only game scheduled for tonight.

Osu faces four top contenders — three on the road —in a two-week span starting Saturday and if Iba's club wins three of them, it can all but wrap up the title. Even a 2-2 split would leave Osu in a strong position heading into the last four games.

Oklahoma State starts the crucial period at Missouri Saturday, then goes to K-State Feb. 13 before returning to meet Kansas Feb. 15 at Stillwater, with Colorado Feb. 20 at Boulder the last one.

Yank's Sled Finishes 3rd At St. Moritz

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP) — America's No. 1 four-man bobsled, piloted by Fred Fortune of Lake Placid, N.Y., has finished third in the World Championship, barely two seconds behind the winning Canadian foursome.

The U.S. sled's time for four runs was 5 minutes, 19.83 seconds while the Canadians, who have no bob run of their own at home, roared to the title in 5:17.78. Italy was second, a mere .01 of a second ahead of the Americans.

Fortune's crew consisted of Dick Knuckles of Virginia Beach, Va., and Joe Wilson and Jim Lord, both of Lake Placid.

A second U.S. team, piloted by Jim Hickey of Lake Saranac, N.Y., was eliminted when its sled hit a rock and crashed on the final run. Hickey, Dick Davis of Minneapolis, Ralph Wiles of Saranac Lake and Mike Hallrock of White Plains, N.Y., were not hurt.

Heading the Canadian team were pilot Victor Emery and Peter Kirby, gold medalists in last year's Olympic games. Other team members were Gerald Presley and Mike Young.

The Canadian victory was particularly significant because Canadian teams practice each year only at the site of the World Championship. Emery said he would return to Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy, to defend his title next year.

The Americans were pleased with their showing, expecially after they completed the fourth run in 1:19.79, one of the fastest times for the final run.

"We had two good rides and are very pleased at taking third place," Fortune said.

Added coach Jim Bickford:

"We are delighted with the results. The team was getting better every day, and with more practice trips we would have been strong contenders for the title. But it was the same for everyone, and the practice sessions were run with complete fairness."

Storm Delays Liston's Plan For Workout

DENVER (AP) — Stormy weather has put off for a couple of days the road training plans drawn up for former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston following his acquittal on drunken driving charges.

"If you've had a beer don't drive with nobody — walk," was Liston's comment Saturday after the six-member county court jury found him innocent.

Denver police officers had testified Liston was intoxicated Christmas Day when he drove his 1965 yellow Cadillac into an East Denver restaurant parking lot.

Immediately after the trial, promoters of his return bout with champion Cassius Clay said Liston would begin road work today for the match tentatively set for about May 1 in Boston.

More than six inches of snow fell in the Denver area Sunday night, halting any outdoor work for Liston for a day or two. Liston is scheduled to go to Plymouth, Mass., about March 10 to complete his training.

Liston testified at his trial that he had two eggnogs with brandy and a beer before his arrest, but denied he was intoxicated. Liston acknowledged he was belligerent when three officers, who had been having coffee at the restaurant, arrested him.

But he claimed the treatment he received from the officers would have "made a preacher belligerent."

"I felt I was being picked on," Liston said.

He told the jury he felt he was arrested not because he was drunk "but because I was Sonny Liston."

Smith Takes Tense Match After Miss Bueno Forfeits

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Australia's Margaret Smith won the Australian womens singles championship in sensational fashion today when Wimbledon champion Maria Bueno of Brazil collapsed with a cramp while losing in the deciding set and was forced to forfeit the match.

It was a dramatic and unfortunate end to one of the most tense matches seen on Kooyong's court for many years.

When play was called off, Miss Smith, who lost last year's Wimbledon final to Miss Bueno, was leading 5-7, 6-4, 5-2. Although Maria was obviously tiring, she still was far from beaten.

Before she suffered the cramp, Miss Bueno had had a heavy fall while chasing a shot in the fifth game of the third set. She got up and continued, but on the next game she double faulted twice and allowed the Australia girl to break through.

Then in the eighth game, Miss Bueno, at 15-all on her service, served a fault, threw up the ball for a second service, and suddenly collapsed.

Officials and the crowd were stunned as she lay writhing on the baseline, and for a moment no one moved to help.

Then Miss Smith began to walk around the net. Harry Hopman, president of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Association, rushed out, and an ambulance attendant was called.

An attempt was made to ease the cramp as the Brazilian girl lay on the court, but when it was not successful it was announced she had been forced to withdraw.

Although Miss Smith had been playing badly, she was slowly getting on top as her opponent tired toward the end of the one hour, 49 minute match.

Floyd Pick to Stop Chuvalo

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —Millionaire Floyd Patterson, the former two-time heavyweight champion who is burning for a third title, faces hungry George Chuvalo of Toronto in a sellout fight tonight that could move the winner into a championship bout.

The 30-year-old Patterson, a 2-1 favorte when the fight was made, was only a 7-5 choice at weigh-in time as support picked up for the 27-year-old Canadian champion, who claims he never has been floored. The 12-rounder is scheduled for 10:30 p.m., EST.

The prospect of a slugging battle between the fast punching weak-chinned Patterson and the aggressive, hard-hitting Chuvalo, has sold out the 18,000-seat Madison Square Garden for the first time since Cassius Clay won a disputed decision over Doug Jones March 13, 1963.

It was this narrow, if controversial victory, that propelled the flamboyant Clay to his title shot with Sonny Liston and the championship.

Jones, too, was the stepping stone for Chuvalo, up to then a mediocre pugilist with a mauling style of fighting. In knocking out the New York contender in the 11th round at the Garden last Oct. 2, Chuvalo moved into the top flight. It only takes one good victory these days to get in with the so-called elite.

In winning, he displayed a crisper style of punching, learned under a new trainer, Ted McWhorter. He jabbed well, and hooked with speed and power to the body and head.

Chuvalo's record is 29-8-2, including 23 knockouts. His conquerors include Howard King, Pat McMurtry, Pete Rademacher and Joe Erskine, fighters without renown.

Patterson seldom has fought anyone younger than himself. This time he is the older man by three years, the rich, established ex-champ who has everything Chuvalo wants. Patterson, a brooding introvert, admits he has all the money he will ever need. The desire to get at Clay and Liston is what keeps him fighting like a hungry kid.

Since he was flattened in the first round for the second time by Liston July 22, 1963, Patterson has knocked out Italian Santo Amonti in eight, outpointed Eddie Machen in 12 and stopped Charlie Powell in six, the last on Dec. 12.

His record is 41-4, including 31 knockouts. He has been stopped three times, twice by Liston and once by Ingemar Johansson.

"Patterson is game but he has a weak jaw," said Chuvalo. "I'm going right after him. I'm going to get him somewhere between the first and 12th ground. Then I'm after the title."

"I know he'll be coming," said Patterson. "So will I. I can punch better when I go forward. On styles, this is going to be a good fight. I hope to win. If I get the chance, I'll be going for the knockout."

The standing room crowd will pay about $160,000 at $20 tops. The closed circuit television, some community home TV and pay TV, as well as the foreign rights, may bring in at least $300,000 more.

At 32½ per cent, Patterson may earn about $137,000, which is chicken feed compared to the million or more he has made on some title fights.

Chuvalo, at 20 per cent, figures to gross about $85,000, his biggest purse ever.

Pirates Crush Mt. Carmel, 64-33

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The Denver Parochial League launched its second round Sunday but as far as the results were concerned, it could still have been the first round!

St. Mary's and Mullen, co-leaders much of the campaign, continued to sail along at the head of the pack, Regis is still breathing hot on their heels, and, even more predictably, Mt. Carmel still hasn't won a ball game.

The Eagles, a perfect 0-9 during the first half of the league season, appeared at the St. Mary's Gymnasium Sunday afternoon to show St. Mary's fans how they had accomplished that feat. They flashed a brief preview in the first period by scoring just four points, but then with a little aid from the understandably-confident Pirates, had Buc fans wondering if their eyes were deceiving them as they matched the local club point for point in the second quarter and for three minutes of the third.

Just when a few worried expressions were beginning to flicker around the Pirate Gym, the Eagles suddenly crash-dived and over the final 13 minutes of the contest they contributed a total of 10 points to the scoring. Meanwhile, the Bucs were lacing the nets with 32 and when the frolic had concluded, St. Mary's had a 64-33 triumph and everything was back to normal.

Meanwhile in Denver, Mullen experienced some anxious moments before quelling Annunciation's spirit, 63-56, and Regis continued to show old-time form by mashing Machebeuf, 68-37. St. Francis dumped St. Joseph's and Cathedral spilled Holy Family in games that meant a little less.

Mt. Carmel is averaging less than 40 points a game (38.7 to be exact) in 10 DPL contests this winter and in the modern era of basketbal that's hardly sufficient to win the first half. The Eagles' problems are primarily two-fold, lack of size and lack of communication with the goal. Of course, the two are related to an extent. Most of the tiny visitors had to shoot the ball straight up for quite a ways to clear the tops of the defenders. As a result there were a number of casts that didn't get very far underway before they were swatted to earth by the Pirates' swarming defense.

But even when the shots were clear, the Eagles could locate the range only on occasion. Bob Gonzales, who was the tallest and ablest of the visitors, was the majority of the team's offense and since he could connect on just six of 22 attempts from the field, the final result was understandable.

While the Eagles were mired in their misery, the lanky Pirate frontliners were having a field day. Tom Socha, John Van Horn, and reserve Larry Walters registered a rather decisive victory over Mt. Carmel — all by themselves. The three combined for 42 rebounds, 11 more than the total by the entire Eagle team, and scored 40 points, a figure that bettered Mt. Carmel's total by seven. Van Horn and Walters shared point honors with 14, the same total registered by Gonzales for the Eagles, and Socha led the rebounders with 19.

For a while after the opening tip it appeared as though the Pirates might be heading for the season's first shutout. They had a 10-0 lead when Mike Solano finally got the Eagles on the scoreboard on a jump shot with 3:25 left in the period. It was 14-4 at the end of the quarter but things didn't go exactly as the Pirates figured in the second eight minute stanza. Sloppy floor play by St. Mary's and a sudden turn of shooting fortunes by the Eagles kept the halftime margin the same at 30-20.

Mt. Carmel climbed to within nine at 32-23 with 5:25 left in the third quarter — and then wilted completely. The Eagles didn't score another point for over four minutes and were whitewashed the first five minutes in the final period. Meanwhile the Pirate tide built momentum and the flood of points was on.

Friday night the Bucs travel to Cathedral before launching the decisive run with the other leaders. St. Mary's meets Regis in Denver Sunday and returns the following Friday to battle Mullen.

Loyola Faces Barrage Of Two More Contenders

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Loyola of Chicago is back in the college basketball spotlight — glared at by Wichita, outshone by UCLA and aiming at St. John's and Indiana.

Loyola, NCAA champion in 1963 and a member of the Top Ten last season, finds itself encountering those four nationally-ranked teams in one week after plodding through a schedule sprinkled with unheralded teams such as Western Ontario, Southwest Missouri and Windsor.

The hectic week started for Loyola last Friday night with an upset 93-92 victory over fifth-ranked Wichita in overtime. The Ramblers gave UCLA, the nation's No. 1 team, a tough fight before bowing 85-72 Saturday night.

Now come seventh-ranked St. John's tonight and Indiana, No. 9, Thursday night.

St. John's 12-3, will try and bounce back against Loyola following a surprising 78-50 loss to Marquette Saturday night. The Ramblers have played Marquette twice this season, winning at home 83-71 before losing 71-69 in overtime at Marquette.

The loss to UCLA dropped the Ramblers' record to 10-6, a good distance from the 29-2 and 22-6 marks they compiled the past two seasons.

Loyola sneaked to a 35-33 halftime margin and extended its lead to five points early in the second half before the Bruins struck.

Kenny Washington's field goal put UCLA ahead to stay 47-46, but it was a spree of 10 straight points by Gail Goodrich that clinched the Bruins' 14th victory in 16 games.

The Bruins now turn to Pacific Athletic Conference competition from which they are favored to emerge with a spot in the NCAA tournament for a defense of the title they won last year.

Loyola, meanwhile, turns to St. John's, which still may be spinning from its brutal defeat at Marquette. The loss was the first for the New Yorkers after eight straight victories.

Marquette led the entire way, holding St. John's to 20 points for the entire first half while dominating the boards.

Wichita rebounded from its loss to Loyola for a 96-76 triumph over Louisville. The game was the last for graduating Dave Stallworth, an All-America who helped the Shockers to a 6-0 record in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Stallworth poured in 40 points, giving him 85 points for the weekend. His two performances were the second and third best of his Wichita career.

"I have been here four years, and I enjoyed it," Stallworth said in a farewell address. "I needed you people, and I will miss you."

It will be the Shockers, however, who will miss Stallworth. They must play eight more conference games without him and by no means are assured of the title.

They received unexpected aid Saturday night when Cincinnati upset second-place St. Louis 67-66 on Fritz Meyer's two free throws with seven seconds left.

Of the Top Ten teams, unbeaten Providence, No. 4; Indiana and 10th-ranked Duke did not play Saturday. Michigan, No. 2, whipped Purdue 98-81, Third-rated St. Joseph's knocked off Xavier, Ohio, 93-78, sixth-ranked Davidson stopped Wake Forest 78-71, and San Francisco, No. 8, toppled Arizona State 91-75.

TWINS LIST EXHIBITIONS

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Twins will play a 28-game exhibition schedule this spring. They will face the Houston Astros, Cincinnati Reds and New York Mets three times each.

On the way north they play the Mets on April 10 at Charlotte N.C., and the next day at Portsmouth, Va.

Miss Roth Gets Another Share Of Golf Crown

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Nancy Roth of Hollywood has a part of the Women's International Four-ball Golf Championship for the second time.

Miss Roth teamed with Maureen Crum of Plant City Sunday to win the finals, 2-up over the team of Roberta Albers of Tampa and Rhonda Glenn of Lake Worth.

Miss Roth won the title in 1963 as a partner with Margo Michaelis. She and Miss Crum, a physical education teacher in Plant City Junior High School, ended the morning round all even with their 18-year-old opponents.

But in the afternoon, Miss Crum parred the 19th hole to put her team 1-up and they went 2-up on the 25th.

Miss Glenn won the 27th hole to trim the margin to a single hole, and they halved the next eight.

On the 530-yard 36th hole, Miss Roth dropped a three-foot putt for a par 5 to end the match 2-up.

The tournament was concluded in sunny but cold weather over the 6,361-yard Orange Brook Country Club course.

CSC Cagers Lead RMC Loop Chase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Front-running Colorado State College has suffered its first defeat but the Bears still hold a two-game lead in the Rocky Mountain Conference basketball race.

The C-State five from Greeley lost 82-63 to Adams State at Alamosa Saturday after winning the previous night 90-82.

This weekend the pace-setting Bears, 5-1, entertain at home Friday for Colorado Mines, 1-3, and Saturday night the teams move to Golden for a rematch. Mines has been idle since Jan. 19.

Runnerup Adams State, 3-3, journeys to Gunnison for Friday and Saturday games with Western State, 1-3, sharing the cellar with Mines. Western lost a non-conference game at Fort Lewis Saturday 87-68.

Soccer Fans In Italy Riot Despite Rules

ROME (AP) — Rioting by soccer fans broke out in parts of Italy Sunday despite new rules aimed at enforcing better conduct.

At Lodi near Milan in the North, bedlam broke loose when a game between Third League teams Fanfulla and Biellese ended in a 1-1 tie.

At Bisceglie near Brari in the South, a game between Fourth League teams Bisceglie and Fermana ended in riot near the end of the second half with the home squad trailing 2-0.

When the game at Lodi ended 500 fans rose with a roar, bust through an iron railing and invaded the field.

An emergency platoon of police sped to Lodi from Milan 32 kilometers away to reinforce the 20 policemen struggling to keep the crowd from breaking down the dressing room doors.

It took two hours before the irate fans dispersed. A policeman was injured.

Cheyenne, Wasson Tangle In Hockey Game Tonight

Wasson, striving to hang on to its slim chances of tying for the City Hockey League championship, takes on first place Cheyenne Mountain today at 8:15 p.m. in the Broadmoor World Arena.

The Thunderbirds have a 4-4 record, compared to Cheyenne's 7-2 mark. A loss would send the T-Birds out of contention for the triple round robin crown.

Cheyenne, however, has been faltering of late, losing its last outing to Fountain Valley. The Indians are being chased by second place Palmer (6-3), which meets Wasson on Wednesday.

Widefield didn't win, as ususal, Saturday night, but scored two goals, which, for the defense-minded Gladiators, is double their entire previous goal production. Fountain Valley took a 5-2 decision, but Venton McPhearson rammed in two third period tallies against new goalie Dan Fee. Widefield's only other goal had been scored by Bruce Brian.

The Gladiators meet Cheyenne Thursday.

Newell Weed scored three goals Saturday night for the Danes and crashed the hitherto sole possession of Cheyenne — the top three places in the individual scoring columns. Weed moved to a tie for second place with 10 goals and 11 assists.

Don Heyliger still holds the lead with 10 goals and 13 assists.

Two new goalies made their tender debuts Saturday. Fee, subbing for regular Torney Smith, made six saves, Byron Brian, normally a wing for the Glads, made 13 saves.

PGA Newcomer, Archer, Moves Up in Pro Circles With Lucky Tourney Win

By RON BERGMAN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gangly George Archer, last year a little late and $1.88 short, found himself today in the exclusive circle of the professional golf elite.

Four birdies on his last five holes elevated his status. He won the $8,500 first prize in the $57,500 Lucky International Open Sunday on the second hole of a sudden death playoff against former British Open champion Bob Charles of New Zealand.

Archer finished his rookie year of 1964 as No. 51 on the money winning list of the Professional Golfers' Association with $14,867.85, never having won a tournament. Paul Bondeson ranked just above him with $14,869.73. The top 50 win automatic exemptions from qualifying in all PGA tournaments during this year.

So by the margin of $1.88, Archer was scheduled among those who must fire qualifying rounds, take undesirable starting times and otherwise suffer with the tour proletarians.

On Sunday, the 6-foot-6 golfing cowboy from nearby Gilroy changed all this for the rest of the year with 38 tournaments to go. He also qualified for the Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas, the National PGA Tournament and put himself in solid position to win an invitation to the Masters.

Archer beat Charles with an eight-fot birdie putt after birdies on the three final holes of the regulation round gave him a 68 and 278 — six under par — for the 72 holes.

An immediate benefit was automatic entry into this week's $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic starting Wednesday in Palm Springs, Calif. In the complicated competition, 128 pros and 384 amateurs play four courses to start, ending up on the Bermuda Dunes Course the final day.

Archer won his first tournament by shooting a last-round, three-under-par 68 over the Harding Park municipal course for a 72-hole total of 278. Charles, only left-handed golfer in history to win a PGA tournament, had a 69 to tie.

Each shot a par-4 on the first playoff hole. Then Archer put in his eight-foot birdie putt on the par-4 second hole while Charles missed a 15-footer.

Finishing at 281 were third-placers George Knudson and Gardner Dickinson. Bud Holscher and Billy Maxwell of Indianapolis ended at 282.

Archer, who won the San Francisco City Amateur Championship two years ago on the 6,-722-yard Harding layout, sliced his second shot on the 16th with a No. 4 iron from underneath trees. It stopped 17 feet from the pin and he sank the putt for a birdie 3.

"Some old man showed me that about eight years ago," Archer said afterwards. "The old fellow came out and just bent it around the trees.

"It was a pretty good shot for him," Archer remembered, "but I didn't use it until today. It just popped into my head when I got there.

Boston, N.Y. Coaches in NBA Spat

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — "Wait until Bill Russell is gone, then we'll see how great a coach Red Auerbach is," said sizzling Harry Gallatin.

"He was the same way as a player — never went after the big guys," countered Auerbach.

Thus Gallatin, towering coach of the lowly New York Knicks, and Auerbach, short field marshall of the mighty Celtics, declared open verbal warfare Sunday after Boston clobbered the Knicks 123-95.

In other National Basketball Association action Sunday, Philadelphia whipped Cincinnati 127-122, Detroit downed St. Louis 110-107 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 96-94.

The Auerbach-Gallatin feud started when Russell, defensive genius of the perennial champions, drew a sixth personal foul. He had broken the game open in the last seven minutes of the first quarters when he scored 13 points, blocked two shots and grabbed eight rebounds as he pulled his team from a 13-12 deficit to a 32-22 lead.

Boston was incensed. Auerbach got so mad he wound up being ejected by the officials. Gallatin, newly named to the Knicks' post, was on the floor shouting when Red made a flapping motion with his hand as if to tell Gallatin to be quiet.

The latter motioned for Auerbach to step over and have it out. Players from both sides moved in before anything further developed.

"Auerbach is bush," Gallatin said afterward. "Maybe he's been up there too long.

"We'll get him in the future and rub his nose into the ground."

"It takes a lot of guts to go after me," Auerbach said. "He's 10 years younger and 60 pounds heavier. He's trying to make himself look tough in front of his players.

Auerbach wound up with two technical fouls, Gallatin and Bob Boozer had one each.

But Boston had long since won its 46th game in 55 decisions, leading 70-39 at the half. John Havlicek had 22 points to lead the Celtics. Rookie Willis Reed's 18 points topped the Knicks.

Wilt Chamberlain broke loose for 17 points in the third period as Philadelphia came from behind to whip Cincinnati. Chamberlain wound up with 36.

Detroit wiped out a 22-point deficit and chalked up its second straight victory over St. Louis.

Hawks' Enis, Scooters Gain Ground in NHL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago Black Hawk fans may change their tune from Never On Sunday to Canadien Sunset if that new group called Enis and the Scooters keeps up the close harmony.

The Hawks, still seeking their initial National Hockey League title, gained ground on league-leading Montreal Sunday by blanking the Canadiens 3-0 at Chicago.

Freshman goalie Denis DeJordy fashioned the shutout and a revamped Scooter Line — Doug Mohns, Ken Wharram and Stan Mikita — took care of the scoring as the Hawks ended a month of frustrating Sundays against the defending regular-season champs.

Twice before — on Jan. 3 and Jan. 17 — the Hawks lost to Montreal on Chicago ice, each time when a victory would have overhauled the league leaders. By winning Sunday, Chicago inched to within two points of the Canadiens.

Third place Toronto and fourth place Detroit also closed the gap, the Maple Leafs with a 4-2 decision over Boston and the Red Wings with a 4-1 triumph over New York. Toronto is six points behind Montreal, Detroit seven.

Mohns scored twice for Chicago after Wharram connected in the first period. Mohns also assisted on his linemate's goal. Mikita picked up two assist and Wharram one.

DeJordy, who has spelled veteran Chicago goalie Glenn Hall in 22 games, stopped 22 shots for his third shutout of the campaign. Gump Worsley had 27 saves for Montreal.

Chicago's Bobby Hull failed, for the fifth straight game, to improve his league-leading goals total of 37.

Goals by Dave Keon and Bob Pulford in the final two minutes shot Toronto past Boston after the Leafs had blown a 2-0 lead. Keon deflected a Tim Horton shot into the Boston cage and Pulford hit an open net after the Bruins pulled goalie Jack Norris in the last minute.

Norris was making his NHL debut. He was summoned from Los Angeles of the Western League last week and replaced Ed Johnston, who broke his right hand in Saturday's game at Toronto. Johnston had not missed a game in two seasons.

Eddie Shack and Red Kelly gave Toronto a two-goal bulge after two periods but Johnny Bucyk and Reg Fleming countered for the last-place Bruins in the final session.

Detroit spotted the Rangers a goal in the first minute of the game and then struck for four tallies in the second period. Ron Murphy led the assault with two goals. Alex Delvecchio and Gordie Howe fired the others as the Wings opened an 11-point spread over the fifth-place Rangers.

Vic Hadfield scored for New York with 21 seconds gone in the opening period but goalie Roger Crozier throttled the Rangers the rest of the way.

The Detroit victory, following Saturday's 3-2 verdict over Chicago, was the fourth straight for the Red Wings. Toronto whipped Boston 6 1 and Montreal beat New York 5-1 in Saturday's other games.

WAC Contenders Battle In Non-League Affairs

By BOB EGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Five teams still are in the thick of the Western Athletic Conference basketball race, and they aren't about to let their momentum slack while there's a temporary lull in league play.

The five scored 10 victories in as many games last week against non - conferece opponents.

Arizona, the current pacesetter with a 3-1 league record, was perhaps the most impressive. The Wildcats upset eighth-ranked San Francisco 71-56 Thursday night and crushed Memphis State 99-64 Saturday.

In other games Saturday, New Mexico trimmed New Mexico State 62-37, Brigham Young beat Denver 96-85, Wyoming whipped Air Force 75-62, Utah outscrambled Utah State 110-104 and Arizona State University dropped a 91-75 decision to San Francisco.

Arizona State, the defending co-champ, is the only member without a chance at the crown. The Sun Devils are 0-4 in conference play and 7-11 overall.

Everybody else is cruising along at better than a .700 clip. Co-champ New Mexico is 14-2, Arizona 14-4, Brigham Young and Utah 13-4 and Wyoming 12-5.

Arizona abandoned its usual ball control tactics against Memphis State and wheeled and dealed to its highest point total in 84 games.

As usual, the Wildcats spread the scoring around. Buddy Doolen was tops with 16 points, but four of his teammates also were in the double figures.

New Mexico reinforced its hold on the top spot nationally in defense by tossing a blanket around New Mexico State. Skip Kruzich led the Lobos with 15 points and New Mexico defenders didn't let any Aggies hit double figures.

Brigham Young, the nation's scoring leader, maintained its average against Denver. The Cougars' free throw shooting percentage didn't suffer any either. They cashed in on all 24 of their attempts.

BYU's John Fairchild, who dropped in 10 of 10 from the foul line, took game scoring honors with 26 points.

Wyoming's victory over Air Force was the seventh straight for the red-hot Cowboys. Flynn Robinson, gunning for his third straight conference scoring title, popped in 38 points for the winners.

Utah State's big Wayne Estes riddled Utah for 43 points, but the Redskins had him outnumbered. Jerry Chambers scored 35, George Fisher 19, Skip Kroeger 18, Richard Tate 17 and Granny Lash 12 for the winners.

San Francisco handed Arizona State its worst home court defeat in eight years. The Dons ran up a 10-0 lead in the first two minutes and never were in trouble.

Cowboys Aiming for CSU After Sweeping Weekend

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI)—The victorious Wyoming Cowboy cagers, riding their longest win streak in a dozen years, prepped hard this week for a Saturday trip to Colorado State University's cracker box gym at Fort Collins, Colo.

The non-conference tilt follows two last week that saw Wyoming clip San Jose State 92-70 Friday and an under-strength Air Force quint 75-62 Saturday.

The Pokes already hold a Laramie victory over the Fort Collins Rams. The Air Force game saw All-America candidate Flynn Robinson, who holds most of the Wyoming scoring records, sink 38 points—his high for the season.

Robinson bagged 20 of the 38 in the first half.

The Cadets were minus junior starters Jerry Yankee and Scott Etnyre, apparently ousted in the cribbing scandals.

The Falcons never held a lead during the game. The Pokes led 7-0 before the Cadets got on the scoreboard.

At halftime, Wyoming led 36-27.

Led by Robinson, the Cowboys smashed into a 20-point lead in the second half, although the Falcons narrowed it to 55-44 with a 10-point effort from two sophomores.

Center Leon Clark nabbed 16 points for Wyoming to be the only other Poke with double digits.

The Falcons were led by Hugdahl with 26. Sam Peshut hit 13 for the Falcons.

The Air Force hit only per cent from the floor while Wyoming got 41.2 per cent.

Bobby Kennedy Hit With Writers

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — "I understand Yogi Berra is writing a book," said U.S. Senator Robert Kennedy with a boyish grin. "It's called 'Lucky To Be A Yankee'—as told to Mel Allen."

With that quip about the two fired members of the New York Yankee official family, Kennedy hit a grand slam homer at the awards dinner of the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America after being introduced as "the only man on the dais with his own baseball team."

The show belonged to star players Brooks Robinson and Elston Howard, Hall of Famer Zach Wheat and veteran Umpire Jocko Conlan but Kennedy, batting in the clean-up spot among the speakers, stole the spotlight with a varied array of one-liners.

The Democratic Senator from New York, stepped to the speakers' rostrum after his introduction and said he first wanted to pay tribute to the writers, who sometimes are the subject of considerable abuse.

"I have difficulty believing," he said, "those things Ted Williams said about you."

Then he looked down the dais, and pointed to Johnny Keane, who managed the St. Louis Cardinals to a World Series victory, then quit and signed with the Yankees.

"Keane's new to New York," said Kennedy, "and he's asked me to be his guide."

He pointed out that no one had accused Keane of being a carpetbagger but said considering everything he preferred politics to sports because "Im happier being a U.S. Senator than a Washington Senator. You stay around longer and the pay's better."

In conclusion, Kennedy made reference without mentioning names to the fact that the man he defeated for the Senate seat — Kenneth Keating — had been mentioned as a candidate for the office of baseball commissioner.

"I didn't run for the U.S. Senate to be commissioner of baseball," he said. "The job doesn't have enough power."

Kennedy's quips followed the presentation of awards. Robinson, Baltimore's third baseman, and the American League's Most Valuable Player, received the Sid Mercer Memorial Award as Player of the Year. Howard, the Yankees' catcher, was given the Ben Epstein Good Guy Award.

Wheat, former member of the Brooklyn Dodgers, received the Retroactive Award for past performances, and Conlan received the Bill Slocum Award for long and meritorious service to baseball.

Conlan who retired last October after 24 seasons as a National League umpire, agreed with a sly smile that he had contributed to his share of a changing baseball scene — even making a rule change.

"In Brooklyn they used to throw so many bottles at me," he pointed out, "that I made them change to paper cups."

Missouri Thinclads Open Year With Triangle Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri's defending Big Eight indoor track champions opened the season by swamping Drake and Arkansas at Columbia Saturday, while J. D. Martin's first Oklahoma team whipped Oklahoma State 77-45 at Norman.

Charlie Brown, a sophomore halfback standout in football, scored 13 points as Missouri ran up 91½ points, Drake 29 and Arkansas 28½.

The Kansas Jayhawks, league outdoor champions and runner-up in the indoor championships, open the season Friday in Lawrence with a triangular against Southern Illinois and Pittsburg, Kan., State.

This touches off the first big weekend of the league's indoor season. Oklahoma State meets Missouri at Columbia Friday. On Saturday, Iowa State is at Wisconsin, Wyoming at Colorado and Kansas State at Nebraska.

Two more weekends of competition will follow as the conference prepares for the Big Eight indoor championships Feb. 26-27 in Kansas City.

Oklahoma won 11 of 14 events, but it probably would have been much closer if OSU had the services of three of its standouts, who were competing in the Lubbock, Tex., invitational. They were Tom Von Ruden, an 880-mile star, Dave Perry in the 600 and high jumper Russ Laverty.

Bill Calhoun won the low hurdles and 440 for Oklahoma, posting a meet record of 48.6 in the 440. Chris McCobbins took the mile in 4:19.9 and the two-mile in 9:37.4 for the Sooners.

Missouri's Brown ran the 60-yard dash in 6.2 and the low hurdle prelims in 6.8, equaling varsity records. Distance star Robin Lingle of Missouri took the mile in 4:15.8 and the 1,000 in 2:16.2, while teammate Gene Crews set a meet record of 58-4½ in the shot put.

Malchaski Wins Match Play Title

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Chuck Malchaski of Addison, Ill., dethroned Bob Frainey of Brockton, Mass., as PGA National Golf Club match play champion Sunday 2-up.

Malchaski had a 6-up lead after the morning round but Frainey rallied to take the first three holes of the afternoon and trailed by only one after 33 holes.

Malchaski halved the next two holes and on the 36th, Frainey's drive landed in a trap and his next shot went into water in front of the green.

Malchaski collected $1,500 from the $10,000 purse and Frainey picked up $1,000.

By RON BERGMAN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gangly George Archer, last year a little late and $1.88 short, found himself today in the exclusive circle of the professional golf elite.

Four birdies on his last five holes elevated his status. He won the $8,500 first prize in the $57,500 Lucky International Open Sunday on the second hole of a sudden death playoff against former British Open champion Bob Charles of New Zealand.

Archer finished his rookie year of 1964 as No. 51 on the money winning list of the Professional Golfers' Association with $14,867.85, never having won a tournament. Paul Bondeson ranked just above him with $14,869.73. The top 50 win automatic exemptions from qualifying in all PGA tournaments during this year.

So by the margin of $1.88, Archer was scheduled among those who must fire qualifying rounds, take undesirable starting times and otherwise suffer with the tour proletarians.

On Sunday, the 6-foot-6 golfing cowboy from nearby Gilroy changed all this for the rest of the year with 38 tournaments to go. He also qualified for the Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas, the National PGA Tournament and put himself in solid position to win an invitation to the Masters.

Archer beat Charles with an eight-fot birdie putt after birdies on the three final holes of the regulation round gave him a 68 and 278 — six under par — for the 72 holes.

An immediate benefit was automatic entry into this week's $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic starting Wednesday in Palm Springs, Calif. In the complicated competition, 128 pros and 384 amateurs play four courses to start, ending up on the Bermuda Dunes Course the final day.

Archer won his first tournament by shooting a last-round, three-under-par 68 over the Harding Park municipal course for a 72-hole total of 278. Charles, only left-handed golfer in history to win a PGA tournament, had a 69 to tie.

Each shot a par-4 on the first playoff hole. Then Archer put in his eight-foot birdie putt on the par-4 second hole while Charles missed a 15-footer.

Finishing at 281 were third-placers George Knudson and Gardner Dickinson. Bud Holscher and Billy Maxwell of Indianapolis ended at 282.

Archer, who won the San Francisco City Amateur Championship two years ago on the 6,722-yard Harding layout, sliced his second shot on the 16th with a No. 4 iron from underneath trees. It stopped 17 feet from the pin and he sank the putt for a birdie 3.

"Some old man showed me that about eight years ago," Archer said afterwards. "The old fellow came out and just bent it around the trees.

"It was a pretty good shot for him," Archer remembered, "but I didn't use it until today. It just popped into my head when I got there.

Boston, N.Y. Coaches in NBA Spat

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — "Wait until Bill Russell is gone, then we'll see how great a coach Red Auerbach is," said sizzling Harry Gallatin.

"He was the same way as a player — never went after the big guys," countered Auerbach.

Thus Gallatin, towering coach of the lowly New York Knicks, and Auerbach, short field marshall of the mighty Celtics, declared open verbal warfare Sunday after Boston clobbered the Knicks 123-95.

In other National Basketball Association action Sunday, Philadelphia whipped Cincinnati 127-122, Detroit downed St. Louis 110-107 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 96-94.

The Auerbach-Gallatin feud started when Russell, defensive genius of the perennial champions, drew a sixth personal foul. He had broken the game open in the last seven minutes of the first quarters when he scored 13 points, blocked two shots and grabbed eight rebounds as he pulled his team from a 13-12 deficit to a 32-22 lead.

Boston was incensed. Auerbach got so mad he wound up being ejected by the officials. Gallatin, newly named to the Knicks' post, was on the floor shouting when Red made a flapping motion with his hand as if to tell Gallatin to be quiet.

The latter motioned for Auerbach to step over and have it out. Players from both sides moved in before anything further developed.

"Auerbach is bush," Gallatin said afterward. "Maybe he's been up there too long.

"We'll get him in the future and rub his nose into the ground."

"It takes a lot of guts to go after me," Auerbach said. "He's 10 years younger and 60 pounds heavier. He's trying to make himself look tough in front of his players.

Auerbach wound up with two technical fouls, Gallatin and Bob Boozer had one each.

But Boston had long since won its 46th game in 55 decisions, leading 70-39 at the half. John Havlicek had 22 points to lead the Celtics. Rookie Willis Reed's 18 points topped the Knicks.

Wilt Chamberlain broke loose for 17 points in the third period as Philadelphia came from behind to whip Cincinnati. Chamberlain wound up with 36.

Hawks' Enis, Scooters Gain Ground in NHL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago Black Hawk fans may change their tune from Never On Sunday to Canadien Sunset if that new group called Enis and the Scooters keeps up the close harmony.

The Hawks, still seeking their initial National Hockey League title, gained ground on league-leading Montreal Sunday by blanking the Canadiens 3-0 at Chicago.

Freshman goalie Denis DeJordy fashioned the shutout and a revamped Scooter Line — Doug Mohns, Ken Wharram and Stan Mikita — took care of the scoring as the Hawks ended a month of frustrating Sundays against the defending regular-season champs.

Twice before — on Jan. 3 and Jan. 17 — the Hawks lost to Montreal on Chicago ice, each time when a victory would have overhauled the league leaders. By winning Sunday, Chicago inched to within two points of the Canadiens.

Third place Toronto and fourth place Detroit also closed the gap, the Maple Leafs with a 4-2 decision over Boston and the Red Wings with a 4-1 triumph over New York. Toronto is six points behind Montreal, Detroit seven.

Mohns scored twice for Chicago after Wharram connected in the first period. Mohns also assisted on his linemate's goal. Mikita picked up two assist and Wharram one.

DeJordy, who has spelled veteran Chicago goalie Glenn Hall in 22 games, stopped 22 shots for his third shutout of the campaign. Gump Worsley had 27 saves for Montreal.

Chicago's Bobby Hull failed, for the fifth straight game, to improve his league-leading goals total of 37.

Goals by Dave Keon and Bob Pulford in the final two minutes shot Toronto past Boston after the Leafs had blown a 2-0 lead. Keon deflected a Tim Horton shot into the Boston cage and Pulford hit an open net after the Bruins pulled goalie Jack Norris in the last minute.

Norris was making his NHL debut. He was summoned from Los Angeles of the Western League last week and replaced Ed Johnston, who broke his right hand in Saturday's game at Toronto. Johnston had not missed a game in two seasons.

Eddie Shack and Red Kelly gave Toronto a two-goal bulge after two periods but Johnny Bucyk and Reg Fleming countered for the last-place Bruins in the final session.

Detroit spotted the Rangers a goal in the first minute of the game and then struck for four tallies in the second period. Ron Murphy led the assault with two goals. Alex Delvecchio and Gordie Howe fired the others as the Wings opened an 11-point spread over the fifth-place Rangers.

Vic Hadfield scored for New York with 21 seconds gone in the opening period but goalie Roger Crozier throttled the Rangers the rest of the way.

The Detroit victory, following Saturday's 3-2 verdict over Chicago, was the fourth straight for the Red Wings. Toronto whipped Boston 6-1 and Montreal beat New York 5-1 in Saturday's other games.

WAC Contenders Battle In Non-League Affairs

By BOB EGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Five teams still are in the thick of the Western Athletic Conference basketball race, and they aren't about to let their momentum slack while there's a temporary lull in league play.

The five scored 10 victories in as many games last week against non - conferece opponents.

Arizona, the current pacesetter with a 3-1 league record, was perhaps the most impressive. The Wildcats upset eighth-ranked San Francisco 71-56 Thursday night and crushed Memphis State 99-64 Saturday.

In other games Saturday, New Mexico trimmed New Mexico State 62-37, Brigham Young beat Denver 96-85, Wyoming whipped Air Force 75-62, Utah outscrambled Utah State 110-104 and Arizona State University dropped a 91-75 decision to San Francisco.

Arizona State, the defending co-champ, is the only member without a chance at the crown. The Sun Devils are 0-4 in conference play and 7-11 overall.

Everybody else is cruising along at better than a .700 clip. Co-champ New Mexico is 14-2, Arizona 14-4, Brigham Young and Utah 13-4 and Wyoming 12-5.

Arizona abandoned its usual ball control tactics against Memphis State and wheeled and dealed to its highest point total in 84 games.

As usual, the Wildcats spread the scoring around. Buddy Doolen was tops with 16 points, but four of his teammates also were in the double figures.

New Mexico reinforced its hold on the top spot nationally in defense by tossing a blanket around New Mexico State. Skip Kruzich led the Lobos with 15 points and New Mexico defenders didn't let any Aggies hit double figures.

Brigham Young, the nation's scoring leader, maintained its average against Denver. The Cougars' free throw shooting percentage didn't suffer any either. They cashed in on all 24 of their attempts.

BYU's John Fairchild, who dropped in 10 of 10 from the foul line, took game scoring honors with 26 points.

Wyoming's victory over Air Force was the seventh straight for the red-hot Cowboys. Flynn Robinson, gunning for his third straight conference scoring title, popped in 38 points for the winners.

Utah State's big Wayne Estes riddled Utah for 43 points, but the Redskins had him outnumbered. Jerry Chambers scored 35, George Fisher 19, Skip Kroeger 16, Richard Tate 17 and Granny Lash 12 for the winners.

San Francisco handed Arizona State its worst home court defeat in eight years. The Dons ran up a 10-0 lead in the first two minutes and never were in trouble.

Cowboys Aiming for CSU After Sweeping Weekend

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI)—The victorious Wyoming Cowboy cagers, riding their longest win streak in a dozen years, prepped hard this week for a Saturday trip to Colorado State University's cracker box gym at Fort Collins, Colo.

The non-conference tilt follows two last week that saw Wyoming clip San Jose State 92-70 Friday and an under-strength Air Force quint 75-62 Saturday.

The Pokes already hold a Laramie victory over the Fort Collins Rams. The Air Force game saw All-America candidate Flynn Robinson, who holds most of the Wyoming scoring records, sink 38 points—his high for the season.

Robinson bagged 20 of the 38 in the first half.

The Cadets were minus junior starters Jerry Yankee and Scott Etnyre, apparently ousted in the cribbing scandals.

The Falcons never held a lead during the game. The Pokes led 7-0 before the Cadets got on the scoreboard.

But the lead was sliced to 16-15 with only 8:48 left in the first half. Robinson struck again to put the Pokes in front.

At halftime, Wyoming led 36-27.

Led by Robinson, the Cowboys smashed into a 20-point lead in the second half, although the Falcons narrowed it to 55-44 with a 10-point effort from two sophomores.

Center Leon Clark nabbed 16 points for Wyoming to be the only other Poke with double digits.

The Falcons were led by Hugdahl with 26. Sam Peshut hit 13 for the Falcons.

The Air Force hit only per cent from the floor while Wyoming got 41.2 per cent.

Bobby Kennedy Hit With Writers

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — "I understand Yogi Berra is writing a book," said U.S. Senator Robert Kennedy with a boyish grin. "It's called 'Lucky To Be A Yankee'—as told to Mel Allen."

With that quip about the two fired members of the New York Yankee official family, Kennedy hit a grand slam homer at the awards dinner of the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America after being introduced as "the only man on the dais with his own baseball team."

The show belonged to star players Brooks Robinson and Elston Howard, Hall of Famer Zach Wheat and veteran Umpire Jocko Conlan but Kennedy, batting in the clean-up spot among the speakers, stole the spotlight with a varied array of one-liners.

The Democratic Senator from New York, stepped to the speakers' rostrum after his introduction and said he first wanted to pay tribute to the writers, who sometimes are the subject of considerable abuse.

"I have difficulty believing," he said, "those things Ted Williams said about you."

Then he looked down the dais, and pointed to Johnny Keane, who managed the St. Louis Cardinals to a World Series victory, then quit and signed with the Yankees.

"Keane's new to New York," said Kennedy, "and he's asked me to be his guide."

He pointed out that no one had accused Keane of being a carpetbagger but said considering everything he preferred politics to sports because "Im happier being a U.S. Senator than a Washington Senator. You stay around longer and the pay's better."

In conclusion, Kennedy made reference without mentioning names to the fact that the man he defeated for the Senate seat — Kenneth Keating — had been mentioned as a candidate for the office of baseball commissioner.

"I didn't run for the U.S. Senate to be commissioner of baseball," he said. "The job doesn't have enough power."

Kennedy's quips followed the presentation of awards. Robinson, Baltimore's third baseman, and the American League's Most Valuable Player, received the Sid Mercer Memorial Award as Player of the Year. Howard, the Yankees' catcher, was given the Ben Epstein Good Guy Award.

Wheat, former member of the Brooklyn Dodgers, received the Retroactive Award for past performances, and Conlan received the Bill Slocum Award for long and meritorious service to baseball.

Conlan who retired last October after 24 seasons as a National League umpire, agreed with a sly smile that he had contributed to his share of a changing baseball scene — even making a rule change.

"In Brooklyn they used to throw so many bottles at me," he pointed out, "that I made them change to paper cups."

Missouri Thinclads Open Year With Triangle Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri's defending Big Eight indoor track champions opened the season by swamping Drake and Arkansas at Columbia Saturday, while J. D. Martin's first Oklahoma team whipped Oklahoma State 77-45 at Norman.

Charlie Brown, a sophomore halfback standout in football, scored 13 points as Missouri ran up 91½ points, Drake 29 and Arkansas 28½.

The Kansas Jayhawks, league outdoor champions and runner-up in the indoor championships, open the season Friday in Lawrence with a triangular against Southern Illinois and Pittsburg, Kan., State.

This touches off the first big weekend of the league's indoor season. Oklahoma State meets Missouri at Columbia Friday. On Saturday, Iowa State is at Wisconsin, Wyoming at Colorado and Kansas State at Nebraska.

Two more weekends of competition will follow as the conference prepares for the Big Eight indoor championships Feb. 26-27 in Kansas City.

Oklahoma won 11 of 14 events, but it probably would have been much closer if OSU had the services of three of its standouts, who were competing in the Lubbock, Tex., invitational. They were Tom Von Ruden, an 880-mile star, Dave Perry in the 600 and high jumper Russ Laverty.

Bill Calhoun won the low hurdles and 440 for Oklahoma, posting a meet record of 48.6 in the 440. Chris McCobbins took the mile in 4:19.9 and the two-mile in 9:37.4 for the Sooners.

Missouri's Brown ran the 60-yard dash in 6.2 and the low hurdle prelims in 6.8, equaling varsity records. Distance star Robin Lingle of Missouri took the mile in 4:15.8 and the 1,000 in 2:16.2, while teammate Gene Crews set a meet record of 58-4½ in the shot put.

Malchaski Wins Match Play Title

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Chuck Malchaski of Addison, Ill., dethroned Bob Frainey of Brockton, Mass., as PGA National Golf Club match play champion Sunday 2-up.

Malchaski had a 6-up lead after the morning round but Frainey rallied to take the first three holes of the afternoon and trailed by only one after 33 holes.

Malchaski halved the next two holes and on the 36th, Frainey's drive landed in a trap and his next shot went into water in front of the green.

Malchaski collected $1,500 from the $10,000 purse and Frainey picked up $1,000.

Date-Line

By Ele and Walt Dulaney

Many of you have asked for a little more information about the letter service we offer in conjunction with DATE-LINE.

Any letter that reaches us with a stamped, self-addressed envelope enclosed is guaranteed a personal reply. If it's addressed to "DATE-LINE" or "Ele and Walt," it will be a joint answer. But if you request a solo answer from either of the Dulaneys, we'll split the team to oblige with a strictly female or strictly male viewpoint.

On the average it takes three weeks elapsed time from original mailing to receipt of reply. But if there's some real valid reason for an extra fast answer, we'll try to speed our reply if we see an "URGENT" marking on the envelope.

Incidentally, we never print a name unless we first obtain permission to do so. Usually letters are printed with a pen name credit.

If you think your situation is so unique that it might be identified by your friends, even though they knew we drew mail from many different communities, we'll respect a "Please do not print" request.

One other word on printing letter: We cannot hope to put more than a slight fraction of our correspondence into the column. So, please don't "p.s." your letter with some variation of this frustrating line, "I'll be waiting to read your answer in the paper." Much as we'd like to, we can't fulfill all such requests.

The confidentiality of all mail is respected. No one reads the letters we receive except your columnists, and no request for the name of the writer of a particular column letter will ever be fulfilled.

Now a few words about the answers we give.

The Dulaneys are columnists, not psychiatrists, ministers, lawyers or doctors. We have too much respect for the experts in these various fields to ever attempt amateur invasions of their specialties.

Therefore, these are our guidelines for replies.

"Yes" or "no" answers, along with "do" and "don't" replies are possible only for questions of etiquette. Thus, we can say, "Don't eat your pie with a spoon," but not, "Do go down and enlist in the Marines no matter what your mom says."

Strategy requests (How can I get a later curfew? How can I mend a broken friendship?) receive an outline of possible courses of action, along with a list of the consequences that might occur in each case. Then it's up to you to choose your own course of action. Frequently, the ideas for possible alternatives are obtained from calls to sharp young people.

For depth problems, "My dad has been in and out of mental institutions for the past four years and I'm wondering if. . ." we'll attempt no answer ourselves, but will instead suggest several sources of expert in-person help available within your immediate area.

We're always delighted to receive suggestions for upcoming column subjects, as well as "sound-off" letters that help you release steam over something that annoys you.

Our opinions can be changed by the revelation of new information, the sharing of fresh insights, etc. Our ideas are not rigidly fixed. If you disagree with our statements on any particular subject write in and document your objections. If they are valid, we'll correct our mistake in print.

Writing a column like this is a two-way affair. We'd like to learn from you, and we hope that you'll learn from us.

(A Bell-McClure Syndicate Feature)

Have you a problem? Ele and Walt Dulaney may have the solution. Write them in care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Two Injured In One-Car Accident

A one-care accident Friday at 11:20 p.m. Friday resulted in injuries to the driver and a passenger, the State Patrol reported.

Harold Balke, 33, of Ent AFB, suffered cuts of the head and bruises.

Both persons were taken to Ft. Carson hospital by E & E Ambulance.

The accident occured on Colrado Highway 83, just south of Woodmen Road. Balke, southbound on the highway and going around a curve, lost control of his car and went onto the soft shoulder. The car hit a guard post, continued down the shoulder for 40 feet, flipped over and bounced on its top, then flipped over onto its wheels. Both Balke and Miss Minton were thrown out of the driver's side of the behicle.

The car, a 1954 model, was a total loss, according to the State Patrol.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Linda's mother means well but would surely start her daughter toward the divorce court. For no virile male can be happy as a "remittance man" or gigolo. But there is one way by which you can safely give money to your children so scrapbook this case and send for the "Budget Booklet" below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D. M. D.

CASE U-495 Linda K. aged 20 recently got married.

"But Dr. Crane" her wealthy mother began "Linda's husband makes only $600 per month so they can't possibly live on the standard to which she has been accustomed.

"As a result I have urged my husband to give them a monthly check of $400 to help them along.

"But he refuses saying it would humiliate her husband and also ruin their fun of trying to make ends meet.

"But we can easily afford to give them such an allowance Dr. Crane and I don't want Linda to feel embarrassed by dropping out of her social set."

Parents beware!

For part of the fun of early marriage is being independent.

Even if it means foregoing costly furniture for a time and using wooden packing crates for tables!

Linda's mother is relay a social snob too for she started out in her own marriage with nothing.

But now she wants Linda to

begin life on a far more luxurious standard than her young husband can afford.

Linda's dad is smart for he knows that if he starts subsidizing the living expenses of the newlyweds Linda's husband will soon grow irritable and finally ugly.

For most men can't feel happy if they are under continued
So he would either be forced obligation.

So he would either be forced to develop the gigolo type of personality or he'd quarrel and belittle Linda in order to raise his own deflated ego.

Subsidized couples often head straight for divorce!

You rich parents dare not make "remittance men" out of your sons or sons-in-law.

Linda must now learn to live on her husband's $150 per week.

If her mother added an extra hundred that would soon cause Linda to develop richer living standards for then she'd have $250 per week.

Then if her husband did get a raise of $50 per month it would seem so small, by contrast that he'd be deprived of boasting about it to Linda.

For what's $50 more per month by his own efforts if his in-laws are handing him $400 monthly?

You brides better beware of entering the "gilded cage" of a subsidized weekly living scale.

It is a quizk way to break up your marriage and start your husband into a clandestine affair where he will be the "big shot" instead of the gigolo.

If wealthy in-laws want to help the young couple without disturbing the latter's fun in the game of skimping and saving and hunting for bargains at the food mart then give them a wedding gift of a down payment on a little home.

For they can then pay off the balance as regular monthly payments in lieu of rent, so their actualy living scale will not be altered.

Even so don't buy them a $50,000 home when their budget will not permit more than $125 per month for rent!

Send for my "Budget Booklet" enclosing a long stamped return envelope plus 20 cents for it shows how much young couples dare pay for a home based on their present earnings!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper enclosing a long stamped addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Carson Credit Union Declares Dividend of 5%

A 5 per cent dividend, its ninth in 11 years, was declared last Thuraday, at the 11th annual meeting of Ft. Carson's Federal Credit Union in the Carson Officers Club.

Officers were elected to serve on the board of directors and credit committee. The new board of directors is Eugene Hiatt, Joseph Uphoff and Maj. Kenneth Glenhan. Charles Kennedy, Paul Newman and MSgt. John Nicholson compose the newly elected officers for the credit committee.

Special meeting of both committees, consisting of five members each, will be held in order that officials can be elected. The Credit Committee elects a chairman and the board of directors elects a president, vice-president and a treasurer.

Civilian and military personnel at the mountain post and their families are eligible to join the credit union. Membership is 25 cents plus an initial purchase of a share, which is a savings account. Shares are $5 each and are the basis for paying dividends to members.

With the past 11 years of the credit union's help at the mountain post, over 11,000 people have learned the habits of thrift and regular savings. Many people who had never saved before now put aside a little each payday.

Members of this credit union, with an average of $283 in savings, are spread throughout the free world. The largest savings account in the credit union is $19,800 and the smallest is $5.

Soldier Loses Shirt, Cash Found Asleep

A Ft. Carson man, Larry A. McGavran, was robbed of $200 and all his clothes apart from his pants, T-shirt and socks, the sheriff's office said Sunday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Bob Snuggs a telephone call was received from Bill Baldwin, 1826 E. Platte Ave., saying a strange man was asleep on his couch.

McGavran told Snuggs he had been drinking almost all day Saturday and the last recollection he had was being at the Old Corral sometime after midnight when he asked the bartender to call him a cab. He had no idea of how he had arrived at the Baldwin's apartment.

McGavran was brought to the sheriff's office still only clad in his T-shirt, pants and socks and the MP's collected him and took him back to Ft. Carson.

Martin Heads Easter Seal Fund Campaign

Air Force Academy football coach Ben Martin has been appointed chairman of the 1965 Easter Seal fund - raising campaign of the Colorado Society for Crippled Children and Adults Inc.

Mrs. Francis X. Wallace, president of the society, said Martin was chosen because of his continuing interest and activity in civic affairs and because of his particular concern with the problems of crippled children and adults.

Mrs. Wallace also announced that the society's goal for 1965 will be $220,000. During the past several years, the Colorado society has ranked second in per-capita fund - raising among the 36 states having populations over the million mark.

About 90 per cent of the money collected by the society remains in the state, she said. It is used to pay for rehabilitation and treatment services in nine centers and two summer camps for handicapped children and adults.

Date-Line

By Ele and Walt Dulaney

Many of you have asked for a little more information about the letter service we offer in conjunction with DATE-LINE.

Any letter that reaches us with a stamped, self-addressed envelope enclosed is guaranteed a personal reply. If it's addressed to "DATE-LINE" or "Ele and Walt," it will be a joint answer. But if you request a solo answer from either of the Dulaneys, we'll split the team to oblige with a strictly female or strictly male viewpoint.

On the average it takes three weeks elapsed time from original mailing to receipt of reply. But if there's some real valid reason for an extra fast answer, we'll try to speed our reply if we see an "URGENT" marking on the envelope.

Incidentally, we never print a name unless we first obtain permission to do so. Usually letters are printed with a pen name credit.

If you think your situation is so unique that it might be identified by your friends, even though they knew we drew mail from many different communities, we'll respect a "Please do not print" request.

One other word on printing letter: We cannot hope to put more than a slight fraction of our correspondence into the column. So, please don't "p.s." your letter with some variation of this frustrating line, "I'll be waiting to read your answer in the paper." Much as we'd like to, we can't fulfill all such requests.

The confidentiality of all mail is respected. No one reads the letters we receive except your columnists, and no request for the name of the writer of a particular column letter will ever be fulfilled.

Now a few words about the answers we give.

The Dulaneys are columnists, not psychiatrists, ministers, lawyers or doctors. We have too much respect for the experts in these various fields to ever attempt amateur invasions of their specialties.

Therefore, these are our guidelines for replies.

"Yes" or "no" answers, along with "do" and "don't" replies are possible only for questions of etiquette. Thus, we can say, "Don't eat your pie with a spoon," but not, "Do go down and enlist in the Marines no matter what your mom says."

Strategy requests (How can I get a later curfew? How can I mend a broken friendship?) receive an outline of possible courses of action, along with a list of the consequences that might occur in each case. Then it's up to you to choose your own course of action. Frequently, the ideas for possible alternatives are obtained from calls to sharp young people.

For depth problems, "My dad has been in and out of mental institutions for the past four years and I'm wondering if. . ." we'll attempt no answer ourselves, but will instead suggest several sources of expert in-person help available within your immediate area.

We're always delighted to receive suggestions for upcoming column subjects, as well as "sound-off" letters that help you release steam over something that annoys you.

Our opinions can be changed by the revelation of new information, the sharing of fresh insights, etc. Our ideas are not rigidly fixed. If you disagree with our statements on any particular subject, write in and document your objections. If they are valid, we'll correct our mistake in print.

Writing a column like this is a two-way affair. We'd like to learn from you, and we hope that you'll learn from us.

(A Bell-McClure Syndicate Feature)

Have you a problem? Ele and Walt Dulaney may have the solution. Write them in care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Two Injured In One-Car Accident

A one-care accident Friday at 11:20 p.m. Friday resulted in injuries to the driver and a passenger, the State Patrol reported.

Harold Balke, 33, of Ent AFB, suffered cuts of the head and bruises.

Mary Minton, 25, 522 S. Nevada Ave., suffered multiple cuts and bruises of the face and body, possible internal injuries, and a broken foot.

Both persons were taken to Ft. Carson hospital by E & E Ambulance.

The accident occured on Colrado Highway 83, just south of Woodmen Road. Balke, southbound on the highway and going around a curve, lost control of his car and went onto the soft shoulder. The car hit a guard post, continued down the shoulder for 40 feet, flipped over and bounced on its top, then flipped over onto its wheels. Both Balke and Miss Minton were thrown out of the driver's side of the behicle.

The car, a 1954 model, was a total loss, according to the State Patrol.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Linda's mother means well but would surely start her daughter toward the divorce court. For no virile male can be happy as a "remittance man" or gigolo. But there is one way by which you can safely give money to your children so scrapbook this case and send for the "Budget Booklet" below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D. M. D.

CASE U-495 Linda K. aged 20 recently got married.

"But Dr. Crane" her wealthy mother began "Linda's husband makes only $600 per month so they can't possibly live on the standard to which she has been accustomed.

"As a result I have urged my husband to give them a monthly check of $400 to help them along.

"But he refuses saying it would humiliate her husband and also ruin their fun of trying to make ends meet.

"But we can easily afford to give them such an allowance Dr. Crane and I don't want Linda to feel embarrassed by dropping out of her social set."

Parents beware!

For part of the fun of early marriage is being independent.

Even if it means foregoing costly furniture for a time and using wooden packing crates for tables!

Linda's mother is relay a social snob too for she started out in her own marriage with nothing.

But now she wants Linda to begin life on a far more luxurious standard than her young husband can afford.

Linda's dad is smart for he knows that if he starts subsidizing the living expenses of the newlyweds Linda's husband will soon grow irritable and finally ugly.

For most men can't feel happy if they are under continued So he would either be forced obligation.

So he would either be forced to develop the gigolo type of personality or he'd quarrel and belittle Linda in order to raise his own deflated ego.

Subsidized couples often head straight for divorce!

You rich parents dare not make "remittance men" out of your sons or sons-in-law.

Linda must now learn to live on her husband's $150 per week.

If her mother added an extra hundred that would soon cause Linda to develop richer living standards for then she'd have $250 per week.

Then if her husband did get a raise of $50 per month it would seem so small, by contrast that he'd be deprived of boasting about it to Linda.

For what's $50 more per month by his own efforts if his in-laws are handing him $400 monthly?

You brides better beware of entering the "gilded cage" of a subsidized weekly living scale.

It is a quizk way to break up your marriage and start your husband into a clandestine affair where he will be the "big shot" instead of the gigolo.

If wealthy in-laws want to help the young couple without disturbing the latter's fun in the game of skimping and saving and hunting for bargains at the food mart then give them a wedding gift of a down payment on a little home.

For they can then pay off the balance as regular monthly payments in lieu of rent, so their actualy living scale will not be altered.

Even so don't buy them a $50,000 home when their budget will not permit more than $125 per month for rent!

Send for my "Budget Booklet" enclosing a long stamped return envelope plus 20 cents for it shows how much young couples dare pay for a home based on their present earnings!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper enclosing a long stamped addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Carson Credit Union Declares Dividend of 5%

A 5 per cent dividend, its ninth in 11 years, was declared last Thuraday, at the 11th annual meeting of Ft. Carson's Federal Credit Union in the Carson Officers Club.

Officers were elected to serve on the board of directors and credit committee. The new board of directors is Eugene Hiatt, Joseph Uphoff and Maj. Kenneth Glenhan. Charles Kennedy, Paul Newman and MSgt. John Nicholson compose the newly elected officers for the credit committee.

Special meeting of both committees, consisting of five members each, will be held in order that officials can be elected. The Credit Committee elects a chairman and the board of directors elects a president, vice-president and a treasurer.

Civilian and military personnel at the mountain post and their families are eligible to join the credit union. Membership is 25 cents plus an initial purchase of a share, which is a savings account. Shares are $5 each and are the basis for paying dividends to members.

With the past 11 years of the credit union's help at the mountain post, over 11,000 people have learned the habits of thrift and regular savings. Many people who had never saved before now put aside a little each payday.

Members of this credit union, with an average of $283 in savings, are spread throughout the free world. The largest savings account in the credit union is $19,800 and the smallest is $5.

Soldier Loses Shirt, Cash Found Asleep

A Ft. Carson man, Larry A. McGavran, was robbed of $200 and all his clothes apart from his pants, T-shirt and socks, the sheriff's office said Sunday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Bob Snuggs a telephone call was received from Bill Baldwin, 1826 E. Platte Ave., saying a strange man was asleep on his couch.

McGavran told Snuggs he had been drinking almost all day Saturday and the last recollection he had was being at the Old Corral sometime after midnight when he asked the bartender to call him a cab. He had no idea of how he had arrived at the Baldwin's apartment.

McGavran was brought to the sheriff's office still only clad in his T-shirt, pants and socks and the MP's collected him and took him back to Ft. Carson.

Martin Heads Easter Seal Fund Campaign

Air Force Academy football coach Ben Martin has been appointed chairman of the 1965 Easter Seal fund - raising campaign of the Colorado Society for Crippled Children and Adults Inc.

Mrs. Francis X. Wallace, president of the society, said Martin was chosen because of his continuing interest and activity in civic affairs and because of his particular concern with the problems of crippled children and adults.

Mrs. Wallace also announced that the society's goal for 1965 will be $220,000. During the past several years, the Colorado society has ranked second in per-capita fund - raising among the 36 states having populations over the million mark.

About 90 per cent of the money collected by the society remains in the state, she said. It is used to pay for rehabilitation and treatment services in nine centers and two summer camps for handicapped children and adults.

State Gains Land in Swap

DENVER (UPI) — Gov. John A. Love Friday received a deed for a land exchange between the state and the federal government from the U. S. Bureau of Land Management.

The exchange transferred 400 acres of the BLM grazing land near La Junta to the state in return for 320 acres of ponderosa pine - covered land 15 miles southeast of Pagosa Springs, on Vigil Pass.

Lowell M. Puckett, BLM director for Colorado, said the trade was made on an equal value basis, with the state's and BLM's acreages each appraised at $8,000.

Puckett termed the deed historic, because it was the first time the state BLM office had been authorized to issue a land patent.

The 320 acres received by BLM was adjacent to several thousand acres of public land where BLM has been an active timber management program.

In another land transaction, the state received 312 acres of former BLM land north of La Junta and Las Animas. This was to compensate the state for certain lands which were included within the Rio Grande National Forest.

Approval Seen For Succession In Presidency

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fast congressional action appears certain on a constitutional amendment urged by President Johnson to deal with the problems of presidential disability and vice presidential vacancies.

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee had scheduled a hearing on it for today even before Johnson's special message was sent to the Capitol late Thursday. And the House Judiciary Committee has arranged for hearings starting Feb. 9.

The proposed amendment was introduced in the Senate early this month by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., with 75 other senators as cosigners. And in the House it is being sponsored by the chairman and top GOP member of the Judiciary Committee.

One part provides that if a vacancy occurs in the office of vice president it shall be filled by presidential appointment subject to the approval of a majority in both the Senate and the House.

The other part of the proposed amendment establishes procedures under which the vice president would take over as acting president in case the president is unable to discharge the duties of his office.

The Senate approved the amendment by a 65-0 vote last Sept. 29, but no action was taken by the House before Congress adjourned.

Johnson told Congress is was astonishing that since the adoption of the Constitution in 1789 "we have neither perfected the provisions for orderly continuity in the executive direction of our system nor, as yet, said the price our continuing inaction so clearly invites and so recklessly risks."

The President also called for another constitutional amendment to wipe out what he termed the ever present possibility that presidential electors "may substitute their own will for the will of the people."

In presidential elections Americans cast their votes for electors who are free legally to vote for someone other than the candidate they were chosen to vote for. This has happened in some instances.

Johnson said "It is imperative that the electoral vote of a state be cast for those persons who receive the greatest number of votes for president and vice president — and no one else."

The outlook for action on this proposed constitutional change is clouded by controversy over proposed reforms of the whole Electoral College system and by the precedence being given to dealing with vice presidential vacancies and presidential inability.

Red Documents Show Guerrilla Training

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A document captured from the Communists in South Viet Nam shows how guerrilla soldiers are taught to concentrate their fire on U.S. aircraft and exhorted to "take courage and fire fiercely" if caught in the open.

The document outlines simplified methods of shooting at American helicopters and fixed-wing planes for three-men "cells" or squads using rifles, automatic rifles or machine guns.

The paper, prepared by Viet Cong staff officers, was declassified recently and made available to The Associated Press. It was seized by government forces late last summer.

"The troops must be very calm to fire at a moving target accurately and simultaneously," says the Communist document.

It says that in addition to training in firing techniques, "there is a need to raise the troops' fighting spirit."

The various kinds of planes and choppers used by American and South Vietnamese pilots are described. There's also a discussion of how these craft operate and their weak points.

The documents suggest how to "lead" the targets according to their speed and altitude, when to open fire, and where to aim.

"Quadrangular or triangular formations are preferably employed in firing at aircraft," the document said. "according to its numerical strength and weapons available, the unit will be deployed in such a way that it can concentrate its fire power. Do not fire separately and avoid overconcentration. It is best to fire one squad or one three-man cell at a time."

At another point, the document says: "The troops will aim their weapons according to the fire command and open fire simultaneously....They will continue firing until their position is discovered....They will move to another position.

"If they find it impossible to move under enemy heavy fire, they must hide....They can fire again if they see no trouble.

"These troops must disperse and apply triangular or quadrangular formations, taking advantage of trees, dirt mounds, or brick walls when they are unexpectly caught by aircraft....

"The squatting position with butts of weapons against trees, dirt mounds or the edge of a trench is desirable. With this position, they just shift the weapon's muzzle to lead the target."

The Communist paper declares if the Viet Cong "are caught by enemy aircraft in an open area, they must take courage and fire at them fiercely in order to cause them to soar up."

Then, the document says, the Viet Cong "may have a chance to rush to the nearest positions, then fire again."

Oregon and North Carolina are the only states which do not levy a tax on cigarettes.

Deaths

ROME (AP) — Mrs. Roy W. Howard, 81, widow of Roy Howard, former Scripps-Howard newspaper executive, died Saturday of a heart attack. She had been living in Rome since the death of her husband last November.

SEQUIM, Wash. (AP) — Dr. Henry Schmitz, who served on the faculty of the University of Minnesota for 27 years and later was president of the University of Washington, died Saturday. He retired in 1958.

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Dr. Virgil M. Hancer, 68, who retired last June after serving as president of the University of Iowa for 24 years, died Saturday in New Delhi, India. He went to India last August as a consultant to the Ford Foundation.

AUBURN, Maine (AP) — Frank W. Winter, 102, business and financier, died Sunday. His holdings, included timber, real estate, railroading and ship owning. He retired in 1956 at the age of 94.

The first state to impose a tax on cigarettes and tobacco products was Iowa which did so in 1921.

PROBLEM SOLVED?

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Because natural soil processes can effectively dispose of the new "soft" detergents, further pollution of underground water supplies may be avoided, say scientists at the University of California.

Evidence shows the soil can absorb the detergents, thereby spelling the end of unsightly build-ups of frothy suds on many lakes and streams, and the unpleasant persistence of detergents in some well water supplies.

State Gains Land in Swap

DENVER (UPI) — Gov. John A. Love Friday received a deed for a land exchange between the state and the federal government from the U. S. Bureau of Land Management.

The exchange transferred 400 acres of the BLM grazing land near La Junta to the state in return for 320 acres of ponderosa pine - covered land 15 miles southeast of Pagosa Springs, on Vigil Pass.

Lowell M. Puckett, BLM director for Colorado, said the trade was made on an equal value basis, with the state's and BLM's acreages each appraised at $8,000.

Puckett termed the deed historic, because it was the first time the state BLM office had been authorized to issue a land patent.

The 320 acres received by BLM was adjacent to several thousand acres of public land where BLM has been an active timber management program.

In another land transaction, the state received 312 acres of former BLM land north of La-Junta and Las Animas. This was to compensate the state for certain lands which were included within the Rio Grande National Forest.

PROBLEM SOLVED?

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Because natural soil processes can effectively dispose of the new "soft" detergents, further pollution of underground water supplies may be avoided, say scientists at the University of California.

Evidence shows the soil can absorb the detergents, thereby spelling the end of unsightly build-ups of frothy suds on many lakes and streams, and the unpleasant persistence of detergents in some well water supplies.

Approval Seen For Succession In Presidency

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fast congressional action appears certain on a constitutional amendment urged by President Johnson to deal with the problems of presidential disability and vice presidential vacancies.

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee had scheduled a hearing on it for today even before Johnson's special message was sent to the Capitol late Thursday. And the House Judiciary Committee has arranged for hearings starting Feb. 9.

The proposed amendment was introduced in the Senate early this month by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., with 75 other senators as cosigners. And in the House it is being sponsored by the chairman and top GOP member of the Judiciary Committee.

One part provides that if a vacancy occurs in the office of vice president it shall be filled by presidential appointment subject to the approval of a majority in both the Senate and the House.

The other part of the proposed amendment establishes procedures under which the vice president would take over as acting president in case the president is unable to discharge the duties of his office.

The Senate approved the amendment by a 65-0 vote last Sept. 29, but no action was taken by the House before Congress adjourned.

Johnson told Congress is was astonishing that since the adoption of the Constitution in 1789 "we have neither perfected the provisions for orderly continuity in the executive direction of our system nor, as yet, said the price our continuing inaction so clearly invites and so recklessly risks."

The President also called for another constitutional amendment to wipe out what he termed the ever present possibility that presidential electors "may substitute their own will for the will of the people."

In presidential elections Americans cast their votes for electors who are free legally to vote for someone other than the candidate they were chosen to vote for. This has happened in some instances.

Johnson said "It is imperative that the electoral vote of a state be cast for those persons who receive the greatest number of votes for president and vice president — and no one else."

The outlook for action on this proposed constitutional change is clouded by controversy over proposed reforms of the whole Electoral College system and by the precedence being given to dealing with vice presidential vacancies and presidential inability.

Red Documents Show Guerrilla Training

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A document captured from the Communists in South Viet Nam shows how guerrilla soldiers are taught to concentrate their fire on U.S. aircraft and exhorted to "take courage and fire fiercely" if caught in the open.

The document outlines simplified methods of shooting at American helicopters and fixed-wing planes for three-men "cells" or squads using rifles, automatic rifles or machine guns.

The paper, prepared by Viet Cong staff officers, was declassified recently and made available to The Associated Press. It was seized by government forces late last summer.

"The troops must be very calm to fire at a moving target accurately and simultaneously," says the Communist document.

It says that in addition to training in firing techniques, "there is a need to raise the troops' fighting spirit."

The various kinds of planes and choppers used by American and South Vietnamese pilots are described. There's also a discussion of how these craft operate and their weak points.

The documents suggest how to "lead" the targets according to their speed and altitude, when to open fire, and where to aim.

"Quadrangular or triangular formations are preferably employed in firing at aircraft," the document said, "according to its numerical strength and weapons available, the unit will be deployed in such a way that it can concentrate its fire power. Do not fire separately and avoid overconcentration. It is best to fire one squad or one three-man cell at a time."

At another point, the document says: "The troops will aim their weapons according to the fire command and open fire simultaneously....They will continue firing until their position is discovered....They will move to another position.

"If they find it impossible to move under enemy heavy fire, they must hide....They can fire again if they see no trouble.

"These troops must disperse and apply triangular or quadrangular formations, taking advantage of trees, dirt mounds, or brick walls when they are unexpectly caught by aircraft....

"The squatting position with butts of weapons against trees, dirt mounds or the edge of a trench is desirable. With this position, they just shift the weapon's muzzle to lead the target."

The Communist paper declares if the Viet Cong "are caught by enemy aircraft in an open area, they must take courage and fire at them fiercely in order to cause them to soar up."

Then, the document says, the Viet Cong "may have a chance to rush to the nearest positions, then fire again."

Oregon and North Carolina are the only states which do not levy a tax on cigarettes.
